Parade of Homes This Sunday

Brenda Larson of Creative Solutions, with the gracious cooperation of six local homeowners, has organized a Parade of Homes to take place on Sunday, September 30 from 10 a.m. to 6p.m. MDT. The project is a fundraiser for the Boys and Girls Club of Richland County to help them find a much needed permanent home. Dura Supreme has generously agreed to sponsor the event, allowing ALL ticket sales to go directly to the Club.

Featured homes are Tom & Teresa Benson, 2801 Red River Drive; Rebecca Benson, 1316 16th St. SW; David & Julie Hill, 12869 CR 338; Gail & Rhonda Peterson, 35052 CR 123; Rick & Denise Sandau, 34744 CR 120; and Darryn & Jodi Welnel, 805 14th St. SW all of Sidney. Each home is unique, with great ideas for anyone planning to build or remodel, or just to enjoy. The homeowners are busy getting all the details finished in time for the tour. "Boy, are the 'honey do' lists getting done around town," Larson chuckled. "I really appreciate all the homeowners and want to thank them for all their hard work and the tremendous effort they are making to make this all possible. We stress about a family gathering – they are getting ready to have several hundred people come through their home!" Participants may start at any home on the tour. The main contractors of each home plan to be available to answer questions, plus representatives from Dura Supreme, Life Span Closets, Fabricators, and more will be spread out among the six homes. Larson is planning to make this an annual event, since the need never lessens. "This is the 1st annual Parade of Homes. Hopefully more contractors will jump on board with Creative Solutions to make this a continued success for the Boys and Girls Club," she said.

Purchase your tickets now at Creative Solutions, 109 3rd Ave. NE, Sidney, 406-488-1461; Stockman Bank, 101 S. Central Ave., Sidney; The Sidney Herald, 310 2nd Ave. NE, Sidney, 406-433-2403; Boys and Girls Club of Richland County, 200 3rd Ave SE, Sidney, 406-433-6763. Tickets are only $15 in advance. They may be purchased for $20 at Creative Solutions the day of the event.

Plan now to spend a fun day enjoying the talents of local craftsmen and helping the children of Richland County.

Proper Cleaning Can Prevent Equipment Fires Especially During Drought

Ever have your combine burn up? The Montana Farm Bureau is urging everyone combining crops and baling hay to be extremely cautious this harvest season due to extremely dry conditions and high fire danger. Often the person driving the combine or pulling the baler can't see what's happening directly behind. By the time they notice a fire, it may be too late to save the equipment and the field.

"We had one fire started by the sickle on our mowing machine. In another instance, we had had work done to a tractor's engine, and an hour and a half into it pulling the baler, it caught on fire as did the baler," remembers MFBF President Bob Hanson. "That was scary. We ejected the bale, and were able to put the fire out, but had to buy a new baler."

Hanson says he's increased his diligence for baler safety. "Now once a day when I open the baler, I have a temperature gun to see if the baler bearings are getting too hot," he says. "We carry a huge fire extinguisher on all of our equipment which has water, soap and compressed air. We make sure our weed spray truck is filled with water all of the time and is parked in the field where we're working."

Chip Petrea, PhD, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, says one of the problems with combine fires is the machines have gotten larger with greater storage capacities. "The operator cannot see the engine area without assistance. Reaching the engine area of the combine can be difficult, particularly for older farmers with health issues such as arthritis, coronary or respiratory problems," he explains.

He strongly advises inspecting the machine during the day, and follow proper cleaning guidelines and procedures. The machine must be inspected periodically throughout the harvest day. Buildup of crop material and other debris must be removed to ensure proper machine function and to reduce the risk of fire. Frequency of inspections and cleanings will vary depending on a number of factors, including operating conditions, machine settings, crop conditions, operating speeds, and weather conditions. Inspections and cleanings may be required multiple times throughout the harvest day, particularly in dry, hot, and windy conditions.

