

Celebrate Agriculture During Harvest Days

Another harvest is coming to a close and The Roundup invites everyone to celebrate. Register at participating businesses now through Saturday, November 2 to win a bag of sugar or a $500 Farm & Home Gift Certificate. Area bakers are encouraged to enter the Make It With Sugar Contest this Friday at Reese & Ray's IGA. See page 8 for an entry blank and all the details. The prizes are always great and the People's Choice winner receives a $100 IGA gift certificate. Samplers are definitely welcome, and appreciated by the bakers.

Check out our special Harvest Days edition in today's paper for our salute to agriculture, and remember to say "Thank You" to the next farmer or rancher you see.

Kids First! Carnival Coming to Sidney This Saturday

Sidney Trail of Treats October 31

Area children ages 10 and under are invited to Sidney Thursday, October 31 for the Trail of Treats, sponsored by the Sidney Area Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture. Dress up in your best Halloween costume and meet at Reese and Ray's IGA at 4p.m. Crossing guards will help provide safety, and maps will be provided. Participating businesses will have lots of treats so start your Halloween off early in downtown Sidney.

Faith Alliance Church in Sidney will also be hosting their Trunk Of Treats in conjunction with the Chamber event.

Larsen Service Drug to Hold "Witches Night Out" Event Oct. 28 in Watford City

Submitted by Debbie Larsen

Larsen Service Drug invites witches of all ages to come join them for their WITCHES NIGHT OUT event, an evening of fun, friends, food and fundraising to be held on Monday, October 28th from 6:30 to 8:30 pm. "We will have all of our fall and Halloween items on sale, as well as other things, and 15% of all our sales that night will be split between a benefit for Darlene and Karee Jo Garmann, and McKenzie County Social Services," stated Larsen Drug owner Debbie Larsen. Whether you always wanted to be the Wicked Witch of the West, Glinda, or Samantha of "Bewitched" fame - we encourage everyone to join in the fun. There will be a $50 gift certificate given to the "Spookiest", "Goofiest" and "Most Bewitching" witches - so it's worth it to put together a great costume."

Everyone is also encouraged to bring a donation to the food pantry, and, in exchange, Larsen's will give out a special savings coupon to be used in November.

Fall Bazaar Nov. 9

Shepherd of the Valley Lutheran Church is hosting its annual Fall Bazaar and Bake Sale Saturday, November 9 from 10a.m. to 2p.m. Tasty hot soup, sandwiches, luscious pie, and beverages will be available to purchase. Get a head start on holiday baking with fresh baked goods and find the perfect gift from all the gift baskets available.

Shepherd of the Valley is located at 211 East Holly in Sidney. Make plans to come and spend the day, or just have lunch with friends.

Trail of Treats "Off the Beaten Path"

Submitted by Laura Sanford

Trail of Treats has been a part of the Main street business for the last few years. Katie Main with Prairie Companies and Laura Sanford of MBI wanted to create something for the businesses that are not on Main street. So we came up with Trail of Treats "Off the beaten path" and rented out the Veterans Building. This event will promote your businesses while handing out candy to all the kids.

We are seeking businesses to participate in this fun event. There is no fee to set up a booth and a table is provided. We would love to see the businesses come dressed up in Halloween costumes. Call Laura Sanford if interested in joining in this community event at 701-300-1386 (c) or 701-842-7704 (w). This event is on Halloween, October 31 at the Veterans Building, next to the library for children 0 to 6th grade from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. There will be a prize for the best dressed family theme costume.

the fourth annual Kids First! Carnival this fall. With the success of last year, the host groups are hoping this year will be even bigger and better. Total attendance for last year was over 300 people, and several thousand tickets were sold. Both groups focus on children, families, and education, forming a perfect partnership to bring an exciting activity for families in the Sidney area to enjoy.

