Williston Home of Economy Begins Expansion and Renovation

Submitted by Wade Pearson
Home of Economy has begun a major expansion and renovation at its store on Million Dollar Way in Williston, ND.

According to store owners Wade and Scott Pearson, the project will bring much needed floor space to several departments and offer more parking in front of the store.

"This is going to be a significant increase to our level of service in Williston," said Home of Economy CEO and President Wade Pearson. "We've had such a tremendous history with the community since 1964 and we are very excited about this latest expansion."

The project comes on the heels of plans for a new location in Jamestown and the 2012 opening of a brand new store in Minot where Home of Economy has had a presence since the 1960s.

"We're very optimistic about future growth," said Home of Economy CEO and President Scott Pearson. "That's three new storefronts within a 12-month time period."

Improvements to the Williston store include energy saving technologies, nearly triple the customer parking spaces, and twice the floor space for top brands like premium workwear giant Carhartt.

According to Scott Pearson, their Williston store already has the distinction of being the number one seller of Carhartt in the world. "Once we have more room, our customers will see the expanded selections of Flame Resistance (FR) and High Visibility (Hi-Vis) workwear and clothing lines," he said.

The Williston store will remain open during construction which is on track for completion this fall. The hunt for additional employees is already underway.

"Along with expanding the store and having greater accessibility, we'll be looking to add fresh faces to our staff," said Wade Pearson. "We have a long history of exceptional customer service and are eager to be expanding the Home of Economy family to continue to meet the future needs of this region."

Home of Economy has six locations including stores in Minot, Devils Lake, Grafton, Grand Forks and Jamestown where plans are underway to make it the largest store in company history.

The Home of Economy family of stores began in 1939 when M.W. 'Bob' and Jean Kiesau opened a small tire store in Thief River Falls, MN. Kiesau grandsons Scott and Wade Pearson continue the family tradition by providing top quality merchandise at affordable prices.

Janae Susanne Moore, 20, Sidney, MT

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m., Monday, July 16, at the Sidney High School Gymnasium with Pastor Paul Turek of Faith Alliance Church officiating. Cremation had taken place under the direction of Fulkerson Funeral Home of Sidney. Remembrances, condolences and photos may be shared with the family at www.fulkersons.com.

Janae Susanne Moore

Janae Susanne Moore was born Oct. 3, 1992 in Sidney, Montana, to David and Terri (Kirkpatrick) Moore. Her entrance to this world began in the back of a pickup at Swanson Field during a Sidney Eagles football game. We always wondered if that is how she acquired such a competitive spirit. She grew up attending Sidney Public Schools and started her sports career in the 2nd grade. After a couple of years of being her big brother’s at-home training dummy (often against her will) she made it official and joined the Sidney Wrestling Club and tried her hand on the mats for a year. This was the beginning of Janae making boys cry! She also began little girls softball in the 2nd grade and continued in softball until she graduated. Her life-long passion, basketball, began in the 4th grade playing in the school leagues. Starting in the 7th grade in addition to the school leagues, she started playing on the Shooting Starz traveling team coached by Kevin and Ira Lake. She always credited Kevin and Ira with much of her success in her career and cherished their very special relationship, she loved them both very much. This is also where many lifelong friendships with her teammates began. As a freshman she made the Eagles varsity squad and became a starter early on and continued as a starter all four years, never missing a game. Her only missed time was due to her aggressive playing style, getting herself into foul trouble often when she was younger. Opposing teams learned quickly that if you stole the ball from Janae, you were probably going to be fouled. As a junior, she was proud to be part of the 2010 Lady Eagles Eastern A Conference Champions and Montana Class A State runner-up basketball team. Janae lettered all four years in softball and basketball, received numerous awards: Softball: two years, All-Conference 2nd Team; Basketball: three years, All-Conference, one year 1st Team All-Conference, one year All-State Selection; Senior year, Most Outstanding Senior Girl Athlete of the Year Award. She also excelled academically, being on the Honor Roll all four years. Other clubs she was involved in were FCCLA, Leo Club, National Honor Society and Close Up. During and after high school she worked at Pizza House, M&M Café, Dairy Queen, Eagle Oilfield Services and South 40 Restaurant. Her last job was working at the South Rock Creek Marina at Fort Peck Lake. Fort Peck was her favorite place for a lot of reasons: she enjoyed the quiet time she had staying at a cabin at North Rock Creek where she was able to get closer to The Lord, reading, doing her daily running and conditioning to prepare herself for her junior year of college basketball, boating, wake boarding and tubing with her family and friends. She began her college career following high school at Dickinson State University, playing for the Lady Blue Hawks Basketball Team. She was awarded the Theodore Roosevelt Honors Leadership Program Scholarship, and worked hard to maintain her high GPA even while conditioning and playing her favorite sport. She made the Dean’s List both years she attended. After her sophomore year, Janae was ranked 20th nationally in the NAIA Division I in field goal percentage. She also led her team in rebounds, points per game, field goal percentage and steals per game. She cherished all her teammates and loved them as her sisters, always having their best interests at heart.

