Newspaper Legend Passes

By Lois Stephens

The MonDak region has lost a newspaper icon. Russ Wells, born Dec. 5, 1945, passed away on Sunday, Sept. 29, 2019 just a few months shy of his 74th birthday.

Wells exhibited a talent for newspaper work from the outset. He participated in the publication of his high school paper and when he attended Dickinson College, he joined the college newspaper staff. He and a friend collaborated on the Me & Mrachek column, a feature that proved so popular everyone on campus knew Wells and his friend Don, by sight.

After attending Dickinson College, Wells went to work for the Dickinson Press as wire editor and then as sports editor. Wells was hired as Sidney Herald editor in 1967, which made him the youngest editor in Montana at the time. He then moved to Livingston to be editor of the Livingston Enterprise. From Livingston he became the editor of the Big Timber Pioneer and opened a photography studio, concentrating on wedding pictures.

Wells returned to Sidney in 1972 as publisher of the Sidney Herald. and was promoted to publisher of the Williston Herald publisher.

In 1976 Wells continued to work for Wick Communications taking a 3-day publication to a daily. While in Arizona he managed five newspaper publications for Wicks in Arizona, plus the Sidney and Williston papers.

Wells returned to Williston to manage Scofield Broadcasting until 1983 when he moved back to Sidney as the publisher of the newly-formed Richland Free Press. After a year, with the help of three investors, he began operations of the Richland County Leader in the basement of his home and slowly moved to larger locations as he developed it into a viable newspaper.

The Richland County Leader was purchased by Wick Communications in 1988 and was combined with the Sidney Herald, to make the Sidney Herald-Leader. In 1994, Wells purchased The Roundup, which was located in Watford City. He moved The Roundup office to Sidney. In 2008 he sold The Roundup to his son, Jody, and in 2010 The Roundup office moved to its present location in the Yellowstone Marketplace building.

Wells moved to Florida after his retirement, but he returned to Sidney in 2017.

Wells first and foremost loved the news business. He enjoyed the photography aspect and found his niche in the investigative part of newspaper work. He would see a problem in each city, dig into it, and look for ways to solve the problem through the voice of his newspaper.

Wells was very community oriented. He possessed a great talent for adventuring and raising awareness of an event that promoted the town and surrounding area. His brainstorming were instrumental in starting the Peter Paddlefish Day, Sidney wrestling program, Western Days, Sugar Days, 4th of July celebration, Sidney's Got It and Beef Showcase. He was a driving force behind the MonDak Heritage Center, Courage Enough (2 volumes), MonDak Walleyes Unlimited and the Walleyes Unlimited Annual Kids Fishing Derby held at Gartside Reservoir, which included all the 6th graders in the county getting hints from the membership. Each student was presented with their very own fishing rod and reel.

Wells also was very agriculture oriented. His ideas and vision created the monthly Ag

Roundup to promote and highlight agriculture in the area. He developed the Ag Days Trade Show, started the ag appreciation golf tournament, where, of course, the Roundup had the favorite hole, the Margarita Hole.

Wells always tried to focus on good news in his publications. He wanted correct, factual information, and wanted to promote events in a positive light so people would attend. The Roundup succeeded in this endeavor as the paper covers all of Richland County, McKenzie County, and the surrounding area.

Wells also dearly loved fishing. He created the fishing page in The Roundup, awarding a new rod and reel to anyone submitting their photo to the page.

Wells will be missed. His many contributions to the MonDak region have benefited both the public and the private sectors, and the community will continue to enjoy events that Wells initiated and promoted.

Visitation begins 10 a.m. Friday, October 4th. Everyone is invited to a Celebration of Russ's life at 2 p.m. Saturday, October 5th at the Yellowstone Marketplace, 102 N. Central Ave., Sidney.

Montana Farmers Union Partners To Fund Industrial Hemp Fiber Testing For Construction

GREAT FALLS- Providing Montana farmers and ranchers with another crop option motivated Montana Farmers Union President Alan Merrill to seek out a partnership with Farmers Union Enterprises, Inc. (FUE) to provide funding research to understand the feasibility of producing Industrial Hemp fibers for use in building materials.

