Richland County 4-H Raising Money for New Fair Booth

Crews have begun erecting the new booth.

By Jody Wells

Richland County 4-H clubs are holding fundraisers to earn money to build a new food booth at the Richland County Fairgrounds. The fundraising efforts are already underway and they include selling brand boards, memorial plaques and various other fundraising events conducted by the 4-H clubs in the area.

The brand board fundraiser consists of a square foot (12 inch by 12 inch) board on which area ranchers can place their personal brand. Each brand costs $50 and will be displayed at the 4-H food booth.

The memorial plaques are sheets of stainless steel metal with engraved names and faces of a former 4-H member or leader that someone wishes to honor. The cost of each plaque is $300 and they will be displayed on a commemorative wall at the booth as well.

Richland County 4-H club leaders ask everyone to submit their information for the plaques and the brand boards as soon as possible so they can be ready to be displayed at this year's fair taking place July 31 – August 3.

Additional funds for the new fair booth will be raised by various fundraisers conducted by area 4-H clubs. For example the Forever Buds will be working the concessions at the Neal Hermanson Memorial Ranch Rodeo taking place June 22 in conjunction with Sidney's Town & Country Festival.

The Richland Co. 4-Hers are selling memorial plaques and brand boards to raise money for a new fair booth.

Many of our leaders and companies that support 4-H are donating money, materials and man power to the construction of the new booth. "It's been a real community effort and we appreciate all the help we are getting," stated 4-H leader Lisa Gorder.

The new 4-H fair booth will be updated with a new food prep area, ordering window and seating area. "The layout is designed to fit with the other food booths at the fair," stated Gorder. Construction of the new booth will be completed before this year's Richland County Fair.

For more information, or to take part in the fundraisers mentioned above, contact Lisa Gorder at 406-482-9672 or Josie Evenson at the MSU Extension office at 406-433-1206.

The Watford City Chamber of Commerce, along with a newly emerging area Arts Organization, will be hosting "Summer Sounds" a music and picnic in the park series at the Watford City Tourist Park.

The series will kick off on Thursday, June 13th at 5:30 with music by area musicians and picnic food served by the area Mothers of Preschoolers (MOPS). The event will be held every other Thursday throughout the summer and will feature local musicians and a picnic hosted by various community organizations.

"We believe this is a great way to give the community a chance to kick back and enjoy summer and our beautiful park," said Lindsay Wingerter who is coordinating the event along with her sister, Jessie Veeder and the Chamber of Commerce. "It's also a nice way for organizations to network and fundraise for their causes."

Veeder, who is an area musician, is excited to provide local entertainers with a place to perform. She and local band Lonesome Willy will be the featured entertainment as "Summer Sounds" becomes part of the kickoff event for Watford City's Annual Homefest on Thursday, June 27th.

"Summer Sounds" will be held on June 13 and 27; July 11 and 25; August 8 and 22; and September 12.

If you would like to perform on the "Summer Sounds" stage or if your organization would like to host the picnic as part of a fundraiser, please contact:

Jalyssa Gorder State Pole Vaulting Champion

As a freshman Jalyssa Gorder came into her season jumping 10 feet. She didn’t understand the significance of how rare this was until she got a taste of a little accomplishment finishing 2nd in the division and 4th at state. Watching her teammate Vanessa Bawden, someone who became a role model to her for years to come, win the title that year, she knew exactly where she wanted to be. She started setting goals for herself, knowing she wanted to continue being successful in this sport she found a strong love for. Jalyssa then went on to win her division the next year and finished 2nd in the state as a sophomore. Jalyssa describes that 2nd placing as something that she knew would drive her and motivate her for years to come. As a team Sidney took 3rd place that year.

Jalyssa began setting even more goals for herself knowing she now wanted to finish her high school career a two-time state champion. As a junior, she cleared a personal best height of 11’6” winning both her division and state. She was a little more disappointed with her finish this year as a senior, not hitting that mark but winning again her division and state and becoming a two-time state champion vaulter. Sidney also earned a 2nd place finish as a team.

Jalyssa said that she struggled quite a bit with her events due to the weather and canceled meets this year, wishing they could have had a little more of a season. Due to this struggle, she had some breaking points through out her season but knew she had to look past those if she wanted to be successful at the end of her season. Jalyssa is now looking forward to what is to come. She signed with the University of Montana in February and is excited to vault at the college level. Jalyssa had it narrowed down to University of Montana, University of North Dakota, and Montana State University. She never knew it was going to be such a challenge. “I was hoping to get some sort of a sign telling me where to go, but I never necessarily received that. It was one of the hardest decisions I ever had to make and I just have to believe I made the best decision for me,” Jalyssa stated.