Janae joined her Lord and Savior Wednesday morning, July 10, 2013.

Janae was the epitome of life and beauty inside and out. Her smile, her spirit, her love of Christ, her strength, her wisdom beyond her years, her loyalty, her love of family and friends, her perseverance through good times and bad, her sense of humor, and contagious laugh made all who were blessed to know and love her, so much better for it. Janae really LIVED! No matter where she was... at home, on the court, on the diamond, on a wakeboard, in the kitchen baking Beckie’s Brownies, or at the table playing Taboo with her family and friends. Janae gave it her all every time. Janae was a child of God who lived for The Lord. Amazingly, almost prophetically, Janae shared this quote with everyone an hour before she left this world: “Praise God, Even When You Don’t Understand What He Is Doing”. Thank you Janae, for these comforting words in our darkest hour! You are loved and missed beyond expression by so many people. Rest in love and peace our beautiful angel.

Janae is survived by her parents, David and Terri (Kirkpatrick) Moore of Sidney; her brother Josh, his wife Hailee and their daughter, Janae’s niece, Ainsleigh of Sidney; two sisters, Jennifer Moore and Jozi Moore, both of Sidney; grandparents, Ralph Kirkpatrick of Glendive, MT, and Dave and Susanne Moore of Sidney; Aunt Dorothy “Dottie” (Moore) Wilson and her husband Stewart of Havre, MT; Aunt Diane (Kirkpatrick) Anderson and her husband Paul of Terry, MT; Uncle Doug Kirkpatrick and his wife Geri (Oas) of Glendive, MT; Uncle David Kirkpatrick of Billings, MT; Uncle James Moore and his wife Casey (Gordon) of Spearfish, S.D.; Cousins Nathan Damm and his wife Samantha (Heupel) of Sidney, Russell Damm and his wife Shayla (Sykes) of Bozeman, MT, Michelle Burns (Jose Morales) of Havre, MT, Jade Kirkpatrick and his wife Mickayla (Wiseman) of Bismarck, ND, Kayleigh Kirkpatrick (Nathaniel Packineau) of Parshall, ND; Sara (Kuntz) Bond and her husband Tom of Missoula, MT, James Kirkpatrick of Billings, MT, Lacey Tipton of Billings, MT, Jason Erhardt of Billings, MT, Maggie and Keeley Stewart of Havre, MT, McKenzie and Carter Jones of Spearfish, SD, and Megan Cordell of Spearfish, SD.

Janae is preceded in death by her Grandmother Leona Kirkpatrick and her Aunt and Uncle Linda (Moore) Damm and husband, Kenny of Sidney, MT.

Luminaria Ceremony Honors Cancer Survivors and Those Who Have Lost the Battle

A special luminaria ceremony to be held during the MonDak Relay For Life on Friday, July 26 remembers those lost to cancer and honors those who have survived. Luminaria candles will be lit at the Richland County Fairgrounds at 9:30 p.m.

Anyone desiring to purchase a luminaria may do so by contacting any Relay team member, stopping in at Elk River Printing in Sidney, by calling Toni Zieske at (406) 488-2595 or visiting the event website at www.mondakrelayforlife.org. Luminaria bags are available for a donation of $10.00. All funds raised through these sales support the programs and services of the American Cancer Society.