Before you start cleaning, ensure the machine has been completely turned off, set the parking brake and remove the key. "Then thoroughly clean machine from top to bottom. The use of compressed air is highly recommended to ensure adequate cleaning," Petrea advises.

"Clean all areas accessible from engine deck. Start with the engine compartment and work outward and counterclockwise," Petrea notes. "Focus cleaning efforts on areas that collect crop debris or which reach elevated temperatures during machine operation. Once the top areas of the machine are clean, clean areas accessible from ground level, then start over again, focusing on those areas which are prone to collecting debris or those that reach elevated temperatures during machine operation. Once the cleaning from ground level is finished, recheck the engine compartment for any crop debris that may have blown in from ground level cleaning."

Having an accessible fire extinguisher and a means to call 911 can save your combine, your crop, neighboring property and even your life.

McKenzie County Community Foundation Seeks Grant Applications

The McKenzie County Community Foundation is now accepting applications for its 2012 grant cycle. The Foundation provides grants to nonprofit organizations and government entities within McKenzie County for projects and programs that benefit the community.

Grant applications must be submitted on an official form no later than October 31, 2012. The application form and guidelines are available online at www.NDCF.net/McKenzieCounty. Applications will be reviewed by the Advisory Committee, comprised of community volunteers, who will make recommendations for final grant awards.

About the McKenzie County Community Foundation

Established in 2010 by a group of concerned residents, the McKenzie County Community Foundation provides a method of receiving donations to benefit nonprofit projects and programs in the county. The Foundation is affiliated with the North Dakota Community Foundation, which is a nonprofit tax-exempt corporation under IRS code 501(c)(3) and North Dakota Law.

Mrs. Holst's kindergarten class invited everyone to get "Aboard the Warrior Train".

Mrs. Shelmerdine's class advised the Warriors to "put the Cowboys in the Cooler".

Grants To Fund Literary Radio Program

Montana Public Radio has received a $20,000 grant from the Steele-Reese Foundation and a $6,000 grant from Humanities Montana. Both grants will support production of "The Write Question," a weekly literary program that features writers from the western U.S.

The funds will allow producer Chérie Newman to build new relationships with Native American writers and rural communities throughout Montana.

The Steele-Reese Foundation was founded by Emmet and Eleanor Reese and provides grants in rural Kentucky, Idaho and Montana. Humanities Montana is Montana's independent, nonprofit affiliate of the National Endowment for the Humanities.

Since 2007, "The Write Question" has featured writers such as James Lee Burke, Thomas McGuane, Maile Meloy, Rick Bass, Kim Barnes, Barry Lopez, Mary Blew, Karl Marlantas, Judy Blunt, William Kittredge and dozens of poets, including Montana's poet laureates.

The program presents a mix of fiction, nonfiction and poetry for adults and occasionally young readers. Through social networking, a blog and live presentations, the program is also a networking and education tool that connects regional writers with new readers, students and a worldwide audience.

LYREA Coat and Food Drive

In the spirit of observing Co-op Month October 1- October 31st Lower Yellowstone Rural Electric Association will be holding its annual coat and food drive. With the increase in the cost of food and necessities there is an overwhelming need for help. It's a great time of the year to clean out your closets and find any hats, gloves, scarves, mittens, boots and coats that you no longer have use for. You can drop off any monetary donations, non-perishable food items or hygiene supplies such as laundry detergent, toothpaste, deodorant etc. to the LYREA office on or before October 31st and we will deliver them to the Richland County Food Bank. All coats and other outerwear will be donated to the Salvation Army in Sidney. LYREA would like to thank you in advance for each and every donation.

Oktoberfest at MHC October 6

Submitted by MonDak Heritage Center

It's time for Oktoberfest once again, and the limited numbers of tickets are on sale now! Come by the museum to get yours today. Tickets are $40 for members of the MonDak or season ticket holders of the Northeastern Arts Network.

If you are not yet a member, or if you have, unintentionally I'm sure, allowed your membership to lapse, you can become a member when you buy your tickets and receive the discount! Tickets are on sale to non-members for $50. This is a 21 and over event.