Jalyssa would like to thank her track and field team, especially both her relay teams who created a lot of great memories for her these last four years. She is excited to see the track team excel in the future. She wishes not only the track team good luck, but also the girl vaulters as they continue the Sidney vaulting tradition. As she will be competing in college she knows that she can’t help but to follow them closely. She would also like to thank her friends and family for their amazing support, especially her parents Shane and Lisa, and her grandparents Tod and Susan. It was a great asset to her to have a dad who is a coach himself. Jalyssa says “my dad didn’t need to say much, he just knew exactly what I needed to hear as an athlete and always encouraged me right when I needed it most.” Jalyssa also knows she wouldn’t be anywhere if it wasn’t for her incredible coaches. “I especially can’t thank my vaulting coach Steve Yockim enough. How do you thank someone who has changed the course of your life? He gave me a future in vaulting. And to him and all the Sidney Track and Field coaches, I am proud to be one of your many state champions,” states Gorder.

Annual Dryland Field days set for June 20-21 at Froid, Sidney Research Farms

Submitted by Beth Redlin

Two back-to-back dryland field days highlighting research being conducted at farmsites near Froid and Sidney are on tap for Thursday and Friday, June 20th and 21st. This year's lineup for the two annual tours includes several shared topics, so if you have to miss one event, you can still catch much of the information at the other.

Joint Field Day Talks:

Headlining both events are two workshop presentations, the first a sprayer calibration workshop for local producers and the second a brief recap of the March 5th "Pipeline Reclamation Workshop" held in Sidney this past winter. Richland and Roosevelt County Extensions Agents Tim Fine and Ann Ronning will conduct the calibration workshops, for which pesticide points are pending. ARS Plant Ecologist Erin Espeland will provide the recap of the pipeline reclamation workshop with a special emphasis on grazing and weed management.

Also speaking at both events are ARS scientists working with pest insect species. ARS Entomologist Dave Branson will give an update on this year's grasshopper outlook, while ARS Insect Ecologist Tatyana Rand will discuss alfalfa weevil, which posed significant problems for several producers this past year.

Field Day Times, Locations:

The annual Froid Research Farm Field Day is set for Thursday, June 20th at the farmsite located 8 miles north of Culbertson on MT Highway 16. Registration is at 1:00 pm. All the day's speakers and topics are listed below. The tour concludes with a free steak dinner at 5:00 pm sponsored by the Sheridan and Roosevelt County Conversation Districts. Other event sponsors include the Sheridan and Roosevelt County Extension offices, and the USDA-ARS Northern Plains Agricultural Research Laboratory (NPRL) in Sidney.

The fifth annual Sidney "Dryland" Field Tour will be held Friday, June 21st, from 9 am to noon at ARS' Research Farm located about 4 miles north of Sidney along MT Highway 16. Take a left on County Rd. 129 and another left on County Rd. 346 to reach the farmsite. The full slate of talks for that event are also listed below. The Sidney tour is sponsored by Richland County Extension and NPRL and concludes with a free lunch provided by MSU Extension.

A $1,000 prize will be awarded for the team with the best ribs. Second place will receive $500 and there will be a $250 prize for booth showmanship. The public will also get a chance to vote for their favorite ribs and the winning team will receive Ribfest T-shirts and the coveted "People's Choice" award.

The day will be filled with live music from local talent Jessie Veeder, Lonesome Willy, Getting' Outta Dodge and Jeff Meyer. Other events include inflatable kids' games, train rides, a dunk tank and a children's "Showdown" at noon where prizes will be awarded for the best western wear.

The public will also enjoy the Classic Car Show and a few friendly rounds of Bingo during the day. There will be street vendors and several ping pong drops that will offer special deals from Main Street businesses and the night will end with a street dance featuring the national touring band "Smokehouse" on Main Street at 8 p.m.

"This event has quickly become a huge success and it gets bigger and better each year," said Janel Lee, committee member. "It's a great way to unwind, engage in friendly competition and celebrate the best things about summer and our community."