"It is always beautiful when all of the luminaria bags with candles are illuminated around the track," said Zieske, Relay For Life Co-Chair. "It is a very special and unique way to honor cancer survivors and remember those lost to this disease."

Relay For Life brings numerous groups and individuals concerned about cancer together in a unified effort to fight back. Former and current cancer patients, their families, businesses, civic organizations, and the public are invited to take part in this exciting team event. The "celebration of life" takes place Friday, July 26 at 7:00 p.m. to Saturday, July 27 at 7:00 a.m. at the Richland County Fairgrounds in Sidney.

Relay For Life is a family-oriented event where participants enjoy the camaraderie of a team and also raise funds to support the activities of the American Cancer Society. Participants camp out at the Relay site, and when they are not taking their turn walking or running, they take part in fun activities and enjoy local entertainment.

Cancer survivors will kick-off the Relay For Life event at 7:00 p.m. with the first official lap; then the rest of the participants join the fun. Information about purchasing luminaria, forming a team, or walking in the Survivor's Lap is available by contacting Toni Zieske, or visit the MonDak Relay For Life website. Yellowstone Valley Citizens Demand Exxon Pay Full Oil Spill Fine

Submitted by Larry Winslow

With cries of "Beep beep, toot toot. Hey, Exxon get off that loot," more than 50 Yellowstone County citizens rallied recently at Coulson Park in Billings to tell ExxonMobil to pay a $1.7 million dollar fine for spilling 63,000 gallons of crude oil into the Yellowstone River two years ago.

Members of the Northern Plains Resource Council, National Wildlife Federation, Montana Conservation Voters Yellowstone Chapter, Yellowstone Valley Citizens Council, and the Montana Laborers Union said Exxon needs to pay the fine levied by the U.S. Department of Transportation Pipeline and Hazardous Materials Safety Administration (PHMSA) for the Silvertip Pipeline break beneath the river near Laurel on July 1, 2011.

A new Facebook page asking Exxon to pay its fine had 1,000 "likes" in one month. A petition of sorts, "Exxon, Pay Your Yellowstone Oil Spill Fine" can be found at www.facebook.com/PayYourFineExxon.

"Exxon certainly deserves the fine," said Eileen Morris of Yellowstone Valley Citizens Council. "We want Exxon to be good neighbors and be accountable for its actions."

On May 13, 2013, ExxonMobil Corp. challenged the $1.7 million in penalties proposed by PHMSA, which faulted the company as responsible for the crude oil spill. The oil spill contaminated more than 70 miles of riverbank, killing fish and wildlife, threatening water supplies, and damaging land-owners' property along the river.

"If I drive, break the law, and get caught by the police, I certainly would pay my fine," said Rep. Margaret MacDonald, whose district borders the Yellowstone River. "Exxon needs to pay its fine for violating our natural resources. As far as corporate responsibility, Exxon posted $9.5 billion in profits for the first quarter of this year, it certainly can be a good neighbor and pay its fine."

"Sop, Exxon doesn't want to pay its fine," said Alexis Bonogofsky, a riverfront landowner impacted by the spill. "Well, I didn't want to see my family's fields and pastures flooded with oil. I didn't want to go to the hospital with acute hydrocarbon exposure. And my family didn't want to look down the next morning and see our hay field covered in oil. My family has been dealing with the mess that Exxon made for two years."

"This isn't about the money to Exxon. God knows they have enough. What it is about is responsibility and accountability. They need to be held accountable for this spill."

"We didn't choose this fight but we will make sure that our federal government and elected officials do not allow Exxon to negotiate away their responsibility. So what we need you to do is tell Senator Baucus, Senator Tester and Representative Daines to support PHMSA's full fine against Exxon and not to negotiate."

On July 17, a hearing will be held in Washington, D.C., with PHMSA to address Exxon's protest of the fine.

