Sidney Native Begins Coyote Wrestling Season with High Expectations

Chuck Rossol

By Tie Shank

1994 Eagles graduate, Chuck Rossol, begins his first season as head coach for the Williston Coyote wrestling team with high expectations of bringing home hardware. Rossol wrestled for Eagles coach, Guy Melby, until he graduated in 1994 and then wrestled as a walk on for South Dakota State University.

He admits he's been put in charge of a dedicated and very talented group of young men that are "Poised to make a pretty good run at the State Finals," which are scheduled to take place in Fargo, February 14th – February 16th.

Williston has approximately 35 young men wrestling varsity & junior varsity this year, with the majority of them being seniors and freshman. Rossol is anticipating many of the seniors to "Have the year of their lives on the mat, including a strong possibility for several champions." Rossol proudly comments, "They've been working hard all summer and every one of them is very eager to hit the mats."

The juniors and sophomores are the two smallest groups, but there is a lot of toughness in the two and a few of these wrestlers have some quality varsity experience. Rossol expects a couple of these hard workers to earn their way near the top of the stand this year.

The freshmen make up the second largest group. They're tough, hungry and putting in as much time on the mats and in the weight room as their dedicated predecessors.

Rossol gives one of his wrestlers instructions at the Eagle Wrestling Tournament in Sidney on Saturday.

With several teams out there having the same goals in mind as Rossol's Coyotes, he remains optimistic and has great expectations for his team. "These young men have worked very hard to be where they are and to achieve their goals. I think they will continue to work and continue to improve, and will win some very big matches this year. I look forward to helping them realize their goals."

McKenzie Co. to Celebrate 60th Year in the Oil Industry

Submitted by Jessie Scofield

McKenzie County, the all time leading North Dakota oil-producing county in the state, is celebrating its 60th year in the oil industry this year and the McKenzie County Pioneer Museum and Job Development Authority is commemorating this exciting event by hosting the Best of the Bakken Open House and Celebration on Thursday, December 13th at the Pioneer Museum of McKenzie County.

Festivities will include an all day open house with refreshments, films and photographs of McKenzie County's oil history as well as the dedication of the McKenzie County Oil Exhibit at 5:30 pm.

The oil exhibit features a to-scale replica of a drilling rig and work over rig against a beautiful western North Dakota backdrop. It also includes an interactive video component and two exact replicas of drilling bits used in the process. The exhibit has been open to the public for a few months and this celebration is meant to celbrate its success and invite the community to take a look. "Thanks to the generous donations from individuals and businesses we are able to have this unique and important display available to celebrate our 60th anniversary of oil in this county," said Jessie Scofield, Special Projects Coordinator for McKenzie County. "With increased requests for drilling rig tours this display is the perfect way to bring the industry to the public and help educate them on the industry that is bustling around us." Wine and hors d'oeuvres will be served from 5:30 to 7:00 pm. Everyone is welcome to attend.

For more information or to sponsor the display, please contact: Jessie Scofield, Special Projects Coordinator for McKenzie County at 701-770-8659 or jessieveeder@gmail.com.

Lambert Hi-Liters

The Lambert Hi-Liters had their first meeting of the 4-H year on November 18, 2012 at 2:00 pm at the Fox Lake Senior Center in Lambert.

In old business we discussed: the state horse show; Fall Ambassador training; beef and cheese sales.

In new business we had a report from the leader's and livestock meetings. We drew names for our Christmas gift exchange and discussed plans for our Christmas party. We will watch part of the PBS 4-H documentary as well as play board games. We set our meetings for the second Sunday of the month at 2 pm.

Elected officers: President, John Helmuth; Vice President, Kelvin Hill; Secretary, Autumn Rehbein; Treasurer, Zach Sommerfeld; Historian, Rain Rehbein; Reporter, Sarah Helmuth; Flag Charger, Courtney Herman; Random Fact Reporter, Alyssa Hill

The next meeting is December 9th, 2012 at 2 pm at Fox Lake Senior Center.

Karen Ann (Bolken) Swenson, 56, Williston, ND

Karen Swenson

Karen Ann (Bolken) Swenson, 56, resident of Williston, North Dakota, died November 24, 2012, with her family by her side at Trinity Medical Center in Minot, North Dakota.

She was born June 7, 1956, at Good Samaritan Hospital in Williston, ND to Hillmar and Elvera (Anderson) Bolken. She was one of six children and was raised on the family farm outside of Alexander, North Dakota. She graduated from Alexander High School in 1974. Karen met the love of her life, Kurt Swenson, and was blessed with five children.

