Sidney Elks Member Installed as President of The Montana Elks Association

By Erin Wells

When you say the name, Sherry Qunell, there are not many people in the community of Sidney, MT that won't know who you are talking about. Always with a smile on her face and eager to lend a helping hand wherever she can. Whether it's the yearly Easter egg hunt the Elks Club puts on for the children, the free will donation 911 dinner, or hosting the Sidney's 8th grade graduation luncheon, Sherry Qunell, is someone who is hard to forget. Sherry met her husband Joe Qunell in 1985 and married in 1986, they then had their son Greg.

As a member of the Sidney Elks Lodge, Qunell was elected as the Montana State President of the Elks Association. Qunell has been a member of the Elks B.P.O.E Club Association for 16 years and a member of the community of Sidney for even longer. The Elks Club Creed B.P.O.E stands for; Believe in the goodness in thyself as well as in others; Protect childhood with tenderness, old age with respect, and cherish with reverence the memory of those who have passed away; Observe faithfully the Golden Rule; Enjoy the good things of earth, keep within thee the glorious sunshine of youth and remain always of good cheer. Qunell could not be a better example of exactly that. Qunell has always gone above and beyond just a volunteer in the community. Her actions of thoughtfulness, caring attitude, eagerness to help, hard work and dedication, is exactly what gives Sidney that small hometown feeling that everybody loves.

Sherry Qunell was installed as the Montana State Elks President, on July 26, at The Sidney Elks Lodge, during the Elks Convention over the weekend. What an honor & blessing it is to the community to have someone such as herself represent the town of Sidney and The Sidney Elks Lodge.

Will You Be a Blessing or a Burden When Disaster Strikes?

Part 3 in a series by Lynn Sloan

What is the number one way you can help, rather than hinder, your community in a crisis? Be prepared yourself! Plan to take care of your own family to free up necessary aid for the injured and the vulnerable that will need it most. "Nothing can be more detrimental to the response to a catastrophe than if first responders must waste vital time and resources taking care of those who could have taken care of themselves." ("After Hurricane Sandy: Time to Learn and Implement the Lessons in Preparedness, Response, and Resilience," Special Report #144 on Homeland Security by the Heritage Foundation, October 24, 2013)

With only what you have on hand today, how would your household cope if you lost communication, water, electricity and transportation services for 2 or 3 weeks? Richland County Disaster and Emergency Services'

"Dare to Prepare at the Fair" campaign is here to help! Visit our booth in the Agriculture building for helpful ideas, tools and information, and a chance to win some great prizes to help you prepare. Earn prize tickets by: Completing the PLAN form and contact cards available at our booth and Richland County/Sidney Public Library. Downloading preparedness apps at www.redcross.org (up to 10 available) bringing us a photo of "What's in Your Kit?" for our display. Answering daily quiz questions at our booth.

As Tennessee tornado survivor Evonne Richards points out, "Just because you're prepared doesn't mean it's going to happen to you..." Richards is glad she followed advice from a ready.gov billboard and stored up water, food, fuel and other emergency supplies for her family. She says that when a midnight tornado struck their home, "It was nice to know that I could take care of my family and free up rescue workers to go help somebody else instead of trying to bring us water." The Richards family also contacted friends to report that they were safe. "By us being okay, the rescue crews could go on to help other people like our closest neighbors that needed help. That was a blessing because it may have saved our neighbors' lives." (www.ready.gov/testimonials)

Get a Kit. Make a Plan. Be Informed. Please take these steps to prepare yourself, your family and your business, so no one will go without aid on your account. Join others this week in the Dare to Prepare challenge and help us build a more resilient community in Richland County.

Lynn Sloan is a preparedness specialist volunteering with Richland County's Dare to Prepare campaign.

Agricultural Field Day

Submitted by Matt Rosendale

The Montana State University Agricultural Experiment Station and Extension Service held their 34th annual Field Day in Sidney on Thursday July 24th. The event capped 100 years of dedicated service by the MSU Extension Office. The employee's of the extension office have dedicated their careers to identifying diseases and improving the production of the crops grown in Montana. Our unique growing conditions present many challenges and opportunities to the agricultural community. The scientists at each of the seven research centers located around the state conduct experiments designed to develop seeds that are able to increase the productivity of the agricultural industry in Montana. These experiments have generated a quantifiable return on investment, as agriculture remains the number one industry in our state. Senator Matt Rosendale and Representative Scott Staffanson were in attendance as the scientists presented their work. The tests ranged from techniques which use seed manipulation to strengthen wheat stems to withstand high winds prior to harvest, to growing crops in such a fashion as to disrupt the reproductive cycles of the problematic insects thereby reducing crop damage.

