Fun For The Whole Family in Fairview June 9

Fairview is the place to be for family fun on Saturday, June 9 beginning at 8 a.m., with a full day of activities for all ages.

The north end of Sharbono Park is the venue for Hoopfest, plus a variety of lawn games including Yahtzee, tic-tac-toe and dominoes; or play mini golf or volleyball. At 4 p.m., cool off with a huge water balloon fight, then enjoy music with DJ Alli Cayko from 6 – 10 p.m. Purchase glow items and take part in a fun glow party to finish off the day. The swimming pool will be open until 8 p.m. that evening.

This family friendly community fundraiser is being hosted by the Fairview Community Foundation whose mission statement is "We believe that the Fairview Community is built upon the strength of many individuals and families between Montana and North Dakota. Our purpose is to support individual and community events to develop, enhance, built and ultimately make better this community."

Contributions in the last year were donations to the Fairview Festival Committee for shade shelter in park; donation of umbrellas to Fairview pool and four $500 scholarships to graduating Fairview Seniors. Current plans include building a beach volleyball court in Fairview city park.

Events of last year include the Sugar Valley Hoopfest, Sunday School Rally and First Responders lunch.

Registration for the 3 on 3 basketball Hoopfest has been extended to 6 p.m., Thursday, June 7. Brackets will be posted immediately after registration closes. Play is open to all ages, youth and adult.

So, make plans now to be in Fairview on June 9. It's also Community Garage Sale Day with sales all over town.

Watford City Residents to Vote on Amendment to Home Rule Charter June 12

By Jordan Hall

On June 12, Watford City voters will have an opportunity to remove the current $25 cap on sales tax within the city. A citywide sales tax of one cent was first passed by Watford City in 1998, called the Roughrider Fund, when it took in approximately $100,000. In 2014, voters decided to raise the tax to 1.5 cents, but retain a $25 cap on sales tax. Today, the fund has grown to more than two million dollars in annual revenue. Those funds have typically been used for infrastructure and recreational projects. Most recently, the fund helped build the McKenzie County Healthcare Systems hospital and adjoining clinic, as well as the McKenzie County Multipurpose Building, and the McKenzie County Veterans Memorial Building. However, now voters will be asked to remove the $25 sales tax cap, which allows companies to ask for refunds for sales tax amounts over $25 they have paid to retailers, which leaves Watford City paying sizable refunds.

Watford City residents in favor of removing the tax cap measure claim that they need the cap removed in order to stabilize funding for committed projects, which include 1.5 million designated to building the Roughrider Center and an addition 1 million for the hospital. Additional funds would be used for added projects.

Many argue that repealing the tax cap wouldn't matter to average or ordinary residents of Watford City, who typically do not spend more than $1,600 on a single purchase, which currently triggers the $25 tax cap. This would affect primarily businesses that might spend larger dollars on single purchases, so their argument goes.

Jessie Scofield, who is working to remove the tax cap, told The Roundup, "There have been a few questions regarding how this change will affect home purchases. There is no sales tax on land or home purchase. A house is considered a fixture on the land, so there is no sales tax on that either. If you build a home, you will pay sales tax on those materials used in the construction."

According to Watford City Pennies Add Up, a Facebook Group set up to lobby the public for the change, it's not just a matter of lower revenue, but more unpredictable revenue. The page states, "City sales tax refund requests from city limit purchases by big industry and construction companies have resulted in unpredictable numbers for a revenue stream the city relies on to make important payments. Because of the state reporting system, the city does not know in advance when a person or company has filed for city sales tax reimbursement, making budget planning difficult."

The ballot measure, called Watford City Measure No. 1, reads, "Shall the City of Watford City amend its Home Rule Charter to remove the existing $25 maximum tax on any single purchase or sales transaction?" A "yes vote" means that one is voting to remove the tax cap, and a "no vote" means that one is voting to keep the tax cap.

The aforementioned Home Rule Charter mentioned in the measure is a reference to the 1998 sales tax limit, which opponents argue hasn't kept up with inflation, is outdated, and provides unsteady and unpredictable revenue for the city.