Karen worked for 30+ years in the print industry, including Basin Printers, The Roundup, Sidney Herald, Williston Herald, and most recently, Ink Spot Printing.

She was dedicated to her work career, and had a hard work ethic. Karen loved to spend time with her family, especially her grandchildren. Her interests included gardening, sewing, reading, and riding bicycle. She devoted much of her time and energy as a caregiver to family members, including caring for her mother who passed away two years ago at 89.

Karen is survived by her husband, Kurt Swenson, Williston; daughter, Kassie Swenson (Steve Leonard), Spokane, WA; 4 sons; Wade (Kate Eckel) Swenson, Minneapolis, MN; Jeremy Swenson, Geoff Swenson (Kristan Hiltzley), and Chad Swenson, Williston, ND; sister, Linda (Russ) Wells, Cape Coral, FL; 4 brothers, Robert (Bob) Bolken, Gillette,

Public Asked to Nominate Exceptional Volunteers; Annual Awards Recognize Volunteer Service in Montana

Submitted by Julia Gustafson

The Governor's Office of Community Service and the Montana Commission on Community Service are accepting nominations for the 2013 ServeMontana Awards and ReadyMontana Awards. Presented in February, these annual awards recognize outstanding Montana individuals, organizations and national service members committed to community and volunteer service. "Montanans truly are making a difference in their hometowns by volunteering their time and skills," said Kim Miske, Chair of the Montana Commission on Community Service. "We ask the public to share their stories and help us recognize these inspiring volunteers."

The ServeMontana Awards are for service and volunteer work in the areas of education, healthy futures, environmental stewardship, veterans & military families, and economic opportunity.

The ReadyMontana Awards are for service specifically related to disaster services, emergency preparedness and emergency response.

The nomination form is available to download at serve.mt.gov.

All nominations for the 2013 awards must be to the Governor's Office of Community Service by December 18, 2012.

The Montana Commission on Community Service will present the awards during the fourth annual ServeMontana Symposium on February 28, 2013 in Helena. There will be more than one award presented in each category.

The public is encouraged to nominate individuals of all ages and backgrounds, organizations, and groups. All services must be performed in Montana and individual nominees may not be salaried for the services performed.

The Governor-appointed Montana Commission on Community Service was created in 1993 to renew the ethic of civic responsibility in the state and to encourage citizens, regardless of age and income, to engage in service.

The Governor's Office of Community Service expands and promotes national service and volunteerism in Montana and engages citizens in service and emergency preparedness.

Tony and Tiffani Anderson and family would like to thank each and every one who has supported us during the loss of our two special children – now angels- Carlie and Ty. Words cannot express the humble gratitude that we have endured in the past months. There is something to be said about being from and raised in small communities as the love, comfort, support, and abundance of heartfelt sympathy has aided in the ability to get through each and every minute, hour, and day. We cannot thank you enough for the prayers, warm thoughts, and numerous beautiful flowers/plants that adorned the services, memorials, food, phone calls, and the out-pouring words of comfort we have received. Your thoughtfulness has meant more than words can say and has brought many tears to our eyes. As the holidays approach us, we are grateful yet mourning for the many memories that we have of our Carlie and Ty. The kind words from near and far and from those we don't even know has touched our family and we wish that we could thank each and every one of you personally! We are honored to know how many lives that these two special people touched in their short time on this Earth.

Symposium for Montana/Wyoming Barley and Sugarbeet Growers Set for Jan. 9 & 10

By MSU News Service

The 2013 Montana/Wyoming Sugar Beet Symposium will be held in Billings at the Big Horn Resort on Wednesday and Thursday, January 9-10, 2013.

The symposium will feature top experts from Montana State University, University of Wyoming, North Dakota State University and Kansas State University, the federal Agricultural Research Service (from Sidney and Kimberly, Idaho stations), as well as from private industry. There will also be a trade show with exhibits by many agricultural input suppliers.

Wednesday's program will focus on malt barley production, irrigation, grain storage, and corn genetics for dry-land and irrigated growers, pulse crops and crop protection (including managing weed, disease and insect pests of corn, dry beans, and wheat grown in rotation with sugarbeets and barley).

There will be presentations by faculty from Montana State University, University of Wyoming, Pioneer Hi-Bred, North Dakota State University and Kansas State University. Meteorologist John Pulaski will present a 2013 weather outlook.

On Wednesday there will be a sponsored soup and sandwich lunch at noon.

