Rob Quist Campaigns in Glendive May 18

By Joshua Smallwood

Democratic nominee for US House of Representatives Rob Quist gave a speech in Glendive at the Makoshika Park Visitors Center on Thursday, May 18th. The speech was a part of the Hands Off Our Health Care Tour, a Quist effort that on the same day went to the Wolf Point Community Center at and Loaded Toad Coffee in Glasgow.

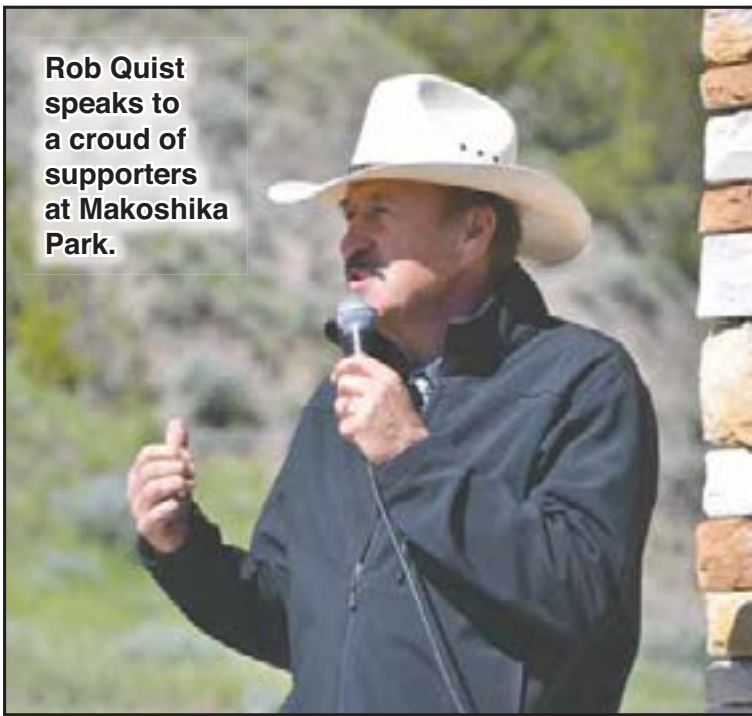

While not limited to health care, as Quist took opportunities to reiterate his platform and address statements made by his opponent, Republican nominee Greg Gianforte, the state of health care in the nation was at the forefront. Quist however first began by telling an anecdotal story from his high school days in Glendive. "Glendive will always be one of my favorite cities," said Quist after telling the story. He then began to address some of the issues he has been facing down in the election. "People ask me, 'why in the world would you want to get into the down and dirty world of politics?' And I'm just finding out how down and dirty it is."

Quist then went on addressing some of his opponent's points. "Our public lands are really under threat. I feel this is a fight for the soul of Montana... when people like Gianforte see our public lands, they probably think, 'well, that would be good to own, and to fence in, and develop.' But real Montanans would say, 'This is our way of life.'" Quist maintained that the issue of public lands was one with future consequences, "The transfer and eventual sale of our public lands is nothing more than theft against our children," said Quist.

Quist reached the main point of his speech when he addressed the Affordable Care Act (ACA). "There are definite problems with the ACA," said Quist, "but we can't just repeal it and have everybody not covered. I think one of the things we could do would be to lower the cost of pharmaceutical drugs."

The pharmaceutical industry was an important point in Quist's speech, and about his opponent Gianforte in relation to pharmaceutical companies, Quist said, "My opponent has two and a half million dollars of stock in these same companies that are gouging the people of America." Offering solutions to the problem of high-cost prescription drugs, Quist said, "Another way to lower the cost of prescription drugs is reimportation from Canada. If these drugs are good enough for the people of Canada, they are definitely good enough for the people of the United States."

Returning to his opponent, Quist said, "He's brought out Vice President Pence and Trump, Jr., so to me this just makes me realize how worried they are because we have momentum on our side. We started twenty points down and we closed at the single digits here about two and a half weeks ago." Referencing Gianforte's failed bid for governor in 2016, Quist said, "He failed in the last governor's election and now he wants this one - the U.S. House of Congress will not be his consolation prize."