The carnival will be held Saturday, October 26, 2013 from 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. at the Richland County Fair Event Center. Admission price is $1 per person. There will be games for children of all ages, including face painting, a bouncy house, dunking booth, fishing game, pictures with Sidney Eagle athletes, many other games, and food vendors. Tickets will be available for purchase at the door for a price of $.25 per ticket, and games will range from 1 to 4 tickets.

This is sure to be a fun activity for families with children of all ages! For more information contact Elaine Stedman at 488-4390 or Nicole Hackley at 433-4097. We are looking forward to seeing you again this year!

An Awesome Day For A Run

The weather couldn't have been nicer for the 100+ runners and walkers who participated in the 5th Annual Connie Wold Memorial Run on Saturday morning in Watford City. The noncompetitive run gave friends and family of all ages a chance to get out and get moving while remembering Watford City's fitness hero. (Photo by Kathy Taylor)

Dean died at his home in Sidney on Tuesday, October 15, 2013.

Halloween Costume Dance at St. Matthew’s

The women of St. Matthews Church are having a Halloween costume dance for the Richland County 6th through 8th graders in our surrounding area. The event will be Friday, October 25th, 2013 at St. Matthew’s Parish Center Gym. Admission prices will be $4 for teens wearing costumes and $6 for teens without a costume. Concessions will be available. Those in costume may sign up once to win 1 of the 10 door prizes to be given away. Music will be provided by Midnight Express. This dance is a LOCK-IN for safety. Students will only be allowed to leave early if picked up and signed out by a parent.

Miss Montana Halloween Food Drive

Submitted by Miss Montana Sheridan Pope
On Halloween I will be going door to door and asking community members to donate canned goods for my food drive, and I invite the community to join me! This is a great way to make Halloween family-friendly and service oriented. I will be in the St. Matthews parking lot from 9pm to approximately 10:30pm. Children and families that participate can have their photo taken with me at the time they drop off their canned goods. Every can counts!
The next day, Friday, November 1, I will head to the food bank to donate all of the canned goods. It will tentatively be around 4pm, subject to change. But I also encourage others to join me at the Richland County Food Bank so they see first-hand where their time and efforts go and who they serve!

Eastern “A” Classic Cross Country Meet Results

Varsity girls, Tess Ler ran a time of 20:34 (personal best) and placed 11th. Tessa Hill ran a time of 23:40 and Ashley Ray ran a time of 28:14.
One middle school runner Sandra Goulette ran a time of 22:15 for her 2 mile race.

Richey Wreath Fundraiser

Submitted by Jodi Williams
The Richey High School Junior class will be selling wreaths from mid-October through the first part of November. The wreaths will arrive in time for your Christmas decorating. Don’t know what to get someone for Christmas, you can buy a wreath and have it sent directly to them. The wreaths are “green”- the greenery is harvested from the forests of the Pacific Northwest, no trees are cut down, the plant material can be composted and the metal wreath rings can be recycled. The different products available are: 12” candle wreath, 20” wreath, 22” wreath, 26” wreath, 26” rustic wreath, 28” cross wreath, 28” door swag and 15 ft. Cedar garland (all wreaths come with a bow). If you’re interested in purchasing a wreath for yourself or as a gift, you can contact Jodi at the school (406) 773-5523. The wreaths will be arriving around Thanksgiving. Thanks for your support.

Livestock Producers Urged to Document Losses

Submitted by Brad Olson

Livestock producers that suffered losses due to natural disaster are urged to keep thorough records of all losses, including livestock death losses, as well as expenses for such things as feed purchases and extraordinary costs because of lost supplies or increased transportation costs.

USDA Farm Service Agency State Executive Director Aaron Krauter said that both versions of the pending Farm Bills contain a reauthorization of the lapsed disaster programs such as the Livestock Indemnity Program that are retroactive for losses occurring from October 2011. "We're optimistic that a Farm Bill will be passed and we'll be able to provide that strong safety net for producers," Krauter said. "While we can't accept documentation in FSA offices until the programs are reauthorized, it's extremely important that farmers and ranchers affected by adverse weather events keep thorough records of their losses."