On Thursday, following a 6:30 a.m. breakfast sponsored by the Billings Chamber of Commerce, presentations will focus on sugarbeet production, including fertility, irrigation, new genetics, new equipment, plus insect, weed and disease management.

Ruthann Geib, vice president of the American Sugarbeet Growers Association will present a Washington update, as well as updates on the use of Roundup-ready sugarbeets and other issues affecting the future of the sugarbeet industry.

There will be a forum on control of rhizoctonia crown and root rot and a presentation by Carl Strausbaugh on effects of virus diseases on sugarbeet storage.

The full agenda and registration information are available at <http://ipm.montana.edu>. Pre-registration is $20 per day. Registration at the door is $25 per day. The 2013 symposium was developed by representatives from Sidney Sugars, Western Sugar, Wyoming Sugar, as well as MSU and others.

Be Cautious of Early Ice

Submitted by ND FWP
Winter anglers are encouraged to consider early ice conditions before traveling onto and across North Dakota lakes.
Keep in mind:
Snow insulates ice, hampering solid ice formation, and makes it difficult to check thickness. Snow also hides the blemishes, such as cracked, weak and open water areas.
Avoid cracks, pressure ridges, slushy or darker areas that signal thinner ice.

The same goes for ice that forms around partially submerged trees, brush, embankments or other structures.
Ice thickness is not consistent and can vary significantly even in a small area. Ice shouldn't be judged by appearance alone. Anglers should drill test holes as they make their way out on the lake, and an ice chisel should be used to check ice thickness while moving around.

Daily temperature changes cause ice to expand and contract, affecting its strength.
The following minimums are recommended for travel on clear-blue lake ice formed under ideal conditions. However, early in the winter it's a good idea to double these figures to be safe: 4 inches for a group walking single file; 6 inches for a snowmobile or all-terrain vehicle; 8-12 inches for an automobile; and 12-15 inches for a pickup/truck.
These tips could help save a life:
Wear a personal flotation device and carry a cell phone.
Carry ice picks or a set of screwdrivers to pull yourself back on the ice if you fall through.
If someone breaks through the ice, call 911 immediately. Rescue attempts should employ a long pole, board, rope, blanket or snowmobile suit. If that's not possible, throw the victim a life jacket, empty water jug or other buoyant object. Go to the victim as a last resort, but do this by forming a human chain where rescuers lie on the ice with each person holding the feet of the person in front.
To treat hypothermia, replace wet clothing with dry clothing and immediately transport victim to a hospital.

North Dakota Winter Fishing Regulations

North Dakota anglers are encouraged to refer to the 2012-14 North Dakota Fishing Guide or the State Game and Fish Department's website for winter fishing regulations.

In addition, anglers can access the Game and Fish website, gf.nd.gov, for an extensive list of fishing questions and answers, and a winter fishing preview from North Dakota Outdoors magazine.

Some winter fishing regulations include:

A maximum of four poles is legal for ice fishing. However, when fishing a water body where both open water and ice occur at the same time, an angler is allowed a maximum of four poles, of which no more than two poles can be used in open water.

Tip-ups are legal, and each tip-up is considered a single pole.

There is no restriction on the size of the hole in the ice while fishing. When a hole larger than 10 inches in diameter is left in the ice, the area in the immediate vicinity must be marked with a natural object. See regulations for more information..

It is only legal to release fish back into the water immediately after they are caught. Once a fish is held in a bucket or on a stringer, they can no longer be legally released in any water.

It is illegal to catch fish and transport them in water.

It is illegal to leave fish, including bait, behind on the ice.

Depositing or leaving any litter or other waste material on the ice or shore is illegal.

Any dressed fish to be transported, if frozen, must be packaged individually. Anglers are not allowed to freeze fillets together in one large block. Two fillets count as one fish.

The daily limit is a limit of fish taken from midnight to midnight, and no person may possess more than one day's limit of fish while actively engaged in fishing. The possession limit is the maximum number of fish that an angler may have in his or her possession during a fishing trip of more than one day.

DPHHS Diabetes Project Promotes Healthy Lifestyle Changes To Prevent Type 2 Diabetes

Submitted by Jon Ebelt
Diabetes affects nearly 26 million Americans and an estimated 79 million adults are at risk for developing the disease. In Montana, diabetes affects more than 62,000 adults. It is estimated that 270,000 adult Montanans have pre-diabetes, which is a risk factor for type 2 diabetes. Type 2 diabetes can be prevented or onset delayed by lifestyle changes.