AARP Senior Safe Driving Course

Submitted by Allen Peterson

The AARP Senior Safe Driving Course will be held at the Sidney Health Center meeting room in the basement on July 29, 2013 for a 4 hour course starting at 12:30 with pre-registration if needed at 12:00.

This class will be limited to 25 people due to the size of room and will need to be pre-registered with Sidney Health Center receptionist with a copy of your Driver's License and if an AARP member, a copy of your membership card. Also, a check for $12 for members under 65 and $14 for nonmembers of AARP with the SHC offering those over 65 a discount.

This will be the last class under this course and title, as beginning 1/1/14, there will be a new name for the course and an all new book and video. Beginning in September, all of the instructors will need to be certified to be able to teach the class beginning 1/1/14.

You can also go to AARP online for the class and Montana will offer the certificate from you completing the course, but the cost is more.

This will probably be the only class this fall in the area because of the limited number of people that have attended this class every two years. For more information, contact Allen H. Peterson, Instructor/Trainer, Culbertson, MT at 406-787-5373 or email ahp4emp2@yahoo.com.

In-Season Foliar Applications Of Nutrients With Limited Soil Mobility Can Improve Yields

Submitted by Sepp Jannotta

In addition to nitrogen and sulfur, several soil nutrients can be applied in-season to help improve crop yields. Early to mid-season application of nutrients such as phosphorus, potassium, or metal micronutrients such as iron can benefit yields when crops are stressed by cold, dry or very wet conditions.

The best bet for ensuring optimal yields is balanced soil fertility going into the growing season. However, cold, dry or flooded conditions may limit plant root growth, as well as nutrient mobility and availability in soil.

"If soil nutrients are marginal, and root growth is slow due to cold or very wet conditions, then roots might not come into contact with a sufficient amount of nutrients," said Clain Jones, Extension soil fertility specialist in the Department of Land Resources and Environmental Sciences at Montana State University.

Foliar application, especially of micronutrients and immobile macronutrients such as phosphorus, is most beneficial if applied when there is enough leaf area to catch the liquid fertilizer. If immobile nutrients land on the soil surface, they will likely not be readily available to the roots.

Phosphorus is relatively immobile in soil and cold- or moisture-stressed crops' roots may not access sufficient phosphorus. If plants appear dark green and stunted and the older leaves become somewhat purple, then foliar phosphorus may be warranted. Jones noted that foliar phosphorus can be a good route to get phosphorus into stressed crops. Up to 16 pounds of foliar P2O5 per acre applied to wheat between early stem elongation and near-heading may increase yields if plants are deficient.

"Applying foliar phosphorus later, near flowering, may increase yields due to delayed leaf senescence. However, this only works if there is minimal moisture stress, that is, in high yielding conditions," said Jones.

Water-logged soils may actually have increased phosphorus availability. Therefore, if soil phosphorus levels were adequate for average yields, additional phosphorus may not be needed for higher yield potentials in regions of Montana that received heavy rains this spring.

Cool or dry weather is known to limit potassium availability. Potassium is important for nitrogen uptake, minimizing drought stress and speeding crop maturity. Potassium-deficient plants appear stunted with 'burned' leaf edges, and potassium-deficient small grains may produce excessive tillers.

"If small grains appear potassium-deficient, then foliar potassium chloride application may be beneficial as late as the flag leaf stage," said Jones.

Most micronutrients, like copper, zinc, and iron are only needed at very low rates (for example, less than two pounds copper per acre). Therefore, seed row fertilizer applications will result in one to two foot gaps between granules or liquid drops along the row. If roots are stressed by cold, dry, or water-logged conditions, they may not reach sparsely distributed fertilizer early enough in the growing season to meet the crop need. Jones has seen quite a few iron deficient plants this year, recognized by "interveinal chlorosis," likely due to waterlogged soils that limit root growth and iron uptake.

Foliar application of micronutrients may be beneficial, but only on the recommendation of a crop or soil professional.

Plant deficiency symptoms are illustrated in "Nutrient Management Module No. 9", and timing of foliar applications are in a recent presentation by Jones. Rescue treatments for nitrogen, sulfur and chloride are given in a recent press release. All of these are available on Jones' website <http://landresources.montana.edu/soilfertility>. Contact your Extension agent or crop adviser for help in determining fertilizer rates.