June 12 is the day slated to vote on the ballot initiative.

Zion Lutheran Church Celebrating 100 Years

Rhonda Cayko is a committee member and volunteer at Zion Lutheran Church.

By Jaymi Loobey

On July 14, 1918 Reverend Olaf Carlson was installed as the full-time pastor for four different churches. Scandinavian Lutheran was in Four Mile, Montana, St. Peter's Lutheran was in Sioux Pass, Montana, Bethel Lutheran was in Cartwright, North Dakota and the freshly started Zion Lutheran Church was in Fairview, Montana. As the years rolled on, attendance in most of the churches dwindled and they merged with Zion in Fairview. Scandinavian Lutheran joined with Zion in 1954, St. Peter's in 1965 and, Bethel Lutheran in 1970. One hundred years from its beginning; from Sunday, May 27, through Saturday, July 21, Zion Lutheran Church will be taking the time to remember the congregation's past.

In truth, their remembrance began on Easter Sunday when attendees were greeted by the stunning sight of hundreds of white paper doves hanging from the ceiling of the sanctuary with the names of every baptized member from 1943 to date on them. On Memorial Sunday, May 27, a song service with a little history was held at the old St. Peter's Lutheran Church site. On Sunday, June 10, a similar service will be held at the old Scandinavian Lutheran site and June 24 a service will be held at the old Bethel Lutheran. The church bus will be leaving at approximately 10:15 a.m. to take people to those services. Zion Lutheran's actual centennial service will be Sunday, July 15, at 309 S. Central Ave, in Fairview Montana, the current location of the church. Service will start at 9 a.m. and there will be a potluck afterward. Also, as part of the celebrations, a model was made of each of the dissolved churches plus one of Zion Lutheran's former church building. All four models are on display in the hallway just outside Zion's sanctuary and they will be on a float in the Old Timer's Festival Parade. Lastly, July 21 will be Zion Lutheran's Open House and Ice Cream Social. It will start at 1 p.m.

The church asks that anyone who wants to attend the Centennial service and potluck or Open House with Social to please RSVP by June 1. Committee member and volunteer Rhonda Cayko said: "Our anniversary theme is Let the rivers clap their hands, let the hills sing for joy together. Psalms 98:8. It was chosen because of the history of the rural churches in the hills joining Zion in the valley by the river. So celebrating at each rural site with song and service seemed appropriate."

NWND Community Foundation Announces 2018 Grant Awards

The Northwest North Dakota Community Foundation has awarded seven grants totaling $10,000 to worthwhile organizations seeking to improve the quality of life in Williams, Divide, and McKenzie counties. With the grants provided since its inception in 2015, the Northwest North Dakota Community Foundation has been able to reinvest over $150,000 into the area.

"There are so many meaningful projects taking place in Williams, Divide, and McKenzie counties, and we are so happy that we are able to support seven local nonprofits through our annual grant round in 2018," remarked Ward Koeser, President of the Northwest North Dakota Community Foundation Board of Directors.

Organizations that were supported include the Fort Union Cooperating Association ($500) to support a summer intern; Community Connections ($1,000) to purchase a computer to support self-sufficiency of vulnerable populations; Divide County Historical Society ($3,000) to relocate a historic gas station to the Crosby Pioneer Village; Crosby Kids Daycare ($1,000) to purchase added storage; Marketplace for Kids ($2,500) to expand programming into Watford City; Bakken Oil Rush Ministry ($1,000) to support its outreach and service efforts; and Save the Maah Daah Hey Foundation ($1,000) to support preservation of Maah Daah Hey Trail.

"It is because of the flexibility of the community foundation structure that the Northwest North Dakota Community Foundation is able to support such a variety of organizations that are creating lasting change in our communities. We look to continue this through annual grant rounds in the coming years," said Koeser.

More information about the Northwest North Dakota Community Foundation, including how to become a donor and take advantage of the 40% North Dakota Tax Credit, can be found at www.NWNDCommunityFoundation.org.