The Montana Diabetes Project and National Diabetes Education Program (NDEP) are Changing the Way Diabetes is Treated by working together to help people better understand how to make the necessary changes in their day-to-day life in order to prevent type 2 diabetes or manage their diabetes to prevent complications, and live healthier lives.

figuring out how to do it and fitting it into your daily routine can be a big challenge," said Anna Whiting Sorrell, Director of the Montana Department of Public Health and Human Services. "That's why it's important to set goals and make a plan to prevent type 2 diabetes or manage diabetes to prevent complications."

The Montana Diabetes Project is working with diabetes educators and the NDEP to help people make a change to live well by bringing behavior change tools to the community to help people better understand how to make healthy changes in their day-to-day life.

So how do Montanans get started making these healthy changes? According to Sarah Brokaw of the Montana Diabetes Project, it's about choosing a goal and working toward it. The NDEP's "Make a Plan" is a great tool that can help and is available at www.diabetes.mt.gov

"Once a plan is in place, the NDEP provides a number of tools to help people reach their goals," Brokaw said. "Whether it's to eat healthier, be more active, lose weight, or cope better with stress and emotions, the NDEP offers tools and resources to help."

For more personalized assistance, Brokaw states Montana diabetes educators can also help tailor specific plans. Local diabetes educators can be reached by contacting local hospitals or online at www.diabetes.mt.gov.

For those at risk for type 2 diabetes, the Montana Cardiovascular Disease and Diabetes Prevention Program is a 10-month program available at 15 sites across Montana and at several telehealth sites in southeast Montana. This evidence-based program has been shown to reduce the risk of diabetes by 58 percent and improve lives through simple lifestyle changes.

Farm Credit Groups Award Inaugural Rural Community Grants $266,984 for 11 Projects to Support Western North Dakota Communities

Submitted by AgriBank, Farm Credit Services of Mandan and Farm Credit Services of North Dakota St. Paul, MN

Today three Farm Credit organizations announced more than a quarter of a million dollars in grants for projects that support Western North Dakota communities.

St. Paul based AgriBank joined Farm Credit Services of Mandan and Farm Credit Services of North Dakota in announcing the first ever awards made under the Rural Community Grant Fund. The organizations started the fund to support infrastructure and development projects that benefit communities in Western North Dakota. Eleven grants totaling $266,984 were awarded to worthy community projects, focused on supporting those cities and towns that have been impacted by oil and mineral exploration and production.

“Farm Credit’s mission is to meet the needs of rural America,” said Bill York, CEO of AgriBank. “We are proud to work with the North Dakota associations to support these critical efforts in local communities in a way that carries out that mission.”

“It was great to see the large number of requests for our first funding review. I feel good about how these 11 projects met the grant fund objectives,” said Mike O’Keeffe, CEO of Farm Credit Services of Mandan. “Our first review was a rewarding experience for our association. I look forward to distributing the funds and assessing our next set of grant requests.”

“We are pleased to provide these grant funds to communities in western North Dakota that have been significantly impacted by oil exploration. AgriBank and Farm Credit Services pride themselves on being part of the rural community,” said Claude Sem, CEO of Farm Credit Services of North Dakota.

Awarded recipients include the following:

- St. Andrew’s Health Center: $25,000 to install an automated security system for the health center in Bottineau, ND.
- Southwest Healthcare Services: $25,000 towards the purchase of two new stretchers for the emergency department in Bowman, ND.
- Halliday Rural Fire Protection District: $7,050 to replace and upgrade fire equipment including a new foam system, water pumps and motor.

Guest Opinion:

God, Led By The Word, Confessing Christ To The World

Submitted by
Pastor Jay Reinke
Concordia Lutheran Church, Williston
One of my “claims to fame” in life is that I once saw Mother Teresa in person.

I had recently graduated from Concordia Seminary in St. Louis, and read on a church bulletin board that Mother Teresa was to be the featured speaker that very afternoon at a pro-life convention being held in downtown St. Louis.

I jumped in my car and drove to the convention site. I arrived late, so I didn't hear Mother Teresa's entire speech. However, when I saw and heard her, I was startled by two things. First, Mother Teresa was an extremely small woman. She was very, very short. Second, she spoke very gently and very deliberately. She had a notable, though a pleasant accent. What amazed me was that her message, spoken so humbly and so slowly, was so powerful. Her simple words and demeanor overpowered the crowded convention center. We were reminded again of a truth. The only Christian thing to do, the only human thing to do, was to welcome and to treasure the weakest and most dependent lives among us, the unborn.

Recently, an atheist group at one of America's prestigious Ivy League schools, Dartmouth College, hosted a public debate. The group announced that it would consider why “one of the most beloved people of the century, Mother Teresa, is [in the words of the famed atheist, Christopher Hitchens] ‘a lying, thieving Albanian dwarf.’”

