Cowboy Hall Of Fame To Stage Event In Watford City

Submitted by the Watford City Chamber

MEDORA, ND – The North Dakota Cowboy Hall of Fame, in conjunction with WhippleWood CPAs, Saddle Up Western Wear, Black Gold Development and Homestead Management, is staging a Another Cowboy Moment western gala at Outlaws Bar & Grill, in the lobby of First International Bank building in Watford City on Wednesday, January 7 beginning at 5:00 p.m.

The event will debut segments of the NDCHOF's Another Cowboy Moment video collection, announce upcoming events, introduce the NDCHOF Million Dollar Club and talk about a McKenzie County's increased NDCHOF involvement.

The Another Cowboy Moment video collection, which consists of taped interviews of North Dakota's notable cowboy and cowgirl heroes, past and present, is worth its weight in gold according to the NDCHOF's executive director, Kevin Holten.

"These interviews of our rodeo competitors and ranchers are amazingly entertaining for the present," Holten said, "and immeasurably valuable as an educational tool for the future. The footage is poignant, honest, at times hilarious, at other times sad and entirely enlightening."

The event will also serve to officially introduce attendees to WhippleWood CPAs, the Littleton, CO accounting and tax advisement firm that has recently moved into Watford City. WhippleWood CPAs will stage a quick ribbon cutting event at their new offices on Main Street, a couple of doors north of the 1st International Bank building, prior to the event.

"We have been working with clients in Watford City for some months now," said Patty Rodvold, WhippleWood CPAs marketing director, point person and Grenora High School graduate. "We're looking forward to providing top notch counseling and advisement and to becoming very involved in the community, county and state."

Also on board as a sponsor is the Watford City retail business Saddle Up Western Wear, the preeminent provider of western and fire retardant apparel in northwestern North Dakota.

"I love being involved with North Dakota's western history," said Mark Sparby, owner of Saddle Up Western Wear. "This is a natural for us and promoting North Dakota's western history is something everyone should get involved with in one way or another."

Homestead Management, who is also a sponsor, is proud to be included in Watford City's growing and vibrant business community. Homestead Management provides proactive property management services for residential and commercial properties.

"We are excited to be actively engaged in Watford City's vision for family housing," says Katie Walters, managing member and rental services lead for Homestead.

Rounding out the list of sponsors is Black Gold Development, a real estate development company based in Watford City.

Black Gold Development has been working in McKenzie County for three years and they are committed to seeing the community continue to grow in a positive direction. They will be breaking ground on their Residential Golf Course Community in early 2015 and will be opening up their new real estate office on Main Street.

The Another Cowboy Moment event will include a cash bar and snacks, video and musical entertainment provided by Beni Paulson and Casey Fredericks. For further details call (701) 590-3532.

January is Cervical Cancer Awareness Month

Submitted by Lesley Thiessen, RN Richland County Family Planning

Cervical cancer used to be the leading cause of death for women in the United States. However, in the last 40 years, the number of cases of cervical cancer and deaths resulting from it has decreased significantly. The decline is largely due to advances in early screening for precancerous cervical changes that can be treated before the cells become cancerous. Cervical cancer, when caught early, is highly treatable. Cervical cancer is almost entirely preventable in most Western countries due to routine screenings and a vaccine to prevent HPV (human papillomavirus) infections which when left untreated can lead to cervical cancer.

HPV is an infection that is thought to be responsible for 90% of cervical and anal cancers, about 70% of vaginal and vulvar cancers, and more than 60% of penile cancers in the United States. Furthermore, recent studies indicate that about 70% of oropharynx (throat) cancers are related to HPV infections. HPV is transmitted by skin to skin contact – not through the exchange of bodily fluids. Approximately 80% of all sexually active people in the United States will have had HPV by the time they are 50 years old. HPV is the most common sexually transmitted illness and there are more than 40 subtypes of the virus that can infect both men and women. Not all subtypes cause cancer, but vaccines are available for both males and females to prevent those that do.

The following steps are the best way to prevent cervical cancer: Get routine screenings as recommended by your provider. Avoid or reduce tobacco use. Know your body. Get vaccinated.

If you would like more information, contact the Richland County Family Planning program at 433-2207. HPV vaccine is available during clinic hours on Mondays, Tuesdays, and Wednesdays from noon until 4:30pm. Call today!

Will Plummeting Oil Prices Affect Boom Town?

By Tie Shank

Henrik Jonsson | E+ | Getty Images

WILLISTON: The combination of the discovery of the Bakken shale, fracking technology, and horizontal drilling has brought with it many things including: an economic boom, catapulting employment rates, steeply heightened rental rates and increased crime rates. Oil production in North Dakota has grown approximately 600 percent over the past decade and the Bakken region itself is producing over a million gallons of crude oil a day.

This growth has meant major investments in infrastructure and housing for the city of Williston. Williston Mayor Howard Krug, recently spoke with a member of NPR's Here and Now stating that the population in Williston has grown from 16,000 residents to more than 27,000 residents. Klug told NPR that the city of Williston is around $300 million in debt due to expansion of its housing and infrastructure to support the new residents. He also says that the city is four years behind on paying off this debt. But now, the low oil prices are making it difficult to continue to repay that debt, which Klug said would otherwise be "manageable."

In July 2014, oil prices plummeted to a five-year low and have continued to fall ever since. It's been great news for drivers at the gas pumps but not such great news for oil producers and for the economy.

So far, the decline in oil prices has not deterred investors from their interest in Williston.

"We have a plan that we'll be able to spread out our debt," Klug said. "The state of North Dakota has enough money to make Williston whole right now." Klug also boasted on the area's agriculture stating, "We have some of the most fertile farm land in the entire world. We're number one in lentils. We're number one in durum." Klug is optimistic in thinking that as long as the oil prices do not stay down for a long period of time, "we should be just fine here in western North Dakota."

New Durum Garners High Interest

The directors of the Williams County Agricultural Improvement Association will be meeting sometime around mid-January to submit a request for Williams County. I do not envy their effort to estimate 2015 supply with expected demand for 2016. The 2016 supply should all be eligible for registered grade and the statewide price for this seed is likely to be high especially if commercial durum is in high demand. Presently there is a lot of this year's durum still stored in farm bins with the hopes of following years crops will be low in vomitoxin so this year's crop can be blended to meet the industries food standards.

A brief description of each bill will be included, along with the bill sponsor and hearing schedule. To view each bill in its entirety, click on the hot-linked bill number.