This year, beer is provided once again through Bayern Brewing, the only traditional German brewery in Montana, sausage made by Redneck meats, the folks who supply the ever popular Main Link booth at the Richland County Fair. And, of course, incredible live music by Eden Atwoord and Company.

October 6th will be a night to remember!

DID YOU KNOW?

Preventing Falls

By Richland County Injury Prevention Coalition

According to the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention:

"One-third of Americans aged 65+ fall each year. Every 15 seconds, an older adult is treated in the emergency room for a fall; every 29 minutes, an older adult dies following a fall. Falls are the leading cause of fatal injury and the most common cause of nonfatal trauma-related hospital admissions among older adults.

Falls result in more than 2.3 million fall injuries treated in emergency departments annually, including over 650,000 hospitalizations and more than 20,000 deaths.

In 2000, the direct medical cost of fatal and nonfatal fall injuries totaled over $19 billion, $28.2 billion in 2010 dollars. The financial toll for older adult falls is expected to increase as the population ages and may reach $54.9 billion by 2020.

Falls with or without injury also carry a heavy quality of life impact. A growing number of older adults fear falling and, as a result, self-limit activities and social engagements. This can result in further physical decline, depression, social isolation, and feelings of helplessness.

What can you do to help prevent them?

Clear clutter off the floor. (Pick up newspapers, books, shoes, magazines, clothes etc.)

Secure or use non-skid rugs or avoid area throw rugs all together

Take extra care with changes in floor surface. (such as when carpet meets tile floors)

Wipe up spills immediately

Always keep steps and staircases clear of debris and well lit

Close drawers and cabinets

Use a sturdy step stool (not a chair), when you need to reach up into those top kitchen cupboards

Install actual grab bars by the toilet, shower and tub. (note: towel racks, soap dishes etc. are not designed to hold a person's weight) Use a shower chair and handheld showerhead if prone to falling

Use non-skid bath mats by the shower and sink. (they help absorb splashes) & use rubber mats or slip resistant stickers in the bathtub

Watch where you're walking, avoid distractions; stay focused on what you're doing

Keep driveways and walkways free of debris, ice and snow

By taking the time to make your home safer you are giving yourself time to enjoy life… One fall could take months to recover from if complete recovery is even possible. Doctor and hospital bills could amount to thousands of dollars. Loss of independence is a top concern for older individuals. Remember injuries are preventable. MSU to Hold Agriculture Conference Oct. 26

MSU Extension and the Department of Agricultural Economics will offer a conference entitled "Agriculture 2012: A Changing Landscape" from 8:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. on Oct. 26 in Bozeman.

The conference will provide agricultural business leaders, bankers, producers, and others in agriculture with information from experts on agricultural policy, livestock and grain markets, and the Montana economy, addressing current issues facing Montana agricultural producers.

The speakers include: George Haynes on the status of Montana and U.S. agriculture; Gary Brester and Eric Belasco with an update on the role of cattle cycles and drought on the U.S. beef industry; Vince Smith with insights on the implications of the Canadian Wheat Board reform; Anton Bekkerman on changes in the elevator industry in Montana; Tim Fitzgerald on landowners and oil leasing; Myles Watts on banking reform and small ag lenders; and Steve Anderson on the 2012 Census of Agriculture.

The conference will conclude with lunch and a keynote speech from John Anderson on agricultural policy in a volatile environment. Anderson is the deputy chief economist for the American Farm Bureau.

The cost of the conference is $20 and includes a free parking pass. Early registration goes through October 13.

For more information and to register, visit www.ampc.montana.edu/fallconference.html or contact Keri Hayes at (406) 994-3511 or khayes@montana.edu. This event is part of MSU's Celebrate Agriculture. A full schedule of events for the weekend is available at: http://ag.montana.edu/excellence/agappreciation.htm.