The atheist students asserted that the public has been “conned into thinking this woman was good,” and stated that she “was not a friend of the poor,” but “was a friend of poverty.”

These students' provocative statements could be cited as yet more evidence that our society is pursuing a trend of mocking anything that has traditionally been held in respect, especially if it is a person or an idea that has any connection to Christianity. (Imagine, for a moment, how likely the atheist group would have been to suggest, or what the public reaction likely would have been had the group stated publicly, that the prophet Mohammed was “a lying, thieving Arab.”)

But I digress. My primary point in sharing the actions of that student group is not to point out that Christians and the things we hold dear are considered fair game in today's public square. My point is to remind you that there is no Christian man or woman that can escape others' ability to doubt or to denounce them.

Because of that, this is the challenge I would lay in front of you today. Forget the Christians you have known. Some of those Christians (like a Mother Teresa) you may hold in very high regard. If that is the case, I am grateful. There may be others who claim to be Christian whom you hold in utter disdain, as idiots, scoundrels, or hypocrites. If that is the case, let me offer my regrets. (There are many, I can tell you, who believe those words describe me.)

But forget the Christians you've known. Forget the laity, forget the pastors who have served you poorly or who have served you well. Forget me. Instead, consider Jesus. Don't consider Him on the basis of those who confess Him, even if they are like Mother Teresa. Like her, they can be doubted or dismissed. Consider Jesus on the basis of His own claims about Himself.

Consider Jesus on the basis of His promises. Regarding His exclusive nature to be the access to heaven, consider Jesus' claim, “I am the way, and the truth, and the life; No one comes to the Father, but by me.” Consider Jesus' claim to be and to do what no man can possibly be or do: “I am the Good Shepherd. I lay down my life for the sheep. I give eternal life to them, and they shall never perish. And no one shall snatch them out of my hand.” Consider Jesus on the basis of His promise to you: “Lo, I am with you always.” Consider Jesus on the basis of what He said on the cross about the guilt that separates you from God: “Father, forgive them,” and “It is finished.”

Take your eyes off the Christians you know. Even if you respect them, others will find reasons to denounce them. If there are Christians whom you don't respect, who have turned you away from the Christian faith, don't let their error or weakness keep you from getting in the ring and wrestling with the One who claimed to fulfill all of God's promises for you, Jesus.

But be warned. When you take your eyes off of Christians and place them on Jesus, when you wrestle with the claims and promises that Jesus makes, those claims and promises may just break you. If they do, as was the case for Mother Teresa, nothing will ever again be the same.

SHS Speech & Drama Competes in Hardin

The Sidney High School Speech and Drama Team headed to Hardin in the wee hours of Saturday morning. Competing against 12 schools, including all of the Class A Schools from the Eastern A Division, the Speech Team finished 3rd in Speech Sweeps and The Drama Team finished 4th in Sweeps. Senior Kalen Hance brought home the 1st place win in Extemp(Speech) proving that he is a force to be reckoned with. This was Kalen's third meet of the season and his third time finishing in 1st place. The team is heading to Shepard next weekend.

Montana's Missouri River Country Cooperative Marketing Funds

Submitted by Carla Hunsley

For FY 12/13 Missouri River Country budgeted $7,000 in Cooperative Marketing, which is designed to allow Missouri River Country to promote an area or event on a cooperative basis with a nonprofit tourism-related organization. The intent of this program is to encourage the development of new or expanded marketing projects outside the local community, thereby increasing the tourism travel to the region and extending the traveler's stay in Missouri River Country.

The cooperative marketing funds are a 50/50 split between Missouri River Country and the nonprofit tourism organization. The funds are made possible by bed tax dollars generated in the Missouri River Country tourism region and are offered annually by Missouri River Country through an application process.

For an application and guidelines, please contact Carla Hunsley at the Missouri River Country tourism office, 1-800-653-1319 or write to P.O. Box 118, Fort Peck, MT 59223.

ANS Prevention in Winter

North Dakota ice anglers are reminded that regulations designed to reduce the spread of aquatic nuisance species also apply in winter.

It's important to reiterate that only legal live bait can be transported in water in a container up to five gallons. Both game and nongame species cannot be transported in water, although a daily catch can be packed in snow.

Other simple methods to prevent winter ANS introductions are:

Do not use illegally imported baits.

Do not empty a bait bucket into any water body.

Do not drop plant fragments into the water.

Dispose any unused bait into the trash.