The Best of the West Ribfest is limited to 20 teams. If you're interested in registering a team, sign up by June 1st to receive $50 off your registration. Teams, food and craft vendors and Classic Car Show participants may register online at www.watfordcityribfest.net.

Ribfest is also looking for sponsors. If you are interested or have questions contact the Watford City Chamber of Commerce at 701-580-1493 or wcchamber@ruggedwest.com for more information.

31st Annual Fort Union Rendezvous June 13 - 16

Submitted by Loren Yellow Bird

This year's Fort Union Rendezvous will take place June 13th through the 16th. Headlining the rendezvous this year will be Mr. Jerome Kills Small, Red Robin, of Pine Ridge, South Dakota.

Jerome is the recipient of the Distinguished Scholar Award from South Dakota Humanities Council, Reconciliation Award from the Governor of South Dakota, George Mickleson, University of South Dakota Poet of the Year in 1994, and he has awards and certificates for speaking at Red Road Retreat and the Building Bridges Conference. He has been in several videos for Iowa State University.

The Rendezvous will feature about a dozen traders along Trader's Row extending out the north gate of the reconstructed post. The traders will feature their usual array of furs and handcrafted items for sale. A number of re-enactors will demonstrate a variety of 19th century fur trade skills including blacksmithing, beaver skinning, brain tanning, bow making, and flint knapping.

The 22nd annual Rendezvous Run will take place Saturday morning at 9:00 (CDT). The event is sponsored by the American State Bank and will include 11K and 5K runs a 5K walk and a "one-mile" fur trader's run/walk.

Kills Small is an Oglala Sioux. Jerome's great grandfather's name was Old Man Afraid of His Horses. He had four sons; Young Man Afraid of His Horses, Red Star, Black Mountain Sheep and Clown Horse. Red Star is the father of Jerome's Mother. Old Man Afraid of His Horses chose his son's names by experiences he had during Hanbleceya (vision quest ceremony) at Grey Horn Butte (known as Devil's Tower).

Come and spend the day at Rendezvous. Admission is FREE. A concession will provide food and drink for sale on site.

Rendezvous hours are from 8:00 am to 8:00 pm CDT Thursday through Saturday at Fort Union. Fort Union Trading Post is located 24 miles north of Sidney, Montana and 25 miles southwest of Williston, North Dakota, via highway 1804. While here, visitors are encouraged to tour the reconstructed fort, trade room and bourgeois house.

Mitchells Oilfield Service: Over 3 Decades and Still Going Strong

By Tie Shank
 Mitchells Oilfield Service has been an oil field service provider in the Williston Basin and the Bakken Formation for over 30 years. Employing over 500 people throughout their 7 locations, Mitchells holds a strong footprint which allows them to serve customers in over a 6500 square mile radius of North Dakota and Montana. In order to be competitive and to provide services required by their customers, Mitchell's continues to upgrade their equipment with the latest, most innovative technologies available in the industry. They've recently added a 140 ton Link-Belt Crane to their fleet which makes moving drilling and re-entry rigs a piece of cake. In addition to this, they've added a 2013 Kenworth 440" Bed Truck to their fleet. This truck can suck up mud tanks, mud pumps and loads of over 70,000 lbs. It stands a monstrous 5'3" from the ground to the bottom of the bed. That's nearly as tall as this reporter. When asked what his thoughts were on many of the oilfield companies leveling out, scaling back on hiring or slowing down, VP of Marketing and Development, Duane Mitchell stated "I wouldn't call it slowing down. As technology progresses, work in the oilfield stabilizes and we have to adjust." Mitchell's Oilfield Service proudly sponsors and supports communities they're a part of and organizations within those communities. They are currently an MVP Club Sponsor of the 2013 Babe Ruth World Series being held in Williston, ND in August and a major sponsor of the Aaron Tippin performance at the Wings of Freedom III Airshow on September 7th in Sidney, MT.

The generosity of Mitchell's Oilfield Service is not only made by the company itself, but it's trickled down to its employees as well. "I'm pretty proud of this. Just our employees alone contributed over $160,000 in charitable donations last year. That's remarkable don't you think," commented Duane Mitchell.

Running Life: Local Runner to Compete in Ultra Marathon

She is a mom, a grandma, a professional, an entrepreneur and she runs.