Estate Preservation Will Be Focus of Upcoming Workshop

Thrivent Financial for Lutherans is hosting a free educational workshop on estate preservation. Called "Estate Strategy Essentials," the 45-minute workshop will be held at 9:45 a.m. on October 14, 2012 at Pella Lutheran Church's Education Wing Assembly Area, Sidney, MT. The workshop is presented by Ron Gebhardt, ron.gebhardt@thrivent.com, 406-433-5287 and Harvey Senn, Harvey.senn@thrivent.com 406-433-6143 CA/AR Insurance ID #58464 financial representatives with Thrivent Financial for Lutherans in Sidney.

The "Estate Strategy Essentials" workshop helps participants understand the three essential elements of any good estate strategy: wills, durable/financial powers of attorney, living wills/medical powers of attorney. As a result of attending the workshop, attendees will be better prepared to take action to protect their estates and pass them on according to their wishes.

"Having proper estate planning documents in place such as wills, trusts and powers of attorney can save families a great deal of financial and emotional stress," says Senn. "This workshop offers tools to help people make smart, informed decisions about protecting their estates according to their wishes."

Thrivent Financial for Lutherans and its respective associates and employees cannot provide legal, accounting, or tax advice or services. Work with your Thrivent Financial representative, and as appropriate your attorney and/or tax professional for additional information.

Montana Farm Bureau

Estate Tax Hurts Farmers and Ranchers

The Montana Farm Bureau has expressed strong dismay that S. 3412, the Middle Class Tax Cut Act, passed yesterday in a 51-48 vote. The state's largest agricultural organization noted that if anything, the legislation isn't going to help, but harm, family business and especially family farms and ranches. The bill did not include any extension for the estate tax rate, meaning in 2013, the death tax will increase from 35 percent to 55 percent, and the estate tax deduction will decrease from $5 million to $1 million with no spousal transfer.

"Montana Farm Bureau was extremely dismayed at this vote, especially when both of our senators, who come from farm families, voted yea," said MFBF President Bob Hanson. "We've been saying over and over again that raising the rate of the death tax and decreasing the deduction could be the death knell for transferring family farms, ranchers or other businesses to the next generation."

Hanson explains that non-liquid assets, such as machinery, buildings and land, are continually increasing in value. "According to the report 'Costs and Consequences of the Federal Estate Tax' just released by the bi-partisan Joint Economic Committee, the estate tax is a significant hindrance to entrepreneurial activity since many family businesses lack sufficient liquid assets to pay estate tax liabilities. In 2010, liquid assets in agriculture comprised only 12 percent of total assets whereas hard assets (including land and buildings) comprised 88 percent of total assets. Alone, real estate accounted for approximately 85 percent of farm assets in 2010."

He says farmers or ranchers who have to sell land and equipment to generate enough cash to pay a hefty federal estate tax often don't have enough money left to keep their business viable. "If you sell most of your grazing land, or several expensive pieces of farm equipment to pay the death tax, you won't have what you need to keep producing food," Hanson said. "It's a real travesty."

According to the report, there are extensive costs associated with the estate tax in terms of the dissolution of family businesses, slower growth of capital stock and a loss of output and income over time. This can be particularly hard on farm families, who own 98 percent of the nation's 2.2 million farms.

The report found that estate tax impedes economic growth because it discourages savings and capital accumulation. Gaining access to capital is vital to farms and rural economies. Currently, in some parts of the country including Montana, land values have increased over $10,000 per acre. Further, land values from 2010 to 2011 increased on average 25 percent and have greatly expanded the number of farms and ranches that now top the estate tax $5 million exemption which is easily reached when the bulk of your asset value is the land you farm.

"The estate tax creates a steep barrier for young people trying to get into farming and ranching," notes Hanson. "With 58 being the average age of a farmer, we should be trying to make things easier for young people instead of making it almost impossible to get into ag because of these outrageous tax laws. If a farmer's or rancher's heirs have to pay the rate of 55 percent of the estate with an exemption of $1 million, it will put Montana agriculture out of business in one generation."