North Dakota Sees Record Fishing License Sales

Submitted by North Dakota Game & Fish

Years of rising water, a record number of fishing lakes and aggressive fish management in North Dakota have helped produce fishing license sales.

State Game & Fish Department fisheries chief Greg Power said in 2012-13 virtually every license category established a record high, or at the least had a substantial increase. "Even more impressive is this was spread throughout the state, and not just in the rapidly growing counties of western North Dakota," Power said.

Boat North Dakota Course

North Dakota boaters are reminded that children ages 12-15 who want to operate a boat or personal watercraft must take the state's boating basics course.

State law requires youngsters ages 12-15 to pass the course before they operate a boat or personal watercraft with at least a 10 horsepower motor. In addition, major insurance companies give adult boat owners who pass the course a premium discount on boat insurance.

The course is available for home-study from the North Dakota Game & Fish Department's Bismarck office. Two commercial providers also offer the course online, and links to those sites are found on the department's website at gf.nd.gov.

While the home-study course is free, students will be charged a fee to take it online. The online provider charges for the course, not the Game & Fish Department. The fee stays with the online provider.

Upon completion of the online test, and providing a credit card number, students will be able to print out a temporary certification card, and within 10 days a permanent card will be mailed.

The course covers legal requirements, navigation rules, getting underway, accidents and special topics such as weather, rules of the road, laws, life saving and first aid.

For more information, contact Nancy Boldt, North Dakota Game & Fish Department, by email at ndgf@nd.gov; or call 701-328-6300.

Statistics compiled by the Game & Fish Department revealed more than 218,000 fishing licenses were sold last year, 20 percent higher than the previous record set in 1982. A total of 159,500 resident fishing licenses were sold last year, also breaking the record set 30 years ago. In addition, nearly 59,000 nonresident fishing licenses were purchased last year, easily surpassing the previous high set two years ago.

"North Dakota remains near the top in the country in terms of per capita residents who fish," Power said.

In terms of actual individuals participating in fishing, the past year was again record-setting with more than 200,000 active anglers and about 2 million days of fishing. Both open water and ice fishing activity experienced substantial increases. Lake Sakakawea, Devils Lake and Lake Oahe/Missouri River remained the top three fisheries in the state.

Fur Harvester Classes Scheduled

The North Dakota Cooperative Fur Harvester Education Program is sponsoring fur harvester education classes in Bismarck, Jamestown and Dickinson for anyone interested in trapping or hunting furbearers.

The free 16-hour course in Bismarck and Jamestown is August 13 (5:30-9:30 p.m.), 15 (5:30-9:30 p.m.) and 17 (8 a.m.-5 p.m.). The course in Dickinson is September 7 and 14 from 8 a.m.-5 p.m.

Students will learn about traps, trapping and snaring techniques, furbearer biology and fur care. A field day allows students to make a variety of land, water and snare sets.

Upon completion, graduates are issued a certification card that is recognized by any state requiring trapper education prior to purchasing a license.

Anyone interested in signing up for the class should access the Game & Fish Department website at gf.nd.gov, click on the online services link and "online course enrollment" under the hunter education heading.

USDA Extends Acreage Reporting Deadline for FSA to August 2, 2013 Risk Management Deadline Remains Unchanged

Submitted by Dan Janes

USDA Farm Service Agency (FSA) Administrator Juan M. Garcia today announced an extension of FSA acreage reporting deadline. Farmers and landowners have an additional 18 calendar days to submit their annual report for acreage to their local FSA county office with the deadline extended from Monday, July 15, 2013, to Friday, August 2, 2013. Only the FSA reporting deadline has been extended. The acreage reporting requirement for crop insurance has not changed and remains July 15.

"We want to ensure our producers maintain their program benefits by filling their reports accurately and in a timely manner for all crops and land uses, including prevented and failed acreage," said Administrator Garcia.