Teaming up with Farmers Union member Kirby Hancock, founder of Transformative Ecologies LLC, and architect at Constructive Solutions Inc. working in collaboration with Montana State University Engineering faculty Dr. Michael Berry and Dr. Kirsten Matteson, the funding will cover research and testing. The study will include decorticating (or husking) raw hemp stalks, mixing and prototyping Hempcrete samples, product performance testing and Hempcrete construction applications. "There is so much potential and possibility with hemp," said Hancock. "It can help solve some of the many modern challenges faced today. It is great to be collaborating with FUE and MSU to further its development and create impact that can improve both the environment and economy for current and future generations to come."

MFU President Alan Merrill is a wheat farmer and has served as Montana Farmers Union President since 2006. In his role, Merrill also serves on the board of directors for FUE. Merrill is encouraged by the future of Hempcrete in the building industry. "If testing results show opportunity to return a profit, it could lead to much needed processing opportunities for our state, increasing demand for industrial hemp and the farmers and ranchers who raise it. The opportunity to offer Montana farmers an additional crop to produce for a new and growing market is of great importance to our farmers and our organization."

Montana Farmers Union is a statewide grassroots organization working for family farmers, ranchers and rural communities through conferences, scholarships and other educational opportunities as well as legislative representation and support for producer-owned co-ops.

Flu Shot Important For High Risk Groups

By Stephanie Ler

Though everyone is at some risk of contracting the flu, there are some people who are at a higher risk of both contracting the flu, and getting serious, flu-related complications.

People who are at high risk of contracting influenza include children younger than 5 years old, and especially those who are younger than 2. Every year, thousands of children are hospitalized due to the flu, and some children die from the flu. Children are more likely to experience serious, often life-threatening influenza complications, including pneumonia and inflammation affecting several different organs. The flu vaccine is available for children 6 months and older.

Adults aged 65 and older, and especially those who reside in nursing homes or another long-term care facility, are also at greater risk of serious flu-related complications. The population 65 years and older typically bear the greatest burden of severe flu illness, accounting for about 75% of flu-related deaths and up to 70% of flu-related hospitalizations. The body's immune system tends to naturally decline over time, making those aged 65 and older more susceptible to the flu, and less likely to be able to fight it off than younger adults. A high-dose version of the flu shot is available for folks over 65, which is associated with a stronger immune response to fend off the flu and better flu outcomes than with the standard vaccine.

Any person who lives with certain medical conditions, including asthma, neurological conditions, heart disease, lung disease, blood, organ or metabolic disorders, and those with a weakened immune system are also at high risk of flu-related complications. This also includes pregnant women. In these cases, the body's immune system isn't as readily available to fight the flu because the body is focused on the medical condition or growing a healthy baby. The flu vaccine is recommended for all pregnant women. Check with your doctor for vaccine recommendations for your specific medical condition.

Likewise, if you are living with or the caretaker for someone who is in any of these categories, protecting yourself from the flu is especially important. The flu virus can be spread when a sick person sneezes, coughs or talks, or spread by surfaces shared by both sick and healthy people, like doorknobs and bathroom faucet handles.

The single most effective way to protect yourself from the flu and flu-related complications is to receive the flu vaccine.

The Richland County Health Department offers the standard flu vaccine for those aged 6 months and older, as well as high-dose vaccine for those aged 65 and older. The Mass Flu Shot Clinic will be held on Thursday, October 3, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Private insurance, Medicare and Medicaid will be billed for those who bring their insurance cards. No appointment is needed for the Mass Flu Shot Clinic on October 3. Clinic paperwork is available on the day of the clinic, or can be downloaded at www.richland.org or on Facebook at www.facebook.com/RichlandCountyHealthDepartment.

Upcoming Events At The MonDak Heritage Center

Beau Theige's Guitars To Be Exhibited At The Mondak Heritage Center, October 16-January 11, Sidney

A joint opening reception will be held on October 18 from 6:30 to 8 p.m. for the public to meet the artist Beau Theige and to honor artist Laura Barrett (1930 - 2017) who's exhibit is also opening at the same time. You will also have an opportunity to try playing Beau's guitars on display. This exhibit is sponsored by MAGDA.

