Women An Integral Part Of Hardy Operation

By Lois Kerr

Sherri Hardy, Fairview, snapped the photo which won The Roundup's Women in Agriculture photo contest. As the picture demonstrates, women play an important role on the Hardy farm, particularly during harvest. Hardy explains that family and friends of both sexes all chip in to help out during the busy sugarbeet season. Without women, the Hardys would have a difficult time completing harvest.

"We draw from family, friends and retired people to complete harvest," explains Hardy. "My sister is a flight attendant and she takes the month of October off to help drive and to clean up the labor houses after harvest. My mother comes from Missouri and cooks, cleans, does the laundry and goes for parts. My mother-in-law runs from field to field and marks the entrances and exits and the culverts, and she also marks the bad turns on the road with cones and flags so truck drivers know where to go. My brother-in-law is a pilot but he takes the month off to help, my dad drives, and nieces and nephews all help."

She continues, "We have three daughters and they all take part in the operation. They drive tractor and haul barley and irrigate all summer, doing what needs done. Our oldest daughter attends the University of Mary and she came home three weekends in October to help with harvest, and two of those weekends she brought friends home with her to help. It would be a lot more difficult to farm without the assistance of women and our daughters. Everyone plays a part, and everyone knows what they have to do to get the job done."

Life gets quite hectic when sugarbeet harvest arrives. Hardy hires the truck drivers while her husband, Dave, hires the field crews. Hardy will hire women drivers whenever possible. "We have ten trucks on the road 24 hours a day during sugarbeet harvest," she remarks. "We need a lot of drivers. I generally hire 20-22 drivers, depending on who can do what. Usually I hire six or seven women every year. Women drivers tend to be more cautious and careful, so if a woman can drive and wants to work, I hire her."

This year, as the photograph points out, the Hardys did have a tip-over accident and yes, a qualified woman with a CDL was driving, but the accident was not her fault, and fortunately no one got hurt. "This wasn't our first-ever accident," Hardy comments. "The accident happened about a half mile from the Snowden Bridge, and that road is very narrow and washboarded with a lot of blind curves. We've lost three trucks in that half mile stretch."

She adds, "This year that road flooded in the spring and was impassable for awhile. There are still soft spots in that portion of road, plus some people in the Valley don't understand big trucks and bad roads."

Hardy's driver rounded a blind curve to find a pickup traveling in the middle of the road. The pickup failed to move over, so Hardy's driver had few options. "The pickup didn't get over," Hardy says. "Our driver could either have hit the pickup or hit the ditch, so she chose the ditch. The sides of that road just suck you in, there was a small incline in the ditch, and it caught the truck and laid it over. Thank goodness no one was hurt."

Once again, women took care of the problem of the tipped truck and spilled beets. "I ran the loader and scooped up beets, and the crew helped," Hardy concludes. "We off-loaded the beets onto another truck, and we had to pick up the last few bucket loads by hand."

Nathan Langwald Benefit Set For Sun.

This Sunday, Nov. 6, from 10:30 a.m.-2 p.m. there will be a benefit breakfast in the St. Matthew's Catholic Church multipurpose room.

The pancake and sausage meal will be sponsored by the Knights of Columbus, and proceeds of the free will offering will be used to help defray the medical expenses that the Nathan Langwald family has sustained since his farm accident in August.

A Silent Auction will also be held. Those unable to attend may also contribute to a fund that has been set up (the "Nathan Langwald Benefit Fund") at Richland Federal Credit Union. Supplemental funds have been requested from Thrivent Financial.

Thank you for supporting this worthy cause.

Fairview Bridge Fireworks

The Fairview Chamber of Commerce and Friends of the Fairview Bridge will host the Fairview Bridge Christmas ornaments and fireworks Friday, November 18 at Sundheim Park. Donations are being accepted to help pay for the fireworks, and any large, lit Christmas ornaments are welcome. For more information call Ray Trumpower at 406-742-5259. Donations may be sent to P.O. 374, Fairview, MT 59221.

Wine & Food Festival To Be Held Saturday

The 18th Annual Wine and Food Festival will be held Saturday, Nov. 5 at the Richland County Fair Event Center, Sidney, from 7-10 p.m.

Throughout the evening, attendees have the opportunity to sample an array of wines and delicious appetizers from local caterers and restaurants. You will also have a chance to browse and bid on artwork donated by local talented artists.

Tickets are $40 each and include a commemorative wine glass featuring the historic Scout Cabin. Local artist, Bill Clark has been the designer behind the wine glass art for the last 18 years.

All proceeds raised during the event directly benefit the Foundation's Endowment Fund, helping ensure the continuance and quality of local healthcare services.

For more information contact the Foundation for Community Care at 406-488-2273.

Neighborhood Watch Informational Meeting Set For Thursday In Sidney

By Jodi McPherson

A Neighborhood Watch informational meeting will be held at 7 p.m., Thursday, Nov. 3, in the upstairs conference room of the Community Services Building, 1201 W. Holly, Sidney.