Owners and producers should record all pertinent information of natural disaster consequences, including:

Documentation of the number and kind of livestock that have died, supplemented if possible by photographs or video records of ownership and losses;

Dates of death supported by birth recordings or purchase receipts;

Costs of transporting livestock to safer grounds or to move animals to new pastures;

Feed purchases if supplies or grazing pastures are destroyed;

Crop records, including seed and fertilizer purchases, planting and production records;

Pictures of on-farm storage facilities that were destroyed by an adverse weather event; and

Evidence of damaged farm land

Producers with damaged farmland should contact their local FSA office regarding the Emergency Conservation Program, and producers with private forest land should contact FSA regarding the Emergency Forest Reserve Program.

FSA's authority to operate the five disaster assistance programs authorized by the 2008 Farm Bill, including SURE, LIP, ELAP, LFP and TAP expired on September 30, 2011.

North Dakota Sportsmen Against Hunger Accepting Deer, Light Goose Meat

North Dakota's Sportsmen Against Hunger Program is again accepting donations of deer at select processors across the state. In addition, the program is also able to accept light goose breast meat (snow, blue and Ross's geese) for the first time this fall.

Canada goose meat, while accepted during the early goose season, is not eligible for donation during the regular waterfowl season.

Sportsmen Against Hunger is a program administered by the North Dakota Community Action Partnership, a nonprofit agency that serves low-income families across the state. SAH raises funds to pay for processing of donated deer and geese, and coordinates distribution of ground venison and goose meat to food pantries around the state.

The State Game and Fish Department strongly supports the SAH program and encourages hunters to consider donating deer, according to agency Director Terry Steinwand. The program can accept whole deer only, which must be processed at a participating licensed meat processor.

According to NDCAP Executive Director Andrea Olson, the SAH program has sufficient funding available to process deer and geese this fall. "The meat that is generated is so appreciated by the families who receive it," Olson said. "They are all so grateful for access to a nutritious source of protein; something that is often expensive and otherwise difficult for them to obtain."

A list of participating processors and more information is available on the Community Action website at capnd.org.

Participating processors will not accept deer shot in the hind quarters, and donated deer will be processed individually or only with other donated deer.

Hunters can clean their light geese at home prior to delivery to a processor, but breast meat brought from home without a wing or head attached to the meat must be accompanied by written information that includes the hunter's name, address, signature, hunting license number, date taken and species and number taken.

Hunters may also deliver light geese directly from the field to a processor, but identification must remain attached to the bird until in possession of the processor.

Hunters interested in donating light geese are encouraged to call processors to have a clear understanding of how goose breasts will be accepted.

Storytelling in the Oil Patch

Writing Workshops Nov. 7 & 21

Submitted by Brenna Gerhardt

An organization in North Dakota believes it's just as important to harvest the stories coming out of western North Dakota as it is to capture the natural resources there. To achieve their goal, the North Dakota Humanities Council (NDHC) will send two professional writers with North Dakota roots to communities directly affected by the recent oil boom to host writing workshops exploring the ways oil is transforming the landscape and culture.

According to NDHC director Brenna Gerhardt, "Nothing is more important to a culture than its stories. They are the vehicles for transferring history, values and ideas from one generation to the next. Stories can endure for thousands of years, but oil development has a limited lifespan."

The "Our People. Our Places. Our Stories." writing workshops will allow residences of the Bakken the ability to share and preserve their stories under the guidance of professional storytellers Debra Marquart and Taylor Brorby.

A native of Napoleon, Debra Marquart is a professor of English at Iowa State University. A performance poet, Marquart is the author of two poetry collections: Everything's a Verb and From Sweetness. Her memoir, The Horizontal World: Growing Up Wild in the Middle of Nowhere, was published by Counterpoint Books in 2006. It received the "Elle Lettres" award from Elle Magazine and the 2007 PEN USA Creative Nonfiction Award.