USDA Designates 7 Counties in North Dakota as Primary Natural Disaster Areas With Assistance to Producers in Surrounding States

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) has designated seven counties in North Dakota as primary natural disaster areas due to damages and losses caused by the recent drought.

The counties are:

Bowman, Golden Valley, Ransom, Stutsman, Dickey, LaMoure, Slope.

"Our hearts go out to those North Dakota farmers and ranchers affected by the recent natural disasters," said Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack. "President Obama and I are committed to ensuring that agriculture remains a bright spot in our nation's economy by sustaining the successes of America's farmers, ranchers, and rural communities through these difficult times. We're also telling North Dakota producers that USDA stands with you and your communities when severe weather and natural disasters threaten to disrupt your livelihood."

Farmers and ranchers in the following counties in North Dakota also qualify for natural disaster assistance because their counties are contiguous. Those counties are:

Adams, Cass, Hettinger, McIntosh, Barnes, Foster, Kidder, McKenzie, Billings, Griggs, Logan, Richland, Sargent, Stark, Wells.

All other North Dakota counties that would be eligible under 7 CFR 759.5 (a), already have been designated as primary natural disaster counties.

Farmers and ranchers in the following counties in Montana and South Dakota also qualify for natural disaster assistance because their counties are contiguous.

Montana – Fallon, Wibaux.

South Dakota – Brown, Harding, McPherson.

All counties listed above were designated natural disaster areas Sept. 12, 2012, making all qualified farm operators in the designated areas eligible for low interest emergency (EM) loans from USDA's Farm Service Agency (FSA), provided eligibility requirements are met. Farmers in eligible counties have eight months from the date of the declaration to apply for loans to help cover part of their actual losses. FSA will consider each loan application on its own merits, taking into account the extent of losses, security available and repayment ability. FSA has a variety of programs, in addition to the EM loan program, to help eligible farmers recover from adversity.

The Obama Administration is committed to helping the thousands of farm families and businesses who continue to struggle with the drought. Recently, Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack announced an extension for emergency grazing on Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) acres through Nov. 30, 2012, freeing up forage and feed for ranchers as they look to recover from this challenging time. Other actions by USDA to provide assistance to producers impacted by the drought include:

Intent to purchase up to $170 million of pork, lamb, chicken, and catfish for federal food nutrition assistance programs, including food banks, to help relieve pressure on American livestock producers and bring the nation's meat supply in line with demand.

Reducing the emergency loan rate, from 3.75 percent to 2.25 percent, as well as making emergency loans available earlier in the season.

Allowing haying or grazing of cover crops without impacting the insurability of planted 2013 spring crops.

Authorizing $16 million in existing funds from the Wildlife Habitat Incentive Program (WHIP) and Environmental Quality Incentives Program (EQIP) to target states experiencing exceptional and extreme drought.

Initiating transfer of $14 million in unobligated program funds into the Emergency Conservation Program (ECP) to help farmers and ranchers rehabilitate farmland damaged by natural disasters and for carrying out emergency water conservation measures in periods of severe drought.

Authorizing haying and grazing of Wetlands Reserve Program (WRP) easement areas in drought-affected areas where haying and grazing is consistent with conservation of wildlife habitat and wetlands.

Lowering the penalty on CRP acres used for emergency haying or grazing, from 25 percent to 10 percent in 2012.

Simplified the Secretarial disaster designation process and reduced the time it takes to designate counties affected by disasters by 40 percent.

Additional programs available to assist farmers and ranchers include the Emergency Conservation Program, Federal Crop Insurance, and the Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program. Interested farmers may contact their local USDA Service Centers for further information on eligibility requirements and application procedures for these and other programs. Additional information is also available online at http://disaster.fsa.usda.gov.