Additional experiments have assisted the agricultural community into developing crops, which can be grown in a rotation with their traditional crops such as sugar beets or wheat. Many times, by changing the crop which has been grown in the same location for many years, the farmer may improve the soil conditions and reduce the presence of disease and insects that have slowly been reducing their production and profits. Always of interest is the marketability of any new crops. Soybeans have shown to be a good rotation in both dryland wheat and irrigated fields. They deposit nitrogen back into the soil and have been highly successful as a tool to help with weed management. Several local producers have found that they have ready access to markets making soybeans a nice addition to their crop rotation. Duane Peters, Agronomist for Sidney Sugars, Inc. spoke about the different varieties of sugar beets and gave a brief outlook for the current sugar beet crop. At present he estimates an average of just over 29 tons per acre of beets to be harvested in the fall. This is greater than any of the other regions and more than two tons an acre greater than the previous record of 27 tons per acre set in our area. The producers must still keep an eye to the global sugar markets and the production in Mexico more particularly as that can have huge impact on the actual value of their crop.

Duane Peters, Sidney Sugars, Inc. describes seed varieties and gives sugar beet outlook for 2014.

Sen. Matt Rosendale and Representative Scott Staffanson listen intently from farm wagons as the tour progresses through the different crops.

Charley Jenkins Headlining Act for Roosevelt County Fair

Submitted by Angela Miller
Charley Jenkins will perform at the Roosevelt County Fair Friday, Aug. 8 at 8 pm.

Out of 45,000 contestants Charley was a top 12 finalists on NBC's hit show, Nashville Star. However, Charley's career didn't start there and it dang sure didn't end there. Early on, folks could tell that this Eastern Utah farm boy had country music running through his blood. If you want to hear a true story on how he was raised just listen to his song titled "Country Music Made A Man Out Of Me". You can also get a deeper look into his upbringing and his passion for rodeo when you listen to his songs titled "Yippi Ki Yi Yo", "Rodeo Clown", and "Hold On". Charley pours his personality and life perspective into his music and you can't help but smile with songs like "Duct Tape and Bailing Wire" and "Right Where I Belong", and then connect personally with "Hero At Home" and "That Mountain". Because of Charley's love of life, God, Country and Country Music he has gained fans everywhere he performs. His passion and music have taken him from Music Row in Nashville, TN to the Today Show in NY, performing for tens of thousands along the way. He has an unusual ability to customize his show to fit the personality of any crowd. It will be clear to anyone who watches Charley perform, country music fan or not, that Charley is not just a great vocalist but an entertainer as well. Dan Truman of "Diamond Rio" says this: "Charley Jenkins?. He's great, He's real, and Country Music Needs Charley"

Oh -- if you want to find Charley and his band, just look for the big red bus with horns on it. He proudly admits that he bought it on e-bay. Yup, that's just how he rolls!

To purchase ticketsw call the Roosevelt Co. Fair office at 406-787-5881.

Velva Angler's Goldeye Breaks Record

Youth angler Brayden Selzler's catch on July 25 shattered a state record for goldeye that's been in the books for 16 years.

The 9-year-old Velva angler reeled in a 4-pound, 12-ounce goldeye from Lake Audubon.

The previous record of 3 pounds, 13 ounces was established in 1998 by Craig Unser, a Mandan angler who was fishing New John's Lake.

Richland County Farmer's Market Back in August

Submitted by Ludmila Keller

The Richland County Farmer's Market is back. Starting Saturday, August 9th, market visitors can choose from a variety of locally-grown produce, homemade baked goods and homemade crafts. The Farmer's Market will be held every Saturday from 7:30 a.m. to noon at the Richland County Extension parking lot (1499 N Central Ave, Sidney).

Last year was the first time the local Extension Office managed the Farmer's Market, with great success. Visitors saw on average 10+ vendors, who often sold out before the end of the day. So make sure to come in early to have your pick of fresh produce and food, and support your local economy.

Extension encourages new vendors to participate in this year's Farmer's Market by selling homemade arts, crafts or food items and calling 406-433-1206 for any questions.

Montana Consumers Will Benefit From $2,719,595 in Health Insurance Refunds

Health care law will provide families in Montana with an average refund of $286 this summer

Health and Human Services Secretary Sylvia M. Burwell announced today that 14,170 consumers in Montana will benefit from $2,719,595 in refunds from insurance companies this summer, averaging $286 per family, because of the Affordable Care Act.

Created through the law, the 80/20 rule, also known as the Medical Loss Ratio (MLR) rule, requires insurers to spend at least 80 percent of premium dollars on patient care and quality improvement activities. If insurers spend an excessive amount on profits and red tape, they owe a refund back to consumers.

"The 80/20 rule is bringing transparency and competition to the insurance market, ensuring that consumers are continuing to receive value for their premium dollars," said Secretary Burwell. "Standards like these created under the health care law are providing Montanans with immediate savings and are helping to keep costs down over the long-term."