In the seventies and eighties, Marquart was a touring road musician with rock and heavy metal bands. Her collection of short stories, The Hunger Bone: Rock & Roll Stories draws from her experiences as a female road musician.

A native of Center, Taylor Brorby is a writer based in Minneapolis, Minnesota. Taylor has received grants and fellowships from Hamline University and St. Olaf College. His work has appeared on Minnesota Public Radio, in the journal Rock, Paper, Scissors, Augsburg Fortress Press, in newspapers, and The Huffington Post, where he writes on education.

Finished stories generated during the workshops will appear on the NDHC website. The NDHC will also publish a special issue of On Second Thought magazine in the summer of 2014 that will print the best stories generated at the workshops.

For more information on participating in the workshops, visit www.ndhumanities.org or contact Brenna Gerhardt at 800-338-6543.

SHC Rehab Department to Celebrate National Physical Therapy Month

By Amanda Piatte, PT, DPT

October is recognized as National Physical Therapy Month and the Rehabilitation Department at Sidney Health Center is hosting an open house on Tuesday, October 29 from 11:30AM to 1:30PM for the general public.

Everyone is invited to stop by over their lunch break and tour the rehab gym. The staff will be serving root beer floats and be available to visit about the services provided within the rehab department. Information will be available on the proper ergonomic computer setup to help prevent neck pain and other potential consequences related to a poor desk setup. Other information will include ways to help reduce knee pain with activity.

In addition, attendees will have an opportunity to register for a chance to win great gifts including an iPod Nano and free physical therapy consultations.

Physical therapists are healthcare professionals who evaluate and treat individuals of all ages and health conditions that limit their ability to move and perform functional activities of daily living. Physical therapists examine the individuals and develop a plan to provide treatment techniques to promote movement, reduce pain, restore function and prevent disability, as well as develop fitness and wellness programs for a more healthy and active lifestyle.

Sidney Health Center's rehabilitation team has five physical therapists on staff including Kirby Halvorson, who is also the department manager, Viola Anderson, Jace Everett, Nicole Keysor and Amanda Piatte. Other staff members include Vince McGlothlin, occupational therapist, Chris Mullin, rehab aid and Juanita Johnson, front desk. The rehabilitation staff at Sidney Health Center work together to help individuals in the hospital, extended care, and outpatient rehab area.

Many associate the physical therapy profession in addressing impairments such as knee pain, sports injuries and helping an individual walk following a trauma incident. Physical therapists have a large scope of practice that also addresses the following impairments:

Orthopedic conditions
Back and neck pain, headaches, osteoporosis, chronic pain.

Nicole Keysor, Physical Therapist, demonstrates a range of motion test on Derek Johnson, physical therapy student.

Joint and soft tissue injuries
Sprains, strains, dislocation, fractures, following joint replacements, rotator cuff repairs, TMJ.
Neurological conditions
Stroke, traumatic brain injury (TBI), Parkinson's Disease, Cerebral Palsy, Multiple Sclerosis (MS), ALS, Spinal Cord Injuries, Amputations.
Connective Tissue conditions
Burns, ulcers, wounds
Arthritic conditions
Osteoarthritis, rheumatoid arthritis, fibromyalgia.
Systematic Diseases

Cancer, AIDS, diabetes.
Cardiopulmonary Disorders
Congestive heart failure, heart attack.
Workplace injuries
Carpal tunnel syndrome, cumulative trauma, neck/back pain.
Sports Injuries
Overuse such as knee pain, trauma such as fractures, ACL, meniscus.
Vestibular conditions
BPPV, vertigo.
Woman's and Men's Health
Incontinence, pelvic floor dysfunction.

Comment Sought on Montana Fishing Regulation Change

The Montana Fish & Wildlife Commission is seeking comment on a proposed change to the 2014 fishing regulations. The proposed change is on Seeley Lake in the Western District where the bass regulation would go from catch-and-release to no limit.