The purpose of the meeting is to outline a Neighborhood Watch Program and what it would take to get the program started in Sidney.

A Neighborhood Watch Program is a crime prevention program that stresses education and common sense and empowers citizens to become active in community efforts through participation in neighborhood watch groups.

Richland-McCone County RSVP Director Idelle Badt has had several people inquiring about starting such a program in Sidney.

"We tried to start a Neighborhood Watch Program about five years ago and didn't have anyone show up for the meeting," said Badt, "We have all the materials from then that could be used if people really want to get this going."

With the increase of residents and a noticeable increase in crime, newcomers and long-time residents are concerned about what can be done to feel safer.

"The size my of neighborhood has grown so much I see people who don't know each other. I see people living in a sort of fear that is not necessary," said Rachael Derry, a longtime area resident.

Derry shared her interest in the Neighborhood Watch program getting started.

"I see young mothers, many of them new to Sidney, that don't realize how our friendly community was before all of the new people moved in. People in Sidney, in general, need to work together to make it better and keep it the way it was. Neighbors watching out for each other."

Badt wants people to know that a program of this sort is a commitment, but residents can feel like they are doing something to make things better for their community neighborhoods.

With all of the small crime happening, a Neighborhood Watch Program could be a great asset to the community and the law enforcement departments that are overwhelmed and understaffed.

"It would help people feel safer being involved in a program like this," commented Derry, "And maybe even get to know each other."

For more information contact the RSVP office at 433-2207.

Mid-Rivers Announces New Cooking Show

Mid-Rivers Communications announces the taping of "JUSTICE IS SERVED", a cooking show with local flair. The program is scheduled to air in central and eastern Montana on MRC-TV, the Mid-Rivers Communications Local Events Channel, in 2012.

The first episode will be taped at Reese & Ray's IGA, Sidney, on Nov. 2. MRC-TV is inviting the general public to join the taping and taste-test the featured dishes.

"Justice Is Served" is a 30-minute program featuring unique recipes from the area and hosted by local Judge Greg Mohr. The show will follow Judge Mohr as he prepares unique delicacies such as "Jail Bird Chicken", "Gas Chamber Chili", "Get Out Of Jail Free Fudge" and "Subpoena Soufflé".

"The 'Justice Is Served' program is just one of several new and original programs being developed by Mid-Rivers to provide our customers with viewing options that are not available anywhere else," said Bill Wade, Mid-Rivers Communications' general manager.

MRC-TV programming is exclusive to the Mid-Rivers Communications cable system, offering professionally-produced local sporting, community, and area events along with original programs.

His Honor, Judge Mohr, is a Justice of the Peace and Justice and City Court judge for Richland County. Judge Mohr also teaches cooking classes and caters special functions when time allows.

Red Ribbon Week To Be Celebrated Nov. 7-11

We are painting the county red! Richland County is celebrating Red Ribbon Week Nov. 7-11. The Red Ribbon Week campaign is now the oldest and largest drug prevention program in the nation, reaching millions of young people each year. Red Ribbon Week provides all community members with the ideal opportunity to unite and make a visible stand against drugs. Here in Richland County, we are taking it one step further. We want to tell our youth that we support them in choosing to live drug-free. We want them to know that we care about the decisions they make.

Our goal this year is to bring Red Ribbon Week beyond the walls of the schools and into the community. Preventing youth drug use is so important it takes a community to effect change and really make a difference. Surveys conducted in local schools show that 25% of our high school students are binge drinking (more than five drinks at a sitting) and there are dramatic increases reported by 8th grade students. We see that over 48% of Richland County high school students have used tobacco at least once, and 29% have used marijuana. These numbers tell us our youth need strong community support, because many are struggling. We can also see that the majority of our students are not making these dangerous choices, but they too need our support in a world full of pressure and misperceptions.

Red Ribbon Week is something everyone can join in celebrating. Everyone is encouraged to wear red and display red ribbons as visibly as possible. Many businesses are supporting this effort by painting red ribbons on their windows, creating red displays, and giving discounts to customers wearing red. The faith community is asked to include the Red Ribbon Week message in bulletins, sermons, and youth activities. Red ribbons can be worn, tied to trees or fences, and the newspaper is providing one for each household to post visibly in their windows.

Join us in celebrating Red Ribbon Week, Nov 7-11 by showing our students care about the decisions they make. This will be an amazing show of support as Richland County sees red!

Red Ribbon Week is hosted by STAND, a subcommittee of the Partnership for Promise. If you would like more information please contact Bridget or Nicole at 433-4097.

Watford City FFA Holds Greenhand Degree Ceremonies

By Allison Monsen,
Chapter Reporter

At a special October meeting, Watford City FFA recently held its annual Greenhand Induction ceremonies. At these ceremonies, 29 members received their Greenhand degree from the Watford City Chapter this year.

In order to earn the degree of Greenhand, members are required to memorize the FFA Creed, and have extensive knowledge in Parliamentary Procedure and a basic understanding of the history and purposes of the FFA on the local, state, and national level.