Paddlefish Anglers Reminded Of Requirement To Report Harvest

The 2018 paddlefish season on the Yellowstone River and the Missouri River downstream of Fort Peck Dam (yellow tags) has been under way for over a week, and as of Saturday, 284 paddlefish have been processed at the Intake Fishing Access Site station near Glendive. The estimated harvest for the entire basin was 265 fish.

The high volume of water and rapid flows continue to challenge angler success. By comparison, last year's harvest season closed in just over three days, when it was anticipated that the harvest cap of 1,000 fish would be met.

Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks reminders anglers that anyone harvesting a paddlefish in Montana is required to report it within 48 hours. This is true even if anglers process their own fish. People can meet this requirement by reporting to the processing station at Intake FAS or by calling 1-844-668-5932 or 406-444-5604.

A harvest report should include the angler tag number, jaw tag number (if present), length (eye-tail fork), sex, date of harvest and harvest location. Instructions for reporting should be included when the paddlefish tag is sold.

Anglers not reporting a harvested paddlefish will not be eligible to purchase a paddlefish tag the following year.

Paddlefish harvest updates can be obtained by calling the Region 7 office at 406-234-0900, or by visiting the Facebook page at Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks – Region 7. There are also updates available on Facebook at Intake Paddlefishing/Yellowstone Caviar.

Anglers also should note that paddlefishing (harvest or catch-and-release) is closed in all yellow tag areas, except Intake FAS, on Sunday, Monday and Thursday. Paddlefish harvest days are Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday in all yellow tag areas. For more details, see pages 84-87 of the 2018 fishing regulations.

MDHC Announces Into the Sunset: The Forgotten Cowgirl Singers by Almeda Bradshaw

The MonDak Heritage Center announces Into the Sunset: The Forgotten Cowgirl Singers by singer/songwriter Almeda Bradshaw on Thursday, June 7 at 7:00 p.m. at the MonDak Heritage Center, 120 3rd Ave SE, Sidney! Dale Evan's success as Queen of the West is owed to a century of cowgirls in show business. Made sensationally popular by dime-store novels and touring Wild West troupes, a public love affair began with the clean-cut cowgirl image which allowed women a respectable avenue into show business. From Mary Ann Whittaker's horseback exhibitions in the 1850s, to the Wild West Shows and vaudeville acts of the early 1900s, to the pioneer radio and recording artists of the 1920s, Almeda Bradshaw entertains and informs with the story of the forgotten women entertainers who wore buckskins and boots while yodeling their way into America's heart. Almeda joins us in Sidney for Hometown Humanities! This program is FREE to the public! Refreshments provided. Sponsored by Humanities Montana, an independent, nonprofit affiliate of the National Endowment for the Humanities. For more information contact MDHC at (406) 433-3500 or visit mondakheritagecenter.org.

DPHHS Reminds Montanans to Take Precautions to Avoid Hantavirus

The Department of Public Health and Human Services (DPHHS) and local public health agencies remind Montanans and visitors to the state to be aware of the risk of hantavirus and to take precautions to avoid exposures to rodents, their droppings and nests.

"Although hantavirus infection can occur during any month, the risk of exposure is increased in the spring and summer as people clean cabins and sheds and spend more time outside in the vicinity of rodents," said DPHHS epidemiologist Rachel Hinnenkamp.

With 43 cases of hantavirus reported since its recognition in 1993, Montana has one of the highest rates of infection in the United States. Early symptoms include fatigue, fever and muscle aches with progression to coughing and extreme shortness of breath. Hantavirus infection can cause severe illness; about 25 percent of Montana's cases have resulted in death. Supportive medical care is essential to survival and, if diagnosed early, specific antiviral medications may help with recovery.

Studies have shown that deer mice (Peromyscus maniculatus) are the most common host of the virus, and are well dispersed throughout Montana. People can become infected with hantavirus when saliva, urine, or droppings from an infected deer mouse are stirred up and inhaled. It is important to avoid activities that raise dust, such as sweeping or vacuuming, if there are signs of rodents in the area.