Secretary Vilsack also reminds producers that the department's authority to operate the five disaster assistance programs authorized by the 2008 Farm Bill expired on Sept. 30, 2011. This includes SURE; the Livestock Indemnity Program (LIP); the Emergency Assistance for Livestock, Honey Bees, and Farm-Raised Fish (ELAP); the Livestock Forage Disaster Program (LFP); and the Tree Assistance Program (TAP). Production losses due to disasters occurring after Sept. 30, 2011, are not eligible for disaster program coverage.

High School Seniors Encouraged To Apply For 2013 Scholarships At MSU

Montana High school seniors who plan to attend Montana State University in the fall of 2013 are encouraged to apply as soon as possible for scholarships through the MSU Premier Scholarship Program. The priority deadline for scholarship applications is Feb. 1, 2013.

"It's one of my priorities to make higher education as accessible as possible," said MSU President Waded Cruzado. "Montana high school students are the future of our state and I want to help them succeed. The benefits of a college education to one's life and one's career are huge."

MSU is dedicated to making it possible for Montana students to pursue higher education through scholarships such as the Premier Scholarship. Funding for this scholarship program is provided by MSU and private donors.

Premier Scholarships will be awarded to incoming freshmen who are Montana residents and show academic promise based on ACT and/or SAT scores or grade point average. Financial need, leadership experience, activities, and honors may also be considered.

Montana high school seniors who plan to attend MSU in the fall of 2013 are encouraged to apply as soon as possible for the Premier Scholarships, which range from a one-time $1,000 scholarship, to a $3,000 scholarship that can be renewed annually for four years.

The priority deadline for scholarship applications is Feb. 1, 2013. Scholarships will be given until funds are exhausted. The scholarships can only be applied toward tuition. Students who are awarded a renewable scholarship must maintain a grade point average of 3.0 or higher and continue to be enrolled full time. To become eligible for a Premier Scholarship, applicants must:

Apply for admission to MSU. Applications are available online at https://www.msuadmissions.org/application/ to receive a paper application, please contact MSU Admissions. Make sure MSU receives their current grade point average either via the self report form (included with the application for admission) or from a transcript. Have their official ACT and/or SAT scores sent directly to MSU from the testing company. The school code for sending ACT scores is 2420. The school code for sending SAT scores is 4488. Print, complete and mail the Montana Premier Scholarship application to MSU Admissions P.O. Box 172190 Bozeman, MT 59717-2190 The application is available for printing at: http://www.montana.edu/admissions/premierscholarship.pdf OR apply for the Montana Premier Scholarship online at: https://www.montana.edu/admissions/premierscholarship/ MSU Admissions can be reached toll free at 888-MSU-CATS

Jones Joins Head to Toe

Stephanie (Watts) Jones

Stephanie (Watts) Jones has joined the professionals at Head To Toe Salon. The Fairview High School graduate received her training at Blanco Blanco Cosmetology School in Billings and then worked in Laurel. She specializes in cuts, colors and up-dos but says she likes it all. Get the full treatment with Jones; cuts, colors, deep conditioning treatments, braids, and up-dos as well as manicures, pedicures, shellacs and facial waxing. Jones is very happy to be back in the area, making people feel beautiful. She is married to William Jones.

Head To Toe owner Teresa Tescher-Voll is pleased to welcome Jones. "She's just what we've been looking for," she said. " People need to book their appointment quickly. She's good, and she's booking fast."

Jones is available by appointment Monday through Saturday. Walk-ins are also welcome. Call 406-488-1795 or stop by the salon at 109 4th St. SE, Sidney.

Holiday Inn Express Grand Opening

Front desk clerk Candice Clark welcomes guests to the Holiday Inn Express.

The Holiday Inn Express, Sidney, will celebrate its Grand Opening this Thursday, September 27. The hotel, owned and operated by Sidney Hotel Group, LLC, opened for business on July 10. The hotel features 75 rooms, 13 of which are suites and 9 of which are handicap accessible. Guests can relax in the pool, wading pool and hot tub, or work out in the fitness room. There is also a great room where patrons can enjoy a full, hot breakfast, or relax in an easy chair in front of the fireplace. There is also a business center and a conference room to accommodate business clientele.