Roasts, chips, beans and ice cream were served on Thursday night. Everything tasted very good and the ceremony was a success.

Greenhand Degree Recipients

Bakken Infrastructure Finance & Development Summit

By Jodi McPherson

The 2nd Annual Bakken Infrastructure Finance & Development Summit was held Oct. 24-26, in Denver, CO. The summit was an opportunity for those in any area of the oil industry to meet key decision makers from government, E&P companies, investment houses and financial institutions, midstream and other infrastructure developers and operators who are involved with Bakken infrastructure.

Approximately 350 people attended the second annual Bakken Infrastructure Finance and Development Summit in downtown Denver. Keynote speakers at the summit were Harold Hamm, CEO, Continental Resources, on day one and North Dakota Governor Jack Dalrymple, on the second morning of the summit.

The three-day summit was initiated to be the business center of infrastructure expansion in the Williston Basin and focus on current and future infrastructure projects in the Williston Basin and how this affects the economics of the region. For investors who attended it was an opportunity to learn where the investment opportunities are in real estate and community growth.

Day one of the summit featured workshops on the traditional Bakken and where it is headed today, the latest updates on the growing production from the entire Williston Basin and review on the increasing potential in resource plays outside of the traditional Bakken production. Workshop leaders discussed the expansion of the Bakken play into Montana, Saskatchewan and Alberta. There were detailed presentations covering the geology and the economics of these shale plays.

Day two agenda topics included briefings on every major pipeline project currently under development. With new pipelines for oil and natural gas liquids (NGL's) and rail transloading stations being constructed in the Bakken, midstream infrastructure providers need to build relationships with the Bakken producers to meet their infrastructure needs and the summit was able to provide a network for these issues. There was also talk of how much additional midstream infrastructure is needed to accommodate increasing production levels.

Another focus was the activity in Bakken E&P, midstream, rail, trucking, housing, labor and power generation. One panel focus was how power companies are involved and can they help with growing drilling activity in the Bakken infrastructure, a discussion of major power issues related to growing drilling activity in North Dakota, what counties suffer with power shortages the most and a question of what are the plans for power plants expansion to secure sufficient power sources for expanding drilling activities.

An important panel discussion held on the second day of the summit looked at overcoming the community challenges related to drilling activities. They discussed the challenges oil and gas producing counties in North Dakota are dealing with and the social impact the drilling activities have on the local communities.

Considering the first summit of this kind a great success, local officials are planning another summit for next year.

Marathon Benefits Cancer Care Center

With the Mount Lemmon Marathon over, we are $2,609 closer to having Phase II of Sidney Health Center's Cancer Care Center complete. Sunday, October 23rd at 6:00am there were over 500 participants waiting to start the world's toughest road marathon. Staci Miller, executive director of the Foundation for Community Care was among them. Pledges came in from across the nation to support Miller's endeavor and donate to the Cancer Care Center. Staci completed 13.5 miles (slightly over a half marathon) before having to stop from a stress fracture in her left foot and cramping. Multiple donors called and emailed after the race to say their pledge would include all 26.2 miles. "I am immensely grateful for the support from every single donor. It was their support that was going through my mind as I limped across the half marathon threshold," stated Miller. The Foundation for Community Care continues to raise funds for Phase II of the project, which is to relocate chemotherapy and provide a separate, private entrance to the center. This phase is dependent on support from the community and is projected to cost $1.4 million.

Do You Know Of A Small Business Or Small Business Advocate That Deserves Recognition?

The SBA Montana District Office is actively seeking nominations for the 2012 Small Business Week Awards. Nominations are being accepted for outstanding small business owners and advocates in a variety of categories.

The SBA awards are part of the National Small Business Week (SBW) celebration. SBW 2012 will be celebrated the week of May 20. Leading up to SBW, the SBA will recognize award winners in every state and territory. These award winners will go on to compete at the regional and national levels. Finally, the national winners and competitors will be honored during SBW in Washington, D.C.

Categories include: Small Business Person of the Year; Small Business Exporter of the Year; Young Entrepreneur of the Year; Entrepreneurial Success; Family Owned Small Business; Women in Business Champion; Veteran Small Business Champion; Home Based Business Champion; Minority Small Business Champion; Financial Services Champion; Small Business Community.

For complete nomination guidelines and forms visit www.sba.gov/mt.

Any individual or organization such as professional and trade associations, business organizations, chambers of commerce, banks or employees of a small business, can submit nominations. Nominations will be evaluated on the basis of staying power, growth in number of employees, financial growth, innovation of product or service, response to adversity, small business advocacy and community involvement.

All nominations must be mailed or delivered to the Montana SBA District Office, 10 W. 15th St., Suite 1100, Helena, MT 59626, no later than Nov. 10, 2011. For additional information on the Small Business Week Awards program, or to request nomination forms, please contact SBA's Crystal Baker at 406-441-1089.
