ElectricLand in Sidney is NOT Closing

By Dianne Swanson

On February 5, 2015 Radio Shack filed Chapter 11 restructuring bankruptcy. The bankruptcy affects the approximately 4000 company stores owned in the US. The more than 1,000 dealer franchise stores in 25 countries are not affected. ElectricLand is a franchise store, independently owned and operated by Raleigh and Deb Peck, and therefore is NOT affected by the bankruptcy.

However, anyone who has a Radio Shack gift card must use it by March 6 due to the bankruptcy, otherwise those funds will be lost.

"We are your local electronics retailer," Raleigh Peck stated.

"Unlike any rumors you may have heard, we are not closing. We are here to serve our customers to the best of our ability like we have since July of 2000."

As a franchise, ElectricLand purchases from various vendors. Everything that was available through Radio Shack is available through other suppliers and ElectricLand is working on contracting with those suppliers.

Peck pointed out that ElectricLand is one of the few Sony dealers in Montana, that they also provide Dish Network, Direct TV, Verizon cell phones and Control 4 home automation, just to name a few. None of those entities have anything to do with Radio Shack. ElectricLand also provides installation service for everything from car starters to complete business or home audio, video security systems and fire alarm panels and monitoring.

"As always, we will continue to expand and improve," Peck stated. "In our small town of Sidney, you can find things you can't find in other places. Come and check out all the great businesses in town."

Peck encourages anyone with questions or concerns to call the store at 406-433-4370, like them on Facebook for updates, or just stop by. ElectricLand is open Monday – Friday 9am to 6 pm and Saturday 9am to 5 pm in the Shops at Fox Run 410 N. Central Ave., Sidney.

ElectricLand in Sidney satisfies their customers' electronic needs.

Watford City Area Business Leaders Welcome Oil & Gas Economist

Watford City Area Chamber of Commerce and the Economic Development Corp. annual meeting featured speaker to discuss global oil market

Watford City, N.D.—The Watford City Area Chamber of Commerce and the Watford City Economic Development Corporation are pleased to announce that the annual meeting is scheduled for March 4th, 2015 at 5:30 pm and will be held at the Outlaw's Ballroom in Watford City. The event will include a social hour starting at 5:30 pm followed by dinner at 6:30 pm.

This year's featured speaker is Dr. Loren C. Scott, founder of Loren C. Scott & Associates, a Louisiana based consulting firm. Dr. Scott's presentation, "The Price of Oil: What Happened; how long will it last?" The presentation will address several key questions, including: When the price drops sharply and a lot who is the culprit; Did you notice the price drop started with the DOC decision to allow oil exports; What role does the Bakken play have in all this; Why should we be concerned about the "edges" in all the shale plays; Are oil prices going to stay this low or is there realistic hope for at least some reversal?

"The Bakken is one of the few economic engines in this country. We hope people will join us to learn more about this industry and what Dr. Scott has to say about the future of this industry," said Darick Franzen, Watford City Area Chamber of Commerce president.

In addition to the featured speaker presentation, the EDC will debut, "Voices of Watford City" a video-based program with a new website that features stories of Watford City residents in their own words. The goal of the project is to allow Watford City residents an opportunity to provide an informative, visual and dynamic place for those seeking information about the area. This video-based project will give a sense of what it's like to live and work in Watford City.

Tickets for the event are $50.00 per person. Anyone interested in attending should contact Mary Gumke chamber coordinator at 701-570-5084 or at wcchamber@restel.com.

About: The Watford City Area Chamber of Commerce serves, supports and promotes businesses in the Watford City, N.D. area. The chamber focuses on professional development, business development, community promotion and retail. The Watford City Economic Development Corporation is a private, non-profit organization working to expand existing business in the community and to create new business opportunities in the area.

African Trip Focus of ARS BrownBagger Feb. 27

Sidney ARS scientist Dave Branson takes the plow at a small subsistence farm in Mozambique.

By Beth Redlin

Cheetahs, and leopards and lions! Oh my! It may be an unusual topic, but it's one not to be missed in this, the second presentation in the USDA-Agricultural Research Service's Northern Plains Agricultural Research Laboratory (NPARL) 2015 BrownBagger series. This special "scientific safari" begins at noon on Friday, Feb. 27 and takes us to the southern tip of Africa with NPARRL Entomologist/Ecologist Dave Branson, who recently completed a month-long trip there. The event is open to the public.

Dr. Branson will share his explorations in a presentation entitled "Sustainable agriculture in Mozambique and ecosystems of Kruger National Park."