Beau Theige's guitars will be loved by music enthusiasts (guitar players in particular), artists and recyclers. Beau, a husband, father, and hobby rancher on the windswept plains of North Dakota found a passion. "Although I am not a guitar player myself, I was instantly intrigued by this varied and unique craft, and thus the journey began. While I spend my days in the oil fields outside Boomtoun, USA, my nights and weekends are spent crafting Beau Theige Custom Guitars." He was instantly intrigued by this varied and unique craft to create hand-made guitars from discarded items such as cake pans, license plates, cigar boxes and more. If you want to get trendy, it's called "upcycling." Each guitar is handcrafted, inspired by everyday utilitarian objects, antiques, or plain old trash. Half art, half junk, all guitar. "Let's change the way you make music."

Laura Barrett: State Of Grace To Be Exhibited At The Mondak Heritage Center, October 16-January 4, Sidney

State Of Grace, sponsored by the Missoula Art Museum, is a survey of works by Laura Grace Barrett (1930-2017). Born in Froid, Montana, and raised on a wheat farm, she studied art and theater at the University of Montana, University of Hawaii, and UCLA. In addition to being an artist, she was a patron and dealer, opening the Bridge Street Gallery and Wine Café and Restaurant in Big Fork, Montana; Ambos Galeria de Arte y Artefactos gallery in Puerto Vallarta, Mexico; and most recently Collage Gallery in Bigfork in 2014. Barrett exhibited and supported Montana contemporary artists and was influenced by their friendships and art. Particularly apparent are the influence of Robert and Gennie DeWeese, Theodore Waddell, and Inez Storer, artists who Barrett collected and exhibited. Barrett work is comprised of rich paintings and sensuous encaustics which incorporate collage, based on living in Montana, her travels, and her encounters with other artists.

In 2008, Laura Barrett made the statement, "The idea that art is all around us and is free for the seeing pervades my work. With the use of found papers or objects, an artist attempts to blend art and life. I try for a "blend of the real and the visionary, the practical and the impractical, suggesting reality in an abstract world."

Barrett and her first husband founded the winery Chateau Montelena in Calistoga, California, whose 1973 Chardonnay won the landmark Paris tasting of 1976. Barrett wrote a book about what has come to be known as the 'judgment of Paris,' titled "What is More Real Than a Dream? Memoir of Chateau Montelena Winery" which inspired the 2008 film "Bottleshock." During her lifetime, Barrett's work was included in exhibitions at the Hockaday Museum of Art and Emerson Cultural Center.

The MonDak Heritage Center is open Tuesday-Friday from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. and Saturday from 1-4 p.m. Admission is Free. For more information call 406-433-3500 or e-mail mdhc@richland.org.

Colon Cancer Screening Kits Available At The Mass Flu Clinic

By Stephanie Ler
Free at-home colon cancer screening test kits will be available for those who are eligible at the Mass Flu Shot Clinic on October 3, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the Richland County Health Department. Colorectal cancer is the second leading cause of cancer death in Montana and the United States, and like the flu, colorectal cancer is preventable. Colorectal cancers are those that start in either the colon or the rectum, and may be detected early through regular screening. The free screening kit offered on October 3 is called a FIT test, or a fecal immune chemical test. This is a non-invasive, at-home screening kit that tests for hidden blood in the stool, which can be an early sign of cancer. FIT does not require any diet restrictions or preparation and can be completed in the comfort of your home. Clinic participants will be screened for eligibility for the test kit. Participants who are between ages 50 and 74, have not had a colonoscopy within the past 10 years, have not have a flexible sigmoidoscopy within the last 5 years, and have not had a FIT test within the last year will be offered the test kit. The test can be completed at home and submitted to the lab at Sidney Health Center to be tested for free. Test results may be shared with your healthcare provider. The free, at-home colorectal screening FIT kits will be available for eligible participants at the Mass Flu Shot Clinic at the Richland County Health Department in the Community Services Building on Thursday, October 3rd, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. For information regarding flu shots or the free FIT colorectal screening test kits, call the Health Department at 406-433-2207.

Williston Saddlery to Celebrate 40 Years

Owners Bill and Karen Novak celebrate 40 years of Williston Saddlery.

By Dianne Swanson
A deep love of animals, particularly horses, plus a thirst for knowledge and a desire to share it, created the perfect combination for Bill and Karen Novak to take Williston Saddlery from a small tack display in an insurance business to a thriving ag business serving a 100 mile radius of Williston, ND.

The newly married couple on their first teaching assignments knew they would some day like to own a tack and feed business but did not want to compete with Williston Saddlery owner Clarence Moe. Moe had started the business in 1963, moving it to various locations in Williston, finally ending up in his American Family Insurance office on 2nd St. When the insurance company made him choose between the two businesses, he encouraged Novaks to purchase the tack.