Accurate acreage reports are necessary to determine and maintain eligibility for various programs, such as the Direct and Counter-cyclical program (DCP); the Average Crop Revenue Election Program (ACRE); the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP); and the Non-insured Crop Disaster Assistance Program (NAP).

Acreage reports for FSA are considered timely this year when filed at the county office by the new applicable final crop reporting deadline of August 2, 2013. Producers should contact their county FSA office if they are uncertain about reporting deadlines.

While FSA is able to extend its deadline, Risk Management Agency (RMA) Administrator Brandon Willis emphasized today that RMA's acreage reporting date remains July 15, 2013, for most spring planted crops in the country. Farmers are reminded to report any loss within 72 hours of discovery to their insurance company, in writing, within 15 calendar days after the final planting date. Losses must be reported and an insurance adjuster must view and release the crop before the crop is destroyed. Farmers are also reminded to contact their insurance agent if they have any questions about coverage, prevented planting, or for reporting and processing a claim.

Crop insurance is sold and delivered solely through private crop insurance agents. Contact a local crop insurance agent for more information about the program. A list of crop insurance agents is available at all USDA Service Centers or on the RMA web site at www.rma.usda.gov/tools/agents/.

Producers also should visit their USDA Service Center to complete acreage reporting for FSA. For questions on this or any FSA program, producers should contact their FSA county office or seek information online at www.fsa.usda.gov.

Initial Estimate of ND Cropland Prevented from Planting Placed at 4.4 Million Acres

Submitted by Dan Janes

Late spring storms and heavy rains throughout the planting season caused an estimated 4.4 million acres of cropland to go unplanted this year, based on an early estimate by USDA Farm Service Agency's North Dakota State Office. The estimate was compiled in response to a request from Senator Heidi Heitkamp to gauge the impact of wet weather on North Dakota producers.

Aaron Krauter, State Executive Director for Farm Service Agency's North Dakota

State Office says the estimate provides a good first look at disaster impacts for 2013. "The acreage reporting deadline has been extended to August 2nd and it will take some time to compile the final numbers," Krauter said. "The survey of FSA County Executive Directors gives us an opportunity to be proactive in delivering disaster assistance for impacted producers."

Heavy winter snows, flooding along many rivers in the state, and excessive rain have combined to keep producers from planting an estimated 4.4 million acres this year. The largest amounts of affected acreage lies north of the Highway 200 corridor.

Producers with losses in counties that are designated as disasters by the Secretary of Agriculture or in a contiguous county may be eligible for low-interest emergency loans or other disaster programs as authorized by Congress.

Welcome

All signs still point to an above average sugarbeet crop. Soil samples taken last week were the second best in the past five years according to Sidney Sugars agriculturalist Russ Fullmer. The next root samples will be taken the second week in August. Farmers are irrigating regularly and Fullmer says they will need to keep the crop wet until harvest.

Although the crop looks good overall, there has been some hail damage including 88 acres north of Glendive that were severely damaged, 740 acres by Fallon with lesser damage and some acres south of Sidney that have been hit twice by hail. "The hail is a setback but the beets will come back," Fullmer stated.

Monitors are in the fields measuring temperature and humidity. No cercospera has been reported yet, but fields are being closely watched. There are some beet diseases, probably from the rain, but those are not widespread according to Fullmer.

To hear more about the sugar industry in general and Sidney Sugars in particular, as well as the progress with this year's crop, attend Russ Fullmer's presentation at the MSU-EARC Field Day this Thursday.

Tim Fine, Richland County extension agent, will talk about the community garden.

Ben Larson, agriculturalist, Safflower Technologies International will speak about soy bean production.

2013 OLD TIMERS' REUNION & SUMMER FESTIVAL

July 19-21 Fairview, MT

(All events to be held in Sharbono Park unless otherwise noted)

Festival Fanfare Set To Get Underway

By Staci Miller

The Annual Fairview Old Timer's Reunion and Summer Festival is set for July 19-21 at Sharbono Park in Fairview.

A time put aside by former residents and past school graduates to return home renewing old acquaintances! The festival features generations of Fairview natives visiting with friends and neighbors, watching the parade, live music, and a variety of other activities. Dennis Dahl carries on the tradition of his father and grandfather and is planning on being the "flag bearer" in this year's parade.