Taking questions from the crowd, he answered one question about his views on gun rights. "Being raised in a ranching and farming community, gun safety is something that you grow up with. Quite frankly, I've got a number of guns that are older than the amount of years Mr. Gianforte has been in Montana. He talks about how I want a national gun registry - that's patently false."

Closing his speech, he gave one last admonition to his supporters. "I just want to encourage you to talk to your friends and neighbors and really make them understand how important this election is. This is a fight for the soul of Montana. I know if we stand together we cannot be denied."

Ribfest 2017 Set For Aug. 11 in Watford City

Little Texas

One of the biggest events in Western North Dakota takes place on Main Street Watford City. The Best of the West Ribfest, Street Fair and Classic Car show is set for August 11, 2017 and it just keeps getting bigger and better than ever with three-time Grammy nominated country act, Little Texas headlining the free concert on Main Street.

The event kicks off with a fundraising breakfast for the local Boy Scouts served on Main Street from 8-10 am. The Street Fair opens at 10 am with lunch being served at 11 and rib teams cooking up ribs on the street all day, serving them to the public at 5 pm.

And as always, the Best of the West Ribfest, Street Fair and Classic Car Show is free and open to the public, with live music and fun throughout the day, but back again this year is the option for guests to purchase a VIP Ticket where they can enjoy drinks and ribs under the shade of a tent and also score the best seats in the house for the evening concert. Minneapolis based Johnny Cash Tribute Band, Church of Cash, will be opening for Little Texas.

"Ribfest is one of the most anticipated events of the year," said Mary Gumpke with the Watford City Chamber. "We want to make sure everyone has the date on their calendars and makes plans to participate, whether as a guest, VIP, sponsor or rib competitor. We can't wait to see you on Main Street in August!"

As the event grows bigger and gains more state-wide attention each year, team spaces and vendor slots fill up quickly. Teams that register on or before June 1st will receive a discount, so get your team signed up today at www.watfordcityribfest.net.

Maah Daah Hey Trail Offers Mud Run June 10th

By Stephanie Ler

The Bull Moose Mudder will be held on Saturday, June 10th, beginning at the Medora Family Fun Center at the entrance to the Medora Campground.

The Mudder's organizers, the Save the Maah Daah Hey Trail non-profit in conjunction with the Teddy Roosevelt Medora Foundation, have taken advantage of the natural challenge of the North Dakota Badlands to set up a 3-mile loop course inspired by Theodore Roosevelt's daily trek.

Roosevelt called his treks "point-to-points", jaunts he had to complete each day to finish his chores. This included crossing the Little Missouri River thirteen times a day, carrying and dragging heavy objects, and climbing up and over hills. As in Roosevelt's daily routine, the Bull Moose Mudder includes multiple creek and river crossings with water up to waist deep, and natural obstacles like fallen logs and tall grass. Akin to carrying game animals Roosevelt hunted for food, participants will lift and carry sand bags across an open meadow. The mudder takes participants up a natural butte, down the other side, and through a tunnel to complete the race with a man-made obstacle course. Teddy Roosevelt himself will be completing the race as well.

The mudder will begin at 1pm Mountain time with a shotgun start by Mrs. Medora on horseback, at the Medora Family Fun Center at the entrance to the Medora Campground. Racers may opt to compete in teams or alone and may choose between one fun lap, a competitive lap, or as many competitive laps as possible in three hours.

Following the award ceremony, a Kid's Fun Run will kick off, where kids of all ages with their parents can get muddy and complete events at the Family Fun Center.

Registration for the events is required by June 9th. To register, visit <http://www.experienceland.org/bull-moose-mudder>. MNAXLP

Sherry and Janae's Annual Softball Tournament to be held June 17th

By Stephanie Ler

The 6th softball tournament to honor the lives of Sherry Arnold and Janae Moore will be held on Saturday, June 17th, at the South Meadow Softball Complex in Sidney.