On October 1, 1979, Novaks moved the inventory of primarily saddles and tack into their 14' X 70' mobile home and hired Kathy Rathert as their first employee. The couple continued to teach during the day, then ran the store after 4 p.m. Karen soon stopped teaching but Bill continued for another five or six years until the growing business demanded the full-time attention of both.

Construction on what is now the display area of the existing building began in May of 1980. Novaks remember it well since Mt. St. Helen erupted at that time, spreading ash all over everything. They moved in over the 4th of July holiday, with no lights and no water, just a strong desire to serve their customers.

Williston Saddlery grew by leaps and bounds during the 1980s and early 90s, with a 10 to 20% growth per year. They shipped their first load of Purina feed in May 1980 and went on to win the national sales award for calf weaning programs and a Purina CHC trip to Hawaii in 1985. With one or two salesmen covering nine counties in North Dakota and Montana for 25 years, plus nine satellite dealerships, the company sold a LOT of FEED. They also operated Watford City Feeds at that time. In 1987, an addition to the building doubled the warehouse space. The annual saddle sale in May was huge. Circle Y would bring a trailer full of saddles and, with over 150 on the sales floor, Williston Saddlery would sell more than 10 each day of the sale. "It was huge then," Karen commented. "It's not that way any more. Things have changed."

When Don Ware and Ray Lumber both quit handling lumber, Williston Saddlery expanded to offer rough lumber and posts to fill that need in the community. Since 2008, they have also greatly expanded their inventory of trailer repair parts to supply the oil field industry.

Novaks worked hard at providing information as well as product. They attended national education courses to increase their knowledge of nutrition, animal safety and handling. "In the 1980s and early 90s, people were hungry for information," Karen said. Novaks helped 12 veterinarians and nine county agents with nutritional information, and put on seminars on nutrition, health care and handling of ratites, hogs, cattle, sheep and horses. They also brought in nationally known experts such as Dr. Miller with his equine seminar, Dr. Ralph Johnson with equine acupuncture and Richard Shrake who conducted horsemanship clinics.

Feed tests were conducted so they knew what their products were doing. With three portable livestock scales, they were able to weigh their customers' calves, then reweigh to judge the calves' performance on their feed. Their work in preconditioning helped start the ND Extension Service program for calves and complimented CHAPS, Cow Herd Appraisal Performance Software, through NDSU.

In order to connect their customers with the products they sell, Novaks took customers on tours of the Purina Research Farm in Grey's Summit, MO. They found the ongoing research fascinating as the scientists determined what was palatable and what performs best. On one tour, they visited the area with weaned pigs where they learned that baby pigs love strawberries, but only the real thing – no artificial flavors! Tours in the 1980s to feed manufacturing facilities, the IBP slaughter plant, and feed lots in Nebraska and Iowa connected buyers with feeders and resulted in better communication and pricing for local ranchers.

Eastern Montanans Demand Answers And Stronger Rules At Radioactive Oil Waste Hearing

GLENDIVE, Mont. – The Montana Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) held the first of two hearings soliciting public comment for draft rules to oversee the disposal of radioactive oil waste. In a packed, standing-room-only hearing room, community members called for strengthening the rules and expressed concern over a report that found contamination in groundwater monitoring wells at the state's only operating disposal facility for radioactive oil waste, Oaks Disposal. Oaks is located 26 miles northwest of Glendive.

Monitoring reports provided to DEQ by Oaks Disposal in February of 2019 found increased levels of chloride, radium-226, and radium-228 in surrounding groundwater-monitoring wells from testing conducted in late 2018.

Prior to the formal hearing, DEQ officials facilitated a question and answer session. During this session, Glendive rancher and Northern Plains member Seth Newton asked "When did DEQ learn about the notable 2018 groundwater contamination? What have you done about it, and how long did DEQ plan on waiting to tell the landowners and community?"

DEQ officials responded that they were not aware of the contamination report despite the document having been provided to a Northern Plains member by the DEQ days prior to the hearing. The cover also has the Department's "RECEIVED FEB 28, 2019, Dept. of Enviro. Quality" stamp on its first page.

One representative said, "I'm not tracking on that," and another representative said, "We will follow up on that and get back to you." None of the DEQ representatives present stated any knowledge of the contamination, nor did they provide any indication that corrective action was being taken.