It started with the 50/50/50 Club (50 marathons in 50 states before age 50). Two friends and Fairview natives, Staci Miller and Patience Lam Hurley were looking to achieve a fitness goal, do some traveling and have fun. That was three and half years ago...to date, they have successfully completed marathons in 14 states, spent a year on a roller derby team and participated in multiple obstacle course challenge runs. Staci has taken on the R3 endeavor twice (rim to rim to rim of the Grand Canyon). Patience launched the 100 pushups a day challenge and together they discovered through their adventures that they are in charge of "Running Life"!

On June 15th, Staci Miller will be conquering her first ultra marathon; a 50 mile trail run through the Bighorn Mountains in Wyoming. Patience, and Staci's dad Tom Miller, will be her on-site support crew.

"Another adventure, another goal, another story to be able to share with my kids and grandkids", replied Staci Miller when asked what made her decide to run this ultra marathon. "Actually, when I registered, I was going to sign up for the 50k. But, my luck, I procrastinated and the 50k was full so I registered for the 50 mile event instead. What's another 20 miles, right?!"

The Bighorn Mountain Wild and Scenic Trail Run begins at 8800 feet on the Jaws Trailhead outside of Lovell, WY and continues for approximately 50 miles through panoramic views, seas of wildflowers, canyons and an abundance of wild life. The maximum elevation is 9357 feet with an overall gain of 4232 feet. There are a total of 12 aid stations along the trail, 6 of them manned with a required check-in and check-out system. The race must be completed within 15 hours and ends at Scott Park in Dayton, WY.

Staci's training schedule started the week of February 11th and consisted of an increasing number of miles ran each week with cross training 2-3 times a week. "The training has been challenging," stated Staci. "Until lately, the weather has made it difficult to run outside and the treadmill is extremely boring after the first hour." In addition to exercise,

Staci has followed a strict diet of high protein, fresh fruits and vegetables. "The support I have had from family and friends has been wonderful. Though, I'm pretty sure they think I'm a little off my rocker for attempting this run."

Since Staci has family residing in Arizona, South Dakota and Germany, she started a blog to share the process of her training. Staci stated, "There are three things I hope people find in my blog – 1. Each of us is capable of more than we think possible. 2. The only things in life you regret are risks not taken. 3. You are in charge of RUNNING your LIFE". She hopes the blog will motivate friends and family towards setting healthy goals. To check out her blog go to www.stacimiller.blogspot.com.

LYREA 76th Annual Meeting

Lower Yellowstone REA held its 76th Annual Meeting last Wednesday at the Richland County Fair Event Center. A highlight of the night is always the scholarships given out by “Luck of the Draw”. Students and their parent or guardian must be in attendance to win. The event gives the students the opportunity to learn about the co-op and its role in the community. The scholarships are funded by unclaimed capital credits. So far, just under $400,000 has been spent locally on education.

Communications Steadily Improving in Richland County

By Dianne Swanson
The first trunked radio site for Richland County was installed in the tower which is located behind the Nutter Building in Sidney last Friday. Sidney Public works will now be able to communicate with their trucks all the way to the landfill, plus it will provide better communications for all Emergency Services in Richland County. Way up in the tower is Richland County communications director, Max Pangburn with Disaster and Emergency Services. On the ground assisting are, right bottom, under sheriff Denny Palmer and top right, Jason Schmierer, who is in charge of maintenance at the Law and Justice Center.

The site is part of an extensive effort to improve communications across the state of Montana.

The Road To Credit Recovery

By Tie Shank

Bad credit can affect every aspect of your life: from applying for a loan, filling out an application to get in to a rental property, applying for a credit card and in today's world it can even determine if you get a job or not.

Tony Baca and his team at Continental Credit will give you and your credit history the personal attention it deserves to get you on the road to credit recovery.

Continental Credit is a full service credit correction company based out of Denver, Colorado with a nationwide team of credit analyst ready to review your credit report with you line by line. They'll help you to thoroughly understand your problem areas and your areas of strength. They'll work with you to determine your results, help to correct inaccuracies and set realistic results.

Sean Nealon, Regional Account Manager at Continental Credit states, "80 percent of all consumers have credit errors on their credit reports."

Continental Credit helps you clean up your credit report by submitting investigations to credit bureaus and having the inaccuracies removed and by giving you pointers to clean up areas of your credit needing the most attention.