In his talk, he will highlight his travels to the country of Mozambique where he spent time in a rural subsistence farming community that remains without electricity. He will follow that with a discussion of his journey to Kruger National Park, a 5-million-acre preserve in South Africa. There he explored the park's savannah, grassland and dry woodland ecosystems, and its diverse community of herbivores and predators such as cheetahs, leopards, and lions. Oh yeah!

Bring your lunch and join us for this fun and informative scientific travelogue. We'll provide the treats!

NPARRL's 2015 BrownBagger series is held in the lab's Tech Transfer Room on Fridays, from noon to 1 p.m. The lab is located at 1500 N. Central Avenue in Sidney, MT.

Upcoming speakers in the 2015 BrownBagger series include:

- March 6 –Mark Dixon, Assoc. Biology Professor, Univ. of South Dakota , "Effects of the 2011 Flood on Cottonwood Forests along the Missouri River"
- March 20 – Upendra Sainju, NPARRL Soil Scientist, "Mulching and Nitrogen Fertilization Effects on Soil Water and Wheat Yield in China" (incorporating another interesting ag travelogue)
- March 27 – Ashok Alva, NPARRL Soil Scientist, "Nutrient and Irrigation Best Management Practices for Potato"

- April 3 – Lance Vermiere, ARS Range Ecologist, Miles City, MT, TBA

Lonsdale United Methodist Church to Hold Prom Drive

By Meagan Dotson

The Free Store at the Lonsdale United Methodist Church in Sidney, MT is taking donations for their Prom-drive, a second year event where those with a need for prom attire can come and shop for free. Items such as prom dresses, tuxedos, shoes, purses, hair accessories, and specialty undergarments such as strapless corsets will be made available and there are no income requirements.

"If you need a prom dress or tuxedo, come and get one," said Reverend Vicki Waddington who discussed the limited availability of formal wear in town. With cost being a factor for some families, traveling to purchase items for Prom can also be an inconvenience.

Saturday, March 14 the Free Store will hold a shopping day specifically for those who are looking for prom attire from 6:00 pm to 8:00 pm; dresses and tuxedos will be displayed in the church parlor. All items may be tried on to insure proper fit and all clothing and accessories can be donated back to the Free Store to be offered as Spring Fling attire or for next year's Prom-Drive.

The Free Store is requesting that all donations be in to them by March 13 so that items can be displayed. The church office is open from 9:00am to 12:00pm Monday through Friday and donations can be dropped off at the back door; there is a coat rack just inside On which clothing can be hung. The Free Store is also taking donated gift certificates from individuals and businesses for hair, nails and dinner and these will be given out based on availability. The Free Store is looking to borrow a full length mirror for their specialty shopping day on March 14. Anyone looking for more information on donating or anyone interested in volunteering their time during the Prom-Drive shopping event can call the church office at 406-433-3110.

Tribal College Debate To Expand Following Grant Renewal

Submitted by Jenny McPhail, BILLINGS – With the recent renewal of the Tribal College Debate Grant, RMC's debate team anticipates providing more opportunities for debating during the Spring 2015 semester.

"The Tribal College debate program hopes to expand to more colleges," said RMC's Associate Professor of Communication Studies Shelby Jo Long-Hammond. "We are currently in discussion with two other tribal colleges in eastern Montana for workshop sessions during this semester."

The RMC debate team has already been hard at work, spending the first week in February at Little Big Horn College for workshops and mini-debate sessions. Throughout the week, RMC debate team members conducted argumentation exercises with students from Professor Luella Brien's class at Little Big Horn College. Brien is the Professor of Communication Arts at Little Big Horn College.

During the workshops and mini-debates, RMC's debate team had the chance to engage with the students at Little Big Horn College about issues that were controversial on the reservation. They also explored some feasible and practical solutions.

The program is part of the Tribal College Debate Grant, which was awarded to Long-Hammond in April 2013. Long-Hammond received the $34,000 grant to launch a pilot debate program, which began on tribal campuses, including Little Big Horn College, Chief Dull Knife College, and other tribal colleges. The grant was renewed in 2014 for another year and a half.

"Cultural engagement is really powerful," said Long-Hammond. Her hope is for this program to provide debate education and professional speaking at these tribal colleges, as they have a stake in many important social, political, and environmental issues. There are a number of political debates currently affecting Native American reservations in Montana, including coal and coal-bed-methane mining, subsidies for agriculture, and many other environmental policies.