According to the report, "Increases in chloride concentrations were observed" at two of Oaks Disposal's groundwater monitoring wells. The "sum of radium-226 and 228 was well above the groundwater standard." The report also noted, "It is likely that abundant spring 2018 precipitation created increased runoff between the active landfill area and the storm water pond... In turn, the drainage acted as a recharge point, rather than a discharge point, for local groundwater."

Northern Plains members, including numerous farmers and ranchers concerned about pollution to ground and surface water used in their operations, were among those testifying. All who testified were proponents of the state's efforts to establish rules for radioactive oil waste disposal, but the vast majority expressed concern that the current rules are too weak. A repeated demand from community members was that Montana create rules that are as stringent as neighboring North Dakota's, where the vast majority of radioactive oil waste is produced and trucked across state lines.

The DEQ's most recent draft of rules quadruples the level of radioactive material allowed in disposal facilities above previous rule drafts. The level has been raised from 50 picocuries to 200 picocuries per gram, which is also four times the level allowed in North Dakota.

"With a radioactivity limit four times North Dakota's, Montana is begging to become North Dakota's dumping ground," said Newton in his formal testimony. "We can do better."

great food. Presenters such as author Rodney Nelson, motivational speaker Ryan Taylor, and National Guardsman Gary

Smith who served in Iraq, were some of the great speakers Williston Saddlery hosted. "Gary is from Dagmar and was there after the bombing stopped. He and his fellow guardsmen helped teach the Iraqis how to garden and irrigate, and he shared how deeply appreciative they were. He was excellent," Karen said.

During its 40 years of business, Williston Saddlery has offered its unwavering support to multiple groups within an 80 mile radius of Williston including Bovine Connection, MonDak QHA, saddle clubs and rodeo associations, and 4-H at county fairs. They also provided 4-H educational programs.

Williston Saddlery invites everyone to come and help them celebrate their 40th Anniversary October 10 – 12. Great deals, yummy refreshments and prize drawings are all part of the fun. The store is easy to find on Highway 2 west of Williston.

Richland County Health Department Administrator Awarded High Honor

Judith Lapan, Administrator of Richland County Health Department in Sidney, was awarded the Montana Public Health Association's highest honor, the Distinguished Service Award at the annual Montana Public Health Association (MPHA) conference in Bozeman in mid-September.

The award originates from the work of Mary E. Soules, MD, who was Director of the Disease Control Division of the state health department. "Dr. Mary" was a friend to all who knew and worked with her, and represented the essence of public health. The award is given annually to one person who has exemplified public health principles and practices throughout his or her career in Montana.

Her Department staff nominated LaPan, recognizing her extensive public health contribution through collaboration, leadership, advocacy and policy work across the state of Montana, specifically in rural communities.

LaPan represents Eastern Montana communities on state and national boards. Aaron Wernham, CEO of the Montana Healthcare Foundation wrote of LaPan, "as a trustee of the Montana Healthcare Foundation, Ms. LaPan has been a tireless and effective advocate for strengthening the public health system in Montana. In this role, she helped craft the Foundation's initial grant to strengthen the public health system, which has resulted in grants and technical assistance to boards of health and local health departments in more than 40 counties and Tribes around the state."

Jane Smilie, Population Health Partners, LLC, listed some of LaPan's impacts including: serving as chairperson of Montana Public Health System Improvement Task Force for 7 years where she led the development of the Montana Public Health Training Institute and updated public health statutes. LaPan was also a founding member of the Association of Montana Public Health Officials.

More locally, LaPan has developed the Richland County Health Department into a community asset hosting a wide variety of services that encompass the social determinants of health. LaPan has spearheaded efforts in a community-building project; Communities in Action, to gather data on community needs and create collaborations among partners to positively impact our community.

Sarah Sadowski, Governor's Office of Community Service, stated, "Judy is one of those leaders who genuinely cares for her fellow community members and the staff of RCHD. She serves professionally and is often the one giving others the credit, exemplifying the Award."

It was an honor for the staff of Richland County

Health Department to nominate Judy LaPan for Montana Public Health Association's Distinguished Service Award.

Shopping Sidney

By Bill Vander Weele

Although Sidney's businesses have faced the challenge of having a couple of larger stores close their doors in the last few years, at least some store owners note that the area is experiencing an uptick.