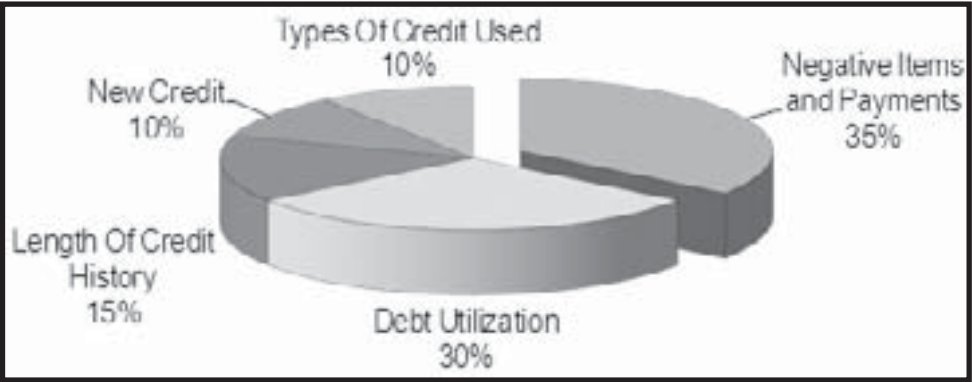

Nealon states, "The #1 way to build credit is through a credit card." However, there are a few important things credit card holders should be conscious of: 1) Credit card companies report your information to credit bureaus monthly, so it's important to call your credit card company and ask them what day of the month they report to the credit bureaus. 2)

In order to maintain a good credit score or to raise a low score, you should pay your credit card balance to below 30 percent of the maximum limit every month prior to the day your credit card company reports to the credit bureaus. 3) If you have trouble obtaining a credit card due to a low credit score, Continental Credit can help you to obtain a secured credit card.

Your credit score plays such a key role in the interest rates you'll receive on loans. Don't let auto dealers or any other company tell you that you have to pay a higher interest rate due to a low credit score – talk to Tony, Sean or a member of their team and let them help you strategize ahead of time to get the lowest interest rate possible.

Common Credit Myths

1. Once a collection, charge-off, or tax lien is paid it no longer affects your score.

2. Inquiries pulled at once in the same industry will not negatively affect scores.
3. Paying off collections will help scores.

Credit Facts

1. Payment history and negative items make up 35% of your credit score (auto loans, mortgages, etc. are reviewed over the past 99 months).

2. Debt Utilization – Revolving accounts make up 30% of your credit score. (credit cards, department store cards, etc.).
3. Length of credit history makes up 15% of your credit score. (Do not open new accounts before attempting to obtain a loan.)
4. New Credit makes up 10% of your credit score.

5. The final 10% is a credit mix.

A Little Bit Country Kochia Resistance to Popular Herbicides Moving Westward

By Warren Froelich
NDSU Extension Agent

Weed resistance to popular herbicides is a growing concern amongst those of us involved in producing crops for the world's growing population. I have not heard many crop growers in this region share resistance problems but kochia resistance to glyphosate (Roundup) and fluroxypyr (Starane) is moving westward. Just a few years ago high levels of resistance were documented in southern Minnesota. Last year, there was widespread concern in eastern North Dakota that glyphosate was not killing kochia.

Last fall NDSU researchers collected around 80 seed samples of kochia from around the state. These were germinated and treated in the greenhouse with either glyphosate or fluroxypyr. Results from a non-replicated run indicated that 12 percent of samples had at least one plant that regrew after 3x glyphosate (Roundup PowerMax) and 25 percent of samples had a survivor produce new branches after 2x fluroxypyr (Starane Ultra). The number of surviving plants ranged from 1 to all plants within these samples.

Kirk Howatt, Research Weed Scientist, and Rich Zollinger, Extension Weed Specialist, are leading the research at NDSU designed to find ways to reduce weed resistance to herbicides. Their first run of three greenhouse studies to characterize kochia response to fluroxypyr has been completed. Observations indicate about 8x the level of resistance to fluroxypyr is present in five or six of the 80 samples. Two other samples with survivors are responding quite similarly to the susceptibility check and may not be statistically different once a second run is completed.

Weeds typically are easier to kill when plants are smaller but many have observed that very small, or "puffball", kochia are difficult to kill with any herbicide, including glyphosate. One greenhouse trial demonstrated that fluroxypyr was most effective when applied to one to two inch tall kochia. Most kochia smaller than this survived and regrew, while larger kochia showed herbicide symptoms and also had less kill of plant foliage.