The 2013 Old Timers Reunion and Summer Festival will be the 67th year of festivities. It is always held on the third weekend of July. Decade class reunions are featured as well as many family reunions. Most of the activities are held at Sharbono Park, which is located on the east end of town on Highway 200. Please remember, there are no pets in the park during festival weekend.

The Hotel Albert, owned by Jack and Debra Vaira is celebrating its 100th anniversary and will be featured on the 67th Old Timers' Festival button. Last year ElRoy Kittleson was the honoree. Each year a different "Old Timer" is depicted on the button.

Festival activities get underway beginning Friday,

July 19th at 4 pm with registration and buttons for sale in the park. Hamburgers in the park begin at 5 pm as a fundraiser for Relay for Life.

The $2 festival buttons can be purchased at most Fairview businesses. They also will be sold during the weekend at Sharbono Park. Larry Denowh, owner of Advanced Communications in Sidney, offers these buttons for only $1. Button wearers get Saturday's lunch for free; it also will allow you free entrance into the Missouri-Yellowstone Confluence Interpretive Center and Ford Buford State Historical Site on Saturday and Sunday of Festival weekend.

On Saturday, July 20th breakfast is taking place from 7:00-8:30 am benefiting local Relay for Life with a second registration beginning at 8 am.

At 11:00 am, the Mardi Gras themed Kiddie parade begins. Youth involved with the parade should line up at the Mon-Dak Clinic at 10:30 am.

From 11:30 am to 12:30 pm those involved with the grand parade will need to meet on State Street for parade registration; again, a Mardi Gras theme is encouraged.

Lunch will be served at 11:30am and the grand parade will kick off at 1pm. Following the parade, the program in the park will be held at the gazebo. The annual duck race fundraiser will start at 4:00 pm. To end the day a multi-generational community social will be held at the High School.

On Sunday, July 21st, Zion Lutheran Church will host church service in the park at 10:30 am with the Praise Band performing.

Take in some (or all) of this year's Festival and Reunion events. The Fairview Festival is one of the reasons why eastern Montana is a great place to live – or return to – if you are one of those who have moved away.

Fairview Old Timer's Parades

There will be two parades included in Fairview's 67th Annual Old Timer's Reunion and Summer Festival festivities. Both will be taking place on Saturday, July 20th with this year's theme being Mardi Gras.

At 11:00am, the Kiddie parade begins. Youth involved with the parade should line up at the Mondak Clinic at 10:30am. Prizes will be given in multiple divisions. There will be five places given in the motorized division. Anyone driving a 4-wheeler must have a driver's license. Dress you, your pets, wagons, bikes, etc.... have fun!!

Registration for the Grand Parade is from 11:30am to 12:30pm on State Street. Please ride horses in the Grand parade only! This is to ensure the safety of the small children.

Grand parade entries must have their floats with them when they register and lined up by 12:30 to be eligible for the "Grand" prize of $100 cash. The exhibit can be a float, tractor, car, wagon, horse or buggy.

The Fairview Festival Committee asks that no small children throw candy during the parade; please have a teen or an adult responsible for throwing candy. The Festival Committee also encourages spectators to keep safety in mind and help keep close track of children so they do not run out in front of the parade exhibits. Ellery Avenue will be closed for parking on Saturday until after the completion of the Grand parade. Come enjoy both the Old Timer's parades July 20th. See you there!

The festival committee would appreciate no pets in the park Friday - Sunday, July 19-21.

Hotel Albert Featured on 2013 Fairview Old Timer’s Festival Button

Submitted by Staci Miller

The 67th Annual Old Timer’s Reunion and Summer Festival kicks off Friday, July 19th and runs through the weekend. The Hotel Albert, celebrating its 100 year anniversary, was elected by Fairview Festival Committee to be represented on the 2013 Fairview Festival button. Local artist and former Fairview school teacher, Bill Clark is to thank for the artwork on this year’s button.