"It seems like our community has done an excellent job of bouncing back to a degree," Bill Vander Weele, executive director of the Sidney Area Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture, said. "It certainly did hurt losing the Shopko stores, but some of Sidney's stores have stepped up and expanded their lines at the request of their customers. Some shoppers have taken a new look of what Sidney has to offer, and they are surprised and impressed."

Vander Weele said that the increased amount of boutiques in town along with the great selection that established stores offer has made Sidney a great shopping stop.

"We have no complaints," Dana Moos, co-owner of Party Central, said of business. "Our problem is trying to keep up with everything sometimes."

Moos said her store on East Main Street has enjoyed its best summer in years.

"We've had a lot of weddings," Moos said. "We couldn't even take a break and go on vacation this summer."

She feels that the closures of the JC Penney and Shopko stores have led shoppers into looking at other local options.

"We've seen people that we haven't seen in years," Moos said. "They are like 'Wow' when they come into the store. People are exploring Sidney again."

Billie Hillesland, co-owner of Meraki Boutique, said business has been very good since the store opened on S. Central Avenue in May.

"The sales are pretty consistent all week long," Hillesland said. "And we're still seeing a lot of new faces."

She noted her clients come from not only Richland County but also Williston, Culbertson, Glendive and Plentywood. Lately, shoppers have included individuals from out of state that are here for seasonal jobs.

"They are saying the prices are right, they aren't excessive," Hillesland said. "They're excited about our children's store coming up."

Phil Johnson, co-owner of Johnson Hardware and Furniture, said business has been on an upswing in 2019.

"The economy is definitely improved right now over the past several years," Johnson said.

Renee Torgerson, manager of J'z Fashion Threadz, also believes sales have improved during the year.

"I think it has been better," Torgerson said.

Watford City's 21st Annual Heritage Day To Take Place October 5th, Weather Permitting

By Anna Dragseth

The 21st Annual Heritage Day will take place at the McKenzie County Heritage Park on Saturday, October 5. The McKenzie County Heritage Park is located west of Watford City at 950 2nd Avenue SW. This free event will start at 11 a.m. and wrap up around 5 p.m.

Throughout the day, attendants will have the opportunity to visit the historic buildings and antique tractors in the Heritage Park that have been donated from all around McKenzie County, participate in a Long X Arts activity (creating clothespin dolls), watch blacksmith shop demonstrations, and participate in old-time school activities. There will be several vendors, live music and entertainment, and a $5 hamburger meal provided by the Watford City Lion's Club at noon.

Attendants can watch the Heritage Park's sawmill and shingle mill in action and watch a threshing demonstration. There will also be a pie eating competition for all ages to compete in. There will be a scarecrow building contest, which is new this year, each contestant is responsible for their own props, and they will provide the straw!

Sandy Rieker, who is the Secretary/Treasurer/Director of the Heritage Park and Director of Outreach at the Pioneer Museum, said, "The main purpose of Heritage Day is to give everyone the opportunity to enjoy experiencing the old equipment and getting them all up and running. We also do it to educate the public of days gone by. Some items that we use might still be found on a farm, but most likely if it is, it's either busted up with no paint left on it, or used as yard decorations."

When Rieker was asked what makes this event different from other events held in the community, Rieker explained that Heritage Day is separate from other activities in the county as they have the equipment that works and usually works very well along with the means to demonstrate how they all ran.

Rieker said, "Because there are so many new families pouring into McKenzie County it is our goal to embrace them and educate them about the past and how this county got started. With the intentions of helping them understand the importance of where they are choosing to call home, whether it's a few days and or years!

Heritage Day is always so much fun! We have something for everyone throughout the day." Come to Heritage Day to explore the way people lived in McKenzie County many years ago and to enjoy all the activities the event has to offer.

Stockman Bank Donates to LVA

Stockman Bank president Garth Kallevig presents a check for $500 to LVA coordinator Bernie Braden.

Stockman Bank in Sidney donated $500 to Learning Volunteers for Adults to help them obtain new testing materials which they are required to buy. LVA coordinator Bernie Braden explained that the computer software is very expensive but necessary to keep the students up to date as required by ProLiteracy which is the accreditation group, and other reporting agencies.