Long-Hammond believes that a debate network in these tribal schools will help provide an opportunity for college students to develop essential critical thinking and professional communication skills necessary for discussion of the political debates that confront these particular areas of Montana. "There is an importance to being able to discuss multiple political and environmental issues on the reservation, but many of the skills we practice are career preparation," said Long-Hammond.

Long-Hammond described how the Tribal College debate program has focused on the fundamentals of debate, including basic argumentation, critical thinking, and public speaking. "By taking out the structure of debate and making it more curricular, it is less intimidating," said Long-Hammond.

The workshops conducted at the tribal colleges focus on the importance of debate and argumentation education, with critical thinking exercises. They discuss the elements of a basic argument and practice argument construction with different resolutions. During the week, the students work on refutation, fallacies, and engagement of arguments. Following the basic understanding of argument structure, students engage some of their ideas and arguments in a mini-debate.

"A new project we are working on for this semester is a debate tournament with Chief Dullknife College, Little Big Horn College, and RMC," said Long-Hammond. "With the tremendous support we have had from Luella Brien and Kate Bertain at each of these colleges, we feel that there is an established infrastructure to conduct a debate between our colleges. We anticipate a debate tournament toward the end of the semester."

The Tribal College Debate Grant was awarded by Open Society Institute through International Debate Education Association (IDEA), an organization that has been in existence for over 20 years and works with young people from all over the world. Long-Hammond is part of IDEA and has taught at camps in Bosnia, Slovenia, and Mexico, just to name a few.

You can follow the RMC Debate Team's work with the grant at <http://www.tribalcollegedebate.com/tcd-blog>, or on Facebook and Twitter by following the RMC Debate page. All students are welcome to attend practices in Morledge-Kimball Hall room 125 on Tuesdays and Thursday from 4:00 to 5:00 p.m. For more information or questions, contact Shelby Jo Long-Hammond at longsj@rocky.edu.

Pesticide Certification Trainings Scheduled

By Warren Froliech
Every three years both private (farm operators) and commercial applicators must be re-certified to legally purchase and apply herbicides, insecticides, fungicides and fumigants. For private applicators the certification applies only to those pesticides that are classified as “restricted use”. For commercial applicators certification is a “must” for all pesticides.

To assist in the certification process we have scheduled a training meeting for private applicators on Wednesday, March 18, 9:30 a.m. – 12:30 p.m. in conjunction with the KUMV TV Farm and Ranch Trade Show held at the Raymond Family Community Center. This training does not include fumigation which is different from the training for the application of herbicides, insecticides and fungicides.

That same day, March 18, a separate training for commercial and private applicators of fumigation materials will be held in the conference room of the Broadway Commons Building, 302 East Broadway, Williston, starting at 9:30 a.m. and ending around 2:30 p.m. Because the trainings on March 18 conflict for some private applicators, another fumigation training is scheduled on Tuesday, March 24, 10 a.m. – 3 p.m., also in the Broadway Commons.

Commercial applicators of herbicides, insecticides and fungicides can be certified or recertified on Thursday, March 12, 8 a.m. – 4 p.m. at the Ernie French Center located on the campus of the NDSU Research Extension Center located west of Williston approximately one mile west of the highways 2 and 85 junction.

Sometimes there is confusion between fungicides and fumigants. In brief, fungicides are used in the farm community to control diseases of plants whereas fumigants are commonly used to control insects in stored grain.

If you have any questions about any of these pesticide certification trainings, please feel free to call me at 701-577-4595.

Cow Nutrition Requirements Increase

Most of the beef cows in this area are now in the last trimester of their pregnancy. During this time, about 70 percent of fetal growth occurs. This growth draws heavily on the cow’s energy reserves and if not immediately replaced she will rapidly lose weight resulting in reduced performance of her calf and likely will negatively impact her fertility and ability to conceive in time to keep her on a 365 day schedule.

Because of the rapid fetal growth at this time, the daily nutrient allowance should increase 15 to 20 percent. Simply changing the components of the cow’s ration from low quality roughages to higher quality feeds will often provide adequate upgrading of the cow’s ration for the last trimester of pregnancy.

Protein and phosphorus needs increase 50 to 100 percent from mid-pregnancy to lactation. Daily calcium needs increase even more sharply, especially for high milk producing cows.

Feeding some grain to cows is a practical means of increasing both energy and protein intake. Roughly each pound of grain is equivalent to 2 to 2.5 pounds of good hay.

Undernourishment of cows during gestation often results in little change in calving success but usually results in longer postpartum rebreeding intervals and greater percentages of open cows the next year.