Nationwide, consumers have saved a total of $9 billion on their health insurance premiums since the 80/20 rule took effect. Last year alone, consumers nationwide saved an estimated $3.8 billion because of reduced premiums as insurance companies operated more efficiently. Additionally, consumers nationwide will receive $330 million in refunds, with 6.8 million consumers due to receive an average national refund benefit of $80 per family.

Since the standard took effect, more insurers year over year are meeting the 80/20 rule by spending more of the premium dollars they collect on patient care and quality, and not red tape and bonuses.

If an insurer did not spend enough premium dollars on patient care and quality improvement, Montanans will see their value reflected in one of the following ways: a refund check in the mail; a lump-sum reimbursement to the same account that they used to pay the premium if by credit card or debit card; a reduction in their future premiums; or their employer using refunds to improve their health coverage.

The 80/20 rule, along with other standards such as the required review of proposed premium increases, is one of many reforms created under the health law helping to slow premium growth and moderate premium rates. Combined with the savings consumers are receiving from tax credits on the Marketplace and the new market reforms, including prohibition of the use of pre-existing condition exclusions and charging women more for insurance than men, the 80/20 rule helps ensure every American has access to quality, affordable health insurance.

For an overview of insurers' 80/20 data in 2013, visit: <http://www.cms.gov/ccio/Resources/Forms-Reports-and-Other-Resources/index.html#Medical Loss Ratio>

MonDak Relay For Life Held in Sidney

The MonDak Relay for Life event was held July 25 at the Richland County Fairgrounds. About 125 people participate and raised around $20,000. They would have not been able to raise this money without the help of their sponsors, teams and committee members. They would like to extend a special thanks to their committee member Marsha Buckley for her motivation, support and engagement. (Photo by Megan Quale)

Study Shows Montana's Beer and Wine Distributors Boost Economy

Submitted by Colin Sorenson

Montana's beer and wine distributors support more than 2,000 jobs, with average earnings of nearly $54,000, according to a recent study by the University of Montana Bureau of Business and Economic Research.

The study, commissioned by the Montana Beer and Wine Distributors Association (MB-WDA), found that distributor operations increase the number of jobs, levels of household income and tax revenues across the state.

"We found that distributors make Montana's economy larger, more prosperous and more populous," said Colin Sorenson, a BBER research economist who conducted the study along with BBER Director Patrick Barkey.

BBER's study found that Montana's 22 beer and wine distributors have the following economic impacts: An average of 2,048 additional permanent, year-round jobs in the state; More than $120 million received by Montana households; Disposable income of over $100 million; Nearly $200 million in sales from businesses and organizations based in Montana; and Tax and non-tax revenues, not including property taxes, of more than $36 million.

Distributor activity sustains nearly 1,200 jobs in wholesale trade and more than 800 additional jobs in manufacturing, state and local government, construction and other private sector industries, the study found.

"A lot of our work is behind the scenes, so people may not realize the pivotal role we play in getting products to customers," according to Mike Markovich, a Montana Beer and Wine Distributors Association board member. "For example, it would be pretty hard to get many of your favorite Montana craft beers in your local store without distributors to help make it happen. We are able to transport the beer of even small Montana breweries in our trucks alongside the nationally known beers, which provides a great diversity in products offered by Montana retailers."

Association distributors deliver beer and wine to approximately 3,200 licensed accounts located throughout Montana's 56 counties.

The Bureau of Business and Economic Research at UM is a research center producing economic and industry data for Montana. For more information visit: <http://www.bber.umt.edu>.

Sidney Tractor Pull Aug. 23

Submitted by LaVanchie Starkey

As we begin to see the summer wind down there are still many activities planned in our community. Following the Richland County Fair & Rodeo is the Lone Tree Gun Show and the Sidney Jaycees Demolition Derby. And we mustn't forget the 7th Annual MonDak Harvest Fest Tractor & Pickup Pull, scheduled for August 23rd at the Richland County Fairgrounds. Hosted by the Sidney Area Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture, this event continues to grow as we see more competitors wanting to test their "metal".

New this year is the Full Pull sled provided by Full Pull, Inc of Mandan, ND. In the past we have had a percentage pull with the winner being determined by the percentage of their own weight pulled. A Full Pull is determined by footage, making it much easier for fans to see who the winners are and cheer their favorites on. Tractor classes consist of: Farm Stock No Modifications, Improved and Modified. Pickup categories are 4x4 & 2x4 Stock, Heavyweight/Diesel and Modified.

An ATV and Lawnmower pull will again be provided by Marvin Varner of Terry, MT. Classes will include ATV's under 500cc, 500 to 700, over 700, steering wheel class, along with lawnmowers.

Weigh-in for participants begin at 3:00 pm. Registration fees are $25 and will be added to the purse to be awarded to our top finishers.

The grandstand gate will open at 5:00 pm with the pull beginning at 6:00 pm. A beer garden and concessions are available on the grounds. Call 406-433-1916 for more information.