LVA provides an avenue for adults to obtain their GED plus they teach English to students from a variety of countries including Mexico, China and the Ukraine. The service is free except for a $10 copy fee. They currently serve 14 students and have had as high as 20. Braden is assisted by two volunteers from AmeriCorps and is looking for new volunteer tutors. Anyone interested is encouraged to call her at 406-480-1971.

Classes are held in the Sidney Richland Library which will soon be finished with its remodeling project. Braden is excited about moving her office and the classroom to the newly remodeled basement which she calls "stunning."

Long X Arts Foundation Kicks Off The 2019-2020 Concert Series With A Diverse Lineup Of Entertainment, Watford City

The Long X Arts Foundation's Watford City Area Concert Series is excited to announce the lineup for the 2019/2020 Concert Series, the second series for the newly formed organization that is committed to providing high quality entertainment at an affordable rate for members of the community. All concerts take place at 7 p.m. CT in the Watford City High School Theater Auditorium.

Kicking off the Concert Series on Tuesday, October 8 is The World Famous Popovich Comedy Pet Theater. Popovich Comedy Pet Theater is a family-oriented blend of the unique comedy and juggling skills of Gregory Popovich, and the talents of his furry costars. Popovich, who was a longtime member of the Ringling Bros. & Barnum and Bailey Circus, has a second love for animals and decided to put his two interests and talents together. Thus, Popovich Comedy Pet Theater was formed. Today, there are more than 30 pets that make up the menagerie of this unique show. Each one has been rescued from an animal shelter and given a new leash on life! In the summer of 2018 Popovich Comedy Pet Theater had an extended run in Las Vegas to raves and critical acclaim!

The concert series is once again teaming up with the Comedy Café, welcoming comedian, ventriloquist, musician and stand-up comedian Taylor Mason on Friday, November 15. Taylor Mason's quick wit, flawless delivery and polished material make him a hit with audiences of all ages. He has carved out a career in comedy and entertainment that has taken him around the world and into living rooms across the United States for the past 25 years. He's appeared on a myriad of television programs, YouTube videos, and other online viral videos, he has won awards, he's written a book for Penguin Publishing, and once he did a show for children at his local public library! Opening for Taylor will be America's everyday comedian, C. Willi Myles. With his stories about growing up in the south and acclimating to the cold of Minnesota Willi gives a unique spin to life's everyday challenges by applying humor! Comedy Café event serves as a fundraiser for Bakken Oil Rush Ministry, which provides one of the area's only thrift stores to help people who are struggling to provide basic needs for their families.

On Wednesday, February 19 the concert series will take you "Around the World in 80 Minutes" with the incredible vocal styling of Terry Barber. With an extraordinarily broad vocal range and natural fluency in many musical styles, countertenor Terry Barber has been featured on some of the world's most storied stages, and has worked with many of the music industry's leading figures including Chanticleer, Madonna, Jewel and Steve Smith to name a few. His program features unique arrangements by Emmy and Grammy-winning composers of some of the world's favorite melodies both classical and popular. Danny Boy, Besame Mucho, La Vie En Rose, Bridge Over Troubled Water and a medley of Andrew Lloyd Webber hits are all likely to be heard.

The concert series will close out with a high energy and collaborative performance from the R&B/Soul/Pop a cappella group, Ball in the House on Thursday, April 2. Ball in the House has been entertaining audiences of all ages for over 18 years. Taking a cappella to the next stage, the groups makes "music that'll move ya" with classics like My Girl, Stayin' Alive, YMCA, Blank Space, Signed Sealed Delivered, That's The Way I Like It and many more.

"We had such huge support and energy around our first concert series, and we're excited about the lineup we've hand picked for our community, featuring acts that appeal to all ages and tastes," said Jessie Scofield, president of the concert series committee and director of the Long X Arts Foundation.

The Watford City Area Concert Series is a membership driven organization. A 2019/2020 membership grants access to four Watford City based concerts as well as reciprocity with concert series lineups in Williston, Dickinson, Crosby and Hazen. A $50 individual membership gives you the potential to enjoy up to eighteen concerts. There are a variety of membership levels to choose from. To find out more contact Jessie Scofield, Long X Arts Foundation Director at 701-770-8659 or longxart@gmail.com or visit longxarts.com/concert-series.html.

All concerts take place at 7 p.m. CT in the Watford City High School Theater Auditorium. In addition to performing for the community, each performer will be doing a program for select schools in the community during their visit.

Popovich Comedy Pet Theater will perform October 8.