The first tournament was held in 2011 to celebrate the life of Sherry Arnold, a long-time softball player and coach. In 2014, the name of the tournament was changed to include Janae Moore, a young Sidney resident and avid softball player.

The tournament is open to teams of all ages and abilities, and includes co-ed teams of families, friends and businesses. "Janae's classmates always have a team," her mother Terri said. "It's nice to see their faces. It's a really nice memorial".

Raffle prizes are given throughout the day, and concessions will be available. A $100 entry fee per team is required, with $50 due at sign-up. Registration for two teams is offered at $150.

Proceeds from the tournament are returned to the community in the name of Arnold and Moore. Previous funds have been used to purchase a scoreboard for the softball complex bearing Sherry's and Janae's names, and sponsorship for a local baseball team.

To donate to the tournament or to sign up your team, contact coordinator Tammy Pedersen at 406-489-0451 or sherrystournament@hotmail.com

Supreme Governor Griswold To Visit Sidney Moose Lodge

Franz R. "Fritz" Griswold, Supreme Governor of the Loyal Order of Moose, will speak at Sidney Moose Lodge No. 856, 101 3rd St. SE, at 5 p.m., Tuesday, June 6 as part of his travels across the state of Montana. For more information about the event contact the Moose Lodge office at 406-433-3017.

Griswold rose from the post of Supreme Jr. Governor to become the Moose Fraternity's Chief Presiding Officer on July 5, elected by vote of Supreme Lodge delegates to a one-year term as Supreme Governor at the organization's 128th International Convention in St. Louis, MO.

The Moose organization, headquartered at Mooseheart, IL, consists of nearly one million men and women in approximately 1,600 lodges and 1,400 chapters throughout the U.S., Canada, Great Britain and Bermuda.

The organization owns and operates Mooseheart, a 1,000-acre community and school for youngsters in need, located 40 miles west of Chicago; and Moosehaven, a 75-acre retirement community near Jacksonville, FL. Additionally, Moose lodges and chapters conduct more than $90 million worth of community service annually (counting monetary donations, miles driven and volunteer hours worked).

Such community service can be tailored to local needs, but also takes the form of organization wide programs. One of these programs includes Tommy Moose, where lodges and chapters have provided nearly 200,000 plush Moose figures since 2003, free of charge to emergency workers and hospitals to give to children in stressful situations. Also, The Moose Youth Awareness Program annually brings together hundreds of bright teenagers for Youth Congresses to discuss the most effective ways to conduct "KidsTalks," communicating positive life choice messages to very young children, ages 4-9. Moose-trained teens have given KidsTalks to more than 700,000 youngsters across North America since 1990.

Savage Public School Holds Day of Writing

Savage music teacher Jamie Becker teaches improvisation to students.

By Joshua Smallwood

Savage Public School held its first ever Writing Carnival on May 17th. The carnival, an all-day K-12 event, is intended to open up all avenues of writing for students and to share their work with peers. The carnival began at the beginning of the school day, where students were divided into groups and given their first task.

From there, the individual groups traveled around Savage to five different writing stations, including the Fire House and the Museum, where they were given writing prompts. Fifteen minutes was what each group had to learn about their particular station and start to come up with what they were going to write. At 10:00, the students returned to the gym where they could share what they had written at the microphone.

After sharing what they had written, the students were then informed what the day would hold in store for them, including a ticketing system where the students would receive tickets for their work, and at the end of the day cash the tickets in for prizes.

Among the classroom activities where improv exercises provided by Ms. Becker, CSI History Investigation with Miss Henwood, Mad Libs with Mr. Hoffman and math relays with Mr. Stonehocker.

At the end of the day, the students returned to their respective classrooms in order to create time capsules which they will open upon graduation. Their last writing assignment at the end of the day was to write letters or provide photos for their future self.

Early-Season Fungicide Application For Wheat

By Danielle Steinhoff

A common agronomic practice that will be considered in the upcoming weeks is tank mixing a fungicide with a herbicide. Here are a couple reminders when making the decision on an early season (tillering) fungicide in wheat.