The change is in response to the recent discovery of the unauthorized introduction of smallmouth bass. The proposed change will be ready for review and comment beginning October 15, 2013 on the FWP website at fwp.mt.gov. Click "Public Notices."

Comments can also be mailed to Don Skaar, Fish Management Bureau Chief, Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks, P.O. Box 200701; Helena, MT 59624-0701. Comments can be emailed to fwpfsh@mt.gov. Comments must be received by Nov. 14. The F&W Commission is scheduled to take final action on this fishing regulation proposal on Dec. 12.

Giving Credit Where Credit Is Due - Fracking Pioneer George Mitchell

Submitted by Tie Shank

George Mitchell of Galveston, Texas passed away July 26, 2013. Mitchell earned a degree from Texas A&M University in petroleum engineering and then not only started an independent oil and gas company, Mitchell Energy & Development Corp, but he built it into a Fortune 500 Company.

Mitchell had a passion for technology. When so many large oil and gas companies were interested in shale gas but could not get the gas to flow, or make the breakthrough in fracking, Mitchell spent ten years and $6 million to make that breakthrough.

In the 1980s and 1990s, Mitchell pioneered the technique of fracturing and horizontal drilling in the Barnett Shale of Texas. He is also credited for pioneering the lower Bakken shale. This technique spread like wildfire and spawned a gas boom across North America.

As companies

adopted Mitchell's Techniques to oil fields, crude production has more than quadrupled in the Bakken formation in North Dakota and Montana in the past three years and U.S. gas production rose 25 percent in the past decade, pushing prices to a 10-year low in April

George Mitchell, "the Father of Shale."

A biography on the website of the Cynthia and George Mitchell Foundation states, "Against the prevailing sentiments both within and outside the company, George persisted through 17 years of failures and incremental successes."

The biography goes on to say, "Finally, as he approached his 80th birthday, gas from these experimental wells began to flow in hugely profitable volumes."

During his career, he participated in drilling approximately 8,000 wells, including more than 1,000 wildcats. In his later years, Mitchell became an advocate for tighter regulation and safer practices around hydraulic fracturing.

Mitchells Energy & Development Corp. was acquired by Devon Energy in 2002.

Due to Mitchell's consistent, extraordinary vision and determination, fracturing has since driven a boom in oil and gas production credited with substantially improving U.S. energy security.

Mr. Mitchell will forever be remembered as "the Father of Shale."

Fracking facts:

— About 1.6 million jobs in the U.S. are related to natural gas development.

George & his wife Cynthia committed $35 million toward the construction of two physics buildings at Texas A&M where George studied petroleum engineering.

— U.S. natural gas output has grown 51 percent over the last five years.

MT Red Cross Wants You to Stay Safe While Cooking, Prevent Kitchen Fires

The American Red Cross responds to thousands of fires in peoples' homes every year and most of those fires occur while someone is cooking. The focus of this year's fire prevention campaign is "Prevent Kitchen Fires" and the Red Cross is offering tips for staying safe in the kitchen.

"Montana Red Cross responded to 82 home fires around the state last year. We see firsthand the destruction a cooking fire can cause," said Rod Kopp, CEO of Montana Red Cross. "Yet most of these fires can be prevented. We urge everyone to follow our safety tips when they are preparing meals at home."

KEEP AN EYE ON WHAT YOU FRY

The cook should not wear loose clothing or dangling sleeves while cooking. They should also stay in the kitchen and never leave cooking food unattended. If they must leave the kitchen, for even a short period of time, they should turn off the stove.

Other ways to avoid cooking fires include:

Fires can start when the heat is too high. When frying food, if the cook sees smoke or the grease starts to boil, turn the burner off.

Keep children and pets at least three feet away from the stove.

Clean and clear the area around the stove before turning on the heat.

Turn pot handles to the back of the stove so no one bumps them or pulls them over.

Move things that can burn away from the stove – items such as dishtowels, bags, boxes, paper and curtains.

Keep a pan lid or a cookie sheet nearby. Use it to cover the pan if it catches on fire. This will put out the fire.