The research does show growers experiencing kochia resistance to glyphosate and fluroxypyr still have some herbicide options. Sharpen at one fluid ounce/acre or Gramoxone/Paraquat with MSO adjuvant was very effective in treating kochia that was two to three inches tall. Only a few larger plants produced regrowth. Aim had good activity but again larger plants were not completely killed and regrew quickly. Application of fluroxypyr with dicamba as in the premix Pulsar improved activity compared with fluroxypyr alone. Plants were still green but with very little new shoot production.

Surprisingly, Atrazine at .38lb active ingredient per acre was variable in effectiveness as individual kochia plants were either completely dead or unaffected. Kochia has become resistant to Atrazine in other regions of the country but has not been documented in North Dakota. With low Atrazine rates used in North Dakota and use primarily in corn, it was thought that Atrazine resistance to kochia would be delayed for many years. Howatt and Zollinger encourage corn growers to watch for kochia escaping atrazine treatment and welcome notification.

HPPD herbicides used in corn (Callisto, Impact, and Landis) may not kill kochia if used alone and is the reason NDSU recommends adding atrazine to these and most other POST applied herbicides used in corn.

Howatt and Zollinger promise to continue their work in combating kochia. They feel that combinations of effective active ingredients (herbicides) will be necessary to control kochia, especially at locations where herbicide resistance has occurred and where kochia is taller than desired at application.

Western Montana Heart Gallery Showcases Children Hoping to be Placed into 'Forever Homes'

Submitted by Jon Ebelt

The Western Montana Heart Gallery photo display located in the Southgate Mall in Missoula continues to feature area foster children hoping to successfully be placed into permanent 'forever homes', Department of Public Health and Human Services officials said this week.

“Children who have been featured in the Western Montana Heart Gallery are often placed with a forever family,” said DPHHS Director Richard Oppen. “Every child deserves to live in a stable and supportive environment, and now many of these children will have that chance.”

Throughout the year, the gallery features, on average, six western Montana foster children who are eligible to be adopted. Professional portraits adorn the display and are accompanied by a brochure giving information about that particular youth and a contact number for more information.

According to DPHHS Child and Family Services Division (CFSD) regional administrator Nikki Grossberg, the gallery will continue to be on display as long as it remains an effective tool.

"Western Montana families continue to open their homes to these children, and we're really appreciative of that," Grossberg said.

Currently, the gallery features six hopeful youth, including three boys and three girls between the ages of six and 15, who are living in group homes and eligible for adoption. The children are from western Montana communities.

Grossberg said the idea behind the gallery is to expose potential adoptees to the thousands of shoppers who regularly visit the mall. The gallery is set up near the mall's main entrance near the clock tower.

The Western Montana Heart Gallery first opened in October 2010.

Grossberg said that in the western region of Montana about 113 children from 0-18 are waiting for adoption at this time and of those the most difficult to find homes for are ages 10 to 18.

There are about 450 foster children in the seven-county CFSD Western Region, which includes Missoula, Ravalli, Mineral, Lake, Flathead, Sanders and Lincoln counties. There are 119 licensed foster families in the western region.

The first Heart Gallery opened in 2001 in New Mexico. Heart Galleries are a national effort to raise awareness about children in foster care who are eligible for adoption and the need for adoptive families. Since then, galleries have popped up in public settings throughout the United States.

Revenue Department Seeks Volunteers to Provide Training to Liquor Establishments

Submitted by Shari Hagengruber

The Montana Department of Revenue is seeking volunteers to help implement Let's Control It, the agency's training program for responsible alcohol sales and service. The volunteers would provide training to Montana liquor license holders on the state's requirements for selling and serving alcohol.

"In the past five years we've relied on volunteers to conduct our trainings and we really appreciate their efforts and the time they invest," said Department of Revenue Director Mike Kadas.

Interested individuals can find the application and supplemental questions, along with the trainer criteria, at AlcoholServerTraining.mt.gov/server-training.mcp or call (406) 444-4307 to request one in the mail. Applications and supplemental questions must be received by August 16, 2013. Completed applications and supplemental questions should be mailed to Department of Revenue, Liquor Control Division, Education Unit, P.O. Box 1712, Helena, MT 59624.

“Our agency strives to ensure that liquor licensees have the knowledge and skills they need to ensure public health and safety and to stay in compliance with the law,” said Lisa Scates, alcohol education coordinator for the Liquor Control Division.