The original Hotel Albert was designed to accommodate two or three other establishments at street level with additional business rentals in the basement. In 1918, with the outbreak of the influenza, the Hotel Albert was turned into a hospital. It was the largest and most available building in the town. In 1929, Mr. and Mrs. Lew Newlon returned to Fairview to assist his sister, Mrs. Martha Cannon, in the management of the Albert Hotel. The Hotel Albert flourished and many improvements were made.

Looking, on the outside, much as it did on the day of its opening 100 years ago, the Hotel Albert exemplifies the confidence and the dedication of both its builder, Albert Philips, and all who have shared his love for this area. Through the years, Mr. Phillips had a hand in about every business or industry that came to Fairview. If Phillips was here today, he would smile and say, “I knew my old namesake wouldn’t really die as I’ve always known that my town will perse-

Through the years, the Hotel has gone through several owners and operators such as David Spielvangel, Larry Valnes, Harold Dahl, John Cayko & sons, Mokie Dennis and Jim Bieber. In the 80s, several people and businesses joined in the effort to rebuild and remodel the Hotel Albert. Today the Hotel is owned by Jack and Debra Vaira. As the oldest operating business in Fairview, the Hotel Albert is a signature that perpetuity of small town America exists and is embraced.

Fairview’s 67th Annual Old Timer’s Reunion and Summer Festival will feature the Hotel Albert as a part of the weekend’s festivities. Other festivities include a Mardi Gras themed kiddy parade the afternoon of Saturday, July 20th, followed by the grand parade and program in the park. For more details of the weekend’s activities, visit the Fairview’s Old Timer’s Reunion & Summer Festival FaceBook page.

I'm Proud of My Town!

Reprinted exactly as it appeared Thurs, July 19, 1973 in the Fairview News

I'm proud of my town, Fairview, Montana, a beautiful little village near the shores of the lovely Yellowstone River. Every summer for the past 27 years, the people of my town have had an Old Timers Reunion which I started 27 years ago. The first roundup was mostly old time cowboys. We had a chuckwagon and large rope corral which all the cowboys turned there horses into, they had to be unsaddled and loose. After the dinner which consisted of beef without a brand, gunpowder biscuits, beans, spuds, buffalo chips for dessert and a few cans of beer to soak up the dry biscuits.

After dinner each cowboy was to rope his mount and saddle and the first one out of the gate was Dogy Bill; for a prize he got a new lariat from a merchant in town.

Roy Collins and Dogy Bill lead the parade for many years, but we lost them, but the relatives did not blame it on the chuckwagon grub, which we are very thankful. Our parade consisted of all our business places, and they all joined in. Each one had a nice float trimmed with fancy crepe paper and a well dressed queen singing

"GOD BLESS AMERICA".

Fairview is a friendly, cozy, busy little town with a population of about 1,000 including the BOOT HILL Cemetery.

This place in which we live is just great, isn't it wonderful we are able to live in this fabulous region?

Downtown Williston Public Design Workshop

Submitted by Rachel Sawicki

The next step in the downtown planning process for Williston is underway. RDG Planning & Design firm and the City of Williston Planning and Zoning department will be hosting a public design workshop to give the community an opportunity to share ideas with the planning and design teams to help create an even better downtown for Williston.

The workshop will be held at 18 2nd Street E (formerly Russon's Deli) in downtown Williston on the following dates and times: Tuesday, July 16 from 6:00 p.m. – 8:00 p.m., Wednesday, July 17 from 12:00 p.m. – 1:00 p.m. and 6:00 p.m. – 8:00 p.m. The community is invited to stop by briefly and share ideas or stay for the entire workshop. A presentation and discussion of the work done during the workshops will take place on Thursday, July 18 at 6:00 p.m.

At the workshops, designers from the firm will take ideas gathered from previous public meetings as well as comments from the Plan Downtown Williston website and outline possible concepts for redevelopment and redesign, drawing a vision for downtown with input from workshop attendees.

For more information regarding the workshop, visit www.rdgusa.com/Williston. For property or business owners seeking planning and design ideas contact Rachel Ressler, City Planner at 701-577-8107 or rachelr@ci.williston.nd.us to set up a private appointment.