The best protection against hantavirus is to control rodent populations in the places you live and work by sealing up holes to prevent entry and using snap traps to eliminate any mice indoors. Individuals can also reduce rodent populations near dwellings by keeping grass and shrubbery near the home well-trimmed, and moving woodpiles at least 100 feet from the dwelling and raising them at least one foot off the ground.

Hinnenkamp recommends following these precautions when cleaning areas contaminated by rodent droppings:

- Avoid sweeping or vacuuming areas with rodent droppings and urine, as the action can stir up dust and aerosolize the droppings.
- If cleaning an area such as a cabin, camper or outbuilding, open windows and doors and air out the space for 30 minutes prior to cleaning.
- Wear rubber or plastic gloves.
- Thoroughly spray or soak the area with a disinfectant or a mixture of bleach and water to reduce dust. Let soak for 5 minutes.
- Wipe up the droppings with a sponge or paper towel, and discard after use.
- Clean and disinfect the entire area with disinfectant or bleach solution.
- When cleanup is complete, remove and discard gloves and wash hands thoroughly with soap and warm water.

For more information on hantavirus and prevention of disease, visit the DPHHS website at http://dphhs.mt.gov/.

FSA County Committee Nominations Launch June 15

Giving Farmers a Voice in their Community

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) encourages America's farmers and ranchers to nominate candidates to lead, serve and represent their community on their local county committee. USDA's Farm Service Agency (FSA) will accept nominations for county committee members beginning Friday, June 15, 2018.

Producers across the country are already serving on committees where they play a critical role in the day-to-day operations of FSA, making important decisions on programs dealing with disaster and conservation, emergencies, commodity price loan support, county office employment and other agricultural issues.

"Our county committees make decisions about how federal farm programs are administered locally to best serve the needs of agriculture in their community," said Acting FSA Administrator Steve Peterson. "We strongly encourage all eligible producers to visit their local FSA office today to find out how to get involved in their county's election. There's an increasing need for representation from underserved producers, which includes beginning, women and other minority farmers and ranchers."

Nationwide, more than 7,700 dedicated farmers and ranchers serve on FSA county committees, which consist of three to 11 members and meet once a month, or as needed. Members serve three-year terms.

Producers can nominate themselves or others. Check your local USDA service center to see if your local administrative area is up for election this year. Organizations, including those representing beginning, women and minority producers, may also nominate candidates to better serve their communities. To be eligible to serve on an FSA county committee, producers must participate or cooperate in an FSA program and reside in the area where the election is being held.

To be considered, a producer must sign an FSA-669A nomination form. The form and other information about FSA county committee elections are available at www.fsa.usda.gov/elections. All nomination forms for the 2018 election must be postmarked or received in the local FSA office by Aug. 1, 2018. Visit farmers.gov for more information.

Election ballots will be mailed to eligible voters beginning Nov. 5, 2018. Read more to learn about important election dates.

World No Tobacco Day 2018

By Jacklyn Damm
Tobacco Prevention Specialist
Richland County Health Department

World No Tobacco Day is observed around the world every year on the 31st of May. It is intended to encourage a 24-hour period of abstinence from all forms of tobacco consumption around the globe. The day is further intended to draw attention to the widespread prevalence of tobacco use and to negative health effects, which currently lead to more than 7 million deaths each year worldwide, including 600,000 of which are the result of non-smokers being exposed to second-hand smoke.

World No Tobacco Day 2018 will focus on the impact tobacco has on the cardiovascular health of people worldwide. Tobacco causes over 2 million deaths from cardiovascular diseases every year. Reducing tobacco use promotes global health and boosts development. Hundreds of millions of tobacco users are unaware tobacco causes heart disease.