Diseases Being Targeted

An early-season fungicide is geared at managing residue-borne diseases. The pathogens responsible for these diseases are able to overwinter on host residue and can start an epidemic under conducive environmental conditions in the spring. The most common residue-borne diseases for wheat include tan spot, Septoria, and Stagonospora. Often times, more than one disease can be found on a leaf and is referred to as a leaf disease complex. For more information on fungal leaf spot diseases of wheat please reference Extension Publication PP1249.

The Decision to Spray

When scouting tillering wheat fields, an early season fungicide is likely recommended if fungal leaf spots are already found on the oldest leaf tissue. Another way to assess the value of an early-season fungicide application is to assess disease risk. The greatest amount of disease risk occurs when a susceptible variety is grown in a wheat on wheat production system, with minimal tillage and favorable conditions for disease development. Favorable conditions for fungal leaf spots are cool temperatures and prolonged periods of leaf wetness including rain and dew. NDSU routinely conducts fungicide-timing studies for management of fungal leaf spots in wheat. As a quick summary of 59 replicated fungicide trials from 2008-2015, trials were categorized into the three disease risks (low, moderate and high) based on environmental conditions and production practices. Based on this data set, when compared to a non-treated control, the mean positive yield response for an early-season fungicide was 0.1%, 3% and 4% for low, moderate and high disease environments, respectively. Although a robust statistical analysis has not been conducted on this data set, the general rule of thumb is that the likelihood of a positive yield response from an early-season fungicide will increase as disease risk increases.

Fungicide Efficacy and Expectations

There are several fungicides labeled that have efficacy on all three residue-borne leaf spot diseases. For more information, please consult the 2017 Fungicide Guide or use the NCERA-184 fungicide efficacy table. Fungicides are best used in a preventative manner and will only protect available leaf tissue at time of application. Also, it is important to remember the movement of a systemic fungicide should not be compared to the movement of a systemic herbicide. Most systemic fungicides are locally systemic (moves short distance from droplet), translaminar (moves from top side of leaf to the underside), or moves upward with xylem to a leaf tip. Therefore, as the wheat crop progresses and new leaves emerge, continue to scout fields to track disease development and progression.

The above information is from the May 18, 2017 Crop and Pest Report. Written by NDSU Extension Service Plant Pathologist, Dr. Andrew Friskop.

The MonDak Heritage Center has a little slice of the past created on the lower level of the building, giving visitors a peek at what life was like in the area way back when.

The newest exhibit at the MonDak Heritage Center is the extensive Roger Johnson Family Western Antique Gun Collection.

By Jordan Hall

The MonDak Heritage Center will soon be celebrating its 50th birthday. Originating as the Mondak Historical and Arts Society in 1967, the society started its first museum, the J.K. Ralston Museum and Art Center in 1972, named after famous artist and Richland County resident, J.K. Ralston. In 1984 the society moved to its current location and became the MonDak Heritage Center.

Located at 120 3rd Avenue in Sidney, the building hosts several art galleries, two libraries, and a gift shop. It is at this facility that the birthday celebration will take place.

The director for the Mondak Heritage Center, Dan Karalus, told the Roundup, "On Friday, May 26, we are having our fiftieth birthday party. It marks 50 years to the day it officially became nonprofit and officially organized."

The museum will be celebrating its birthday with an open house, free treats, opportunities to make crafts, and more. Local businesses have helped to make it a special day for the center, and the public is invited to join in the festivities.

Dan Karalus, a native of St. Paul, Minnesota, has served as director since January. At the time of publication, Dan was back in Minnesota, preparing to move his wife and two sons to the Sidney area, after having waited for the school year to end there before bringing them to the MonDak region .

Karalus spoke of the upcoming event, "What makes the MonDak unique from my perspective, is that it came out of community. The people came together and wanted to preserve the history of Sidney and Richland County, while sharing it with the public."

The MonDak Heritage Center offers a myriad of services to the local area including assistance for genealogical research, an art history library and local history library, art classes for both adults and children, museum tours, poetry and book readings, art displays and musical events, as well as traveling exhibitions associated with the Smithsonian Museum. Some of these items will be highlighted for the public on May 26.