The Pan Is On Fire

If the pan catches fire, don't move it. Slide a pan lid or cookie sheet on top of the pan to take the air away and put the fire out. Turn off the heat. Keep the lid on the pan until it cools. Never try to stop a grease or oil fire with water – it will only make the fire bigger.

OVEN, MICROWAVE FIRES

If something catches fire in the oven, keep the door closed. Call 9-1-1 so firefighters can make sure the fire didn't spread to the walls. If a fire occurs in the microwave, keep the door closed and unplug the microwave if you can. Don't use it until a repairman checks it.

STOP, DROP AND ROLL

If a fire occurs and someone's clothes are on fire, they should stop where they are immediately, drop to the floor, cover their face with their hands and roll over and over to suffocate the flames. Keep doing it until the fire is out.

JUST GET OUT

Leave the home and call the fire department from outside. Make sure everyone in the home gets out – fast. Once outside, stay out. Never go back inside a burning building.

You can help people affected by home fires, as well as countless other disasters at home and around the world, by making a donation to support American Red Cross Disaster Relief. Your gift enables the Red Cross to prepare for and provide shelter, food, emotional support and other assistance in response to disasters. Visit www.redcross.org/montana or call 1-800-ARC-MONT (1-800-272-6668). Contributions may also be sent to American Red Cross of Montana, 1300 28th Street South, Great Falls, MT 59405.

About the American Red Cross:

The American Red Cross shelters, feeds and provides emotional support to victims of disasters; supplies about 40 percent of the nation's blood; teaches skills that save lives; provides international humanitarian aid; and supports military members and their families. The Red Cross is a not-for-profit organization that depends on volunteers and the generosity of the American public to perform its mission. Hunters Report Few Sightings of Dead Deer

Even with thousands of hunters in the field during the opening week of the pheasant season, the State Game and Fish Department received only a few reports from hunters who found dead deer in southwestern North Dakota.
Game and Fish personnel have been monitoring the deer population in the southwest since late August, when the first reports of dead deer, attributed to epizootic hemorrhagic disease, came in from Bowman, Grant and Burleigh counties.
Isolated deer deaths continued into mid-September, prompting the department to suspend the sale of slightly more than 1,000 antlerless deer licenses that were still available in units 3F1, 3F2 and 4F in the southwestern part of the state.
Dr. Dan Grove, Game and Fish wildlife veterinarian, said information received from pheasant hunters is helpful in evaluating the magnitude of an EHD situation.
"The area of the state where EHD traditionally occurs is covered with hunters," Grove said. "With only a minimal number of dead deer sightings, combined with recent overnight low temperatures below freezing, it appears the worst of the EHD outbreak may be behind us."
EHD is a naturally occurring virus that is spread by a biting midge. It is almost always fatal to infected white-tailed deer, and is most noticeable in western North Dakota when high whitetail populations combine with a hot and humid late summer and early fall. Most deer that die from this are infected before the first hard frost, which kills the biting midges that spread the disease. Mule deer do not usually die from the disease.
EHD causes dehydration and a high body temperature, causing deer to seek water prior to death. Other clinical and behavior symptoms may include respiratory distress; swelling of head, neck, and tongue; lesions on tongue and roof of mouth; indifference to humans; and in later stages, hemorrhaging from body orifices.
The transmission cycle of the viruses involved in EHD is complex and involves both domestic and wild animal reservoirs. Although it is rare for cattle to develop the clinical disease from the viruses that kill deer, during a wide scale outbreak such as in 2011, or a localized outbreak like this fall, it is not uncommon for cattle in affected areas to develop clinical disease. Grove said North Dakota is not alone this year, as EHD has been detected in wildlife in Wyoming, Montana, South Dakota and Michigan, and in both domestic and wild ruminants in Wisconsin and Iowa.
EHD is not a danger to humans. Hunters do not have to worry about handling or consuming meat from infected deer. However, hunters should not shoot or consume a deer if it appears sick.