I recently interviewed a tobacco users who is thankful to have finally quit. Here is what she had to say about her addiction to tobacco and her journey to a new tobacco free life. She stated that she was 17 years old when she started smoking and had continued to smoke over the next 18 years. When asked what influenced her decision to start smoking she said it was mostly everybody she hung out with was smoking and she figured it was the cool thing to do. She went on to say the hardest part about quitting was getting in the right frame of mind to actually take the first step. "I had to make a cognitive decision that it was time to give it up." A combination of things to help her quit that were most helpful were the nicotine patch, gum and sunflower seeds. "I also made a list on a notecard with my Top 5 Reasons to Quit and kept it right with my debit card as a deterrent to not buy another pack." She went on to say the positive side of quitting is no more coughing in the morning and not have a "froggy" sounding voice. Spending more time with her kids as opposed to smoke breaks and more energy are added bonuses. When asked if she had any advice for a current smoker she replied "Everyone has slip ups, don't let that get you down. Try again, and again and again. Quitting is a decision that you won't regret! "

If you are a current tobacco user and are ready to call it quits, call the Montana Quit Line at 1-800-Quit-Now or the Richland County Health Department for more information.

Tobacco breaks hearts. Choose health, not tobacco.

Energy Roundup

U. S. Congressional Candidate, Kelly Armstrong, To Speak At The Bakken Conference And Expo July 16-18

By Jordan Hall

The Bakken Conference and Expo is planned for July 16 through July 18 at the Roughrider Center in Watford City. The event is hosted by the North American Shale Magazine and will focus on oil and gas production in the Williston Basin and the latest investment strategies and innovative solutions for the near-term and long-term health of petroleum production in the region. The event will host numerous speakers, from oilfield CEOs and producers to technology leaders who can speak to the various needs and solutions for the industry in the local area. One such speaker is Kelly Armstrong, who is running for United States Congress in the State of North Dakota.

Armstrong grew up in Dickinson, North Dakota, and graduated from Dickinson High School in 1995. From there, he attended the University of North Dakota, graduating in 2001, and then attended the University of North Dakota Law School, earning his degree in law in 2003. After marrying his wife, Kelly, in 2004, the couple moved from Grand Forks back to Dickinson and the two have a son and daughter.

Armstrong has been heavily involved in his community, earning the North Dakota Bar Association's Community Service Award, serving as a volunteer fireman for the Dickinson Fire Department, coaching softball and baseball, and has served with charitable work for various institutions like the hospital, police department, fire department, domestic violence rape crisis center, and the Teddy Roosevelt Bully Pulpit Board. Currently, Armstrong serves as president of the Armstrong Corporation, which is his family's energy business that was founded in 1975. He is also a member of the North Dakota Senate for District 36 and serves as the Chairman of the Judiciary Committee, the Justice Reinvestment Committee, and the Energy and Natural Resources Committee. He also successfully ran for President of the North Dakota GOP in 2015.

The Roundup spoke with Armstrong, who explained the important of industry in the Williston Basin.

Armstrong said, "Obviously, agriculture and industry are important to the region. What's good for North Dakota is good for the country. We need a reliable energy grid, energy independence, and a cheap and secure food source. North Dakota is a big part of obtaining that."

Armstrong then explained the challenges to the industry, saying, "Our three biggest challenges that our energy sector faces are workforce, housing, and federal regulation."

Commenting on the latter, Armstrong continued, "Regulation is an executive branch function. There is some legislation moving through congress right now about regulatory reform and how it has economic impact and that is important information."

"States should be allowed to regulate their industries," Armstrong added. "North Dakota is very good at that. We take it seriously, and we know what we need to do here. Recently, we just got primacy on carbon capture and that was a huge victory for states rights. The issues that are involved with regulating energy are best left to the states that are developing it. And that's not just an energy issue, but is an agriculture issue as well."

Armstrong also explained, "We have billions and billions of dollars invested in Western North Dakota. It's our communities dealing with that, and the people closest to it on the ground are obviously going to be better at knowing what North Dakota's regulatory needs are."

When asked his priorities in Congress in regard to the Western North Dakota petroleum industry, Armstrong responded, "Let us do what we do best out here. The more we can get rid of regulation, the better. We already do a good job. The single best thing we can do and I will advocate for constantly is to make sure the federal government is regulating only what they absolutely have to and not what they want to."

The precise time of Kelly's presentation at The Bakken Conference and Expo is still tentative, and the specifics will be announced in coming days.