According to Karalus, "[The Mondak Heritage Center] is going to have an open house, with hours extended from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. We are inviting people in to check out photographs and history relating to the MonDak. We will also be serving free cake, thanks to Reynold's Market, which is kind enough to provide it. There will be activities for people to create their own birthday hats. There will be other birthday refreshments as well."

In June, another exciting event called "Burger, Blues and Brew" is coming to the Mondak Heritage Center. Local businesses sponsoring the event include, but are not limited to Meadowlark Brewing Company, Reynolds Market, Beagle Properties, Candlewood Inn and Suites, Wheat Montana and Reese and Ray's IGA. This third annual event will feature blues musicians from Montana, along with grilled burgers and locally crafted beer.

Vogt is a very experienced and highly reputable clinician/horse trainer. Vogt has won 15 World Champion Reining and Working Cow Horse titles, as well as numerous other championships. He has done many lectures in the United States, Canada, Australia, and western Europe. Both professional and amateur students are encouraged to attend his clinics. Every clinic is tailored for the participants by involving lectures, show simulations, demonstrations, and practice drills.

If you plan on attending check in with the McKenzie County Extension Office; admission is free to 4-H members. Participants will meet at the office at 1:00 pm, and then ride together to the arena for a 2-hour field trip.

McKenzie County Fairgrounds located in Watford City will be hosting a 4-H Horse Show on Tuesday, June 13 starting at 9:00 a.m. The Horse Show welcomes all 4-Hers from McKenzie, Williams, Divide, Mountrail, Dunn, Golden Valley, Stark-Billings and Richland counties. There will be both timed and performance events such as halter showmanship, western horsemanship, trail, reining, western riding, pole bending, barrel racing, goat tying, ranch horse, western pleasure, and a 2-5-year-old horse class.

4-H members planning to participate in the event must complete entry forms and hand them into the McKenzie County Extension Office before June 6th. There will be a 4-H Horse Show practice event guided by Vawnita Best. The practice will be held at the Fairgrounds on June 4th and 11th and will explain patterns as well as showmanship and horsemanship techniques. Participants will also have the opportunity to advance to the North Dakota State Fair Horse Show if they qualify.

Also featured at the McKenzie County Fairgrounds is a Livestock Showmanship Day on Wednesday, June 21st at 12:45 p.m. This event provides opportunities for 4-H members no matter what skill level. It entails hands-on learning with live animals to demonstrate proper showmanship, grooming/fitting skills, and informational facts on numerous animal techniques. If interested, preregistration is required. Everyone is welcome to attend and add to their knowledge of showmanship skills. For additional information about the events please call the McKenzie County Extension Office at (701) 444-3451.

Foundation For Community Care Awards $273,140.39

Community Support Benefits Local Healthcare

The Foundation for Community Care, a non-profit, Richland County organization focused on ensuring the continuance and quality of local healthcare services in northeastern Montana, announced its 2017 Healthcare Endowment Grants today.

In 1983, the Foundation for Community Care was organized to prepare for the future of healthcare in Richland County and surrounding areas. While rural hospitals across the nation were closing their doors, local residents felt fortunate to have excellent quality healthcare services and wanted to help keep it that way. An endowment fund was established, and each year, some of the earnings from the endowment fund are distributed for local healthcare needs.

"It is extremely rewarding to be a part of this organization," Jeff Aisenbrey, Chairperson of the Foundation's volunteer Board of Directors said. "Because of the generosity of our donors, we are able to award more than $273,000 in grants to a variety of important projects in the area." Aisenbrey added.

"I am continually encouraged by how much support exists for our local healthcare services," said Gina Heckey, Foundation Senior Executive. "The only way we can keep quality care close to home, is by investing back into our own community." Heckey added. "Our donors have a clear vision of what they want, and we are able to deliver on that year after year."

The 2017 Foundation Healthcare Endowment Grants were awarded with the intent of enhancing the medical and healthcare services in the region. The funds will purchase new medical equipment, provide educational materials and support efforts to improve overall community wellness.
