The Neal Hermanson Memorial Ranch Rodeo To Be Held This Weekend

By Dianne Swanson

The Neal Hermanson Memorial Ranch Rodeo and Calcutta will take place on Friday, September 7 beginning at 6 p.m. at the Richland County Fairgrounds in Sidney. Admission is only $5 with children 5 and under admitted free.

The four events of the rodeo, including team trailering, team doctoring, team mugging and saddle bronc riding, promise great action and fun as the cowboys show off their skills.

Little buckaroos can get in on the action too, by participating in mutton bustin' and stick horse races.

The rodeo has been held each year since 2009 in memory of Neal Hermanson who died in a tragic accident in 2008.

100% of the proceeds from the rodeo go towards The Empty Saddle Memorial Foundation. With "Mend them, Teach them" as the foundation's motto, the goal is to honor the lost horsemen of the area. This year, Gene Koch will be inducted into the foundation during the rodeo.

Their stories will continue to be told with the goal of inspiring youth to work toward developing positive relationships with their horses, improving their horsemanship skills and exemplifying what it means to be a true horseman and individual. In the past nine years, the foundation has worked to honor these inductees by helping out with the educational and the medical needs of our area youth.

This spring 16 scholarships were given to area graduates, as well as medical aid to one individual. If you would like to help preserve this heritage, please help by giving to the Empty Saddle Memorial Foundation.

Plan now for an eventful Friday night watching real ranch competition at the Neal Hermanson Ranch Rodeo.

Aspiring Bull Rider Creates West River Hat Company

By Anna Dragseth

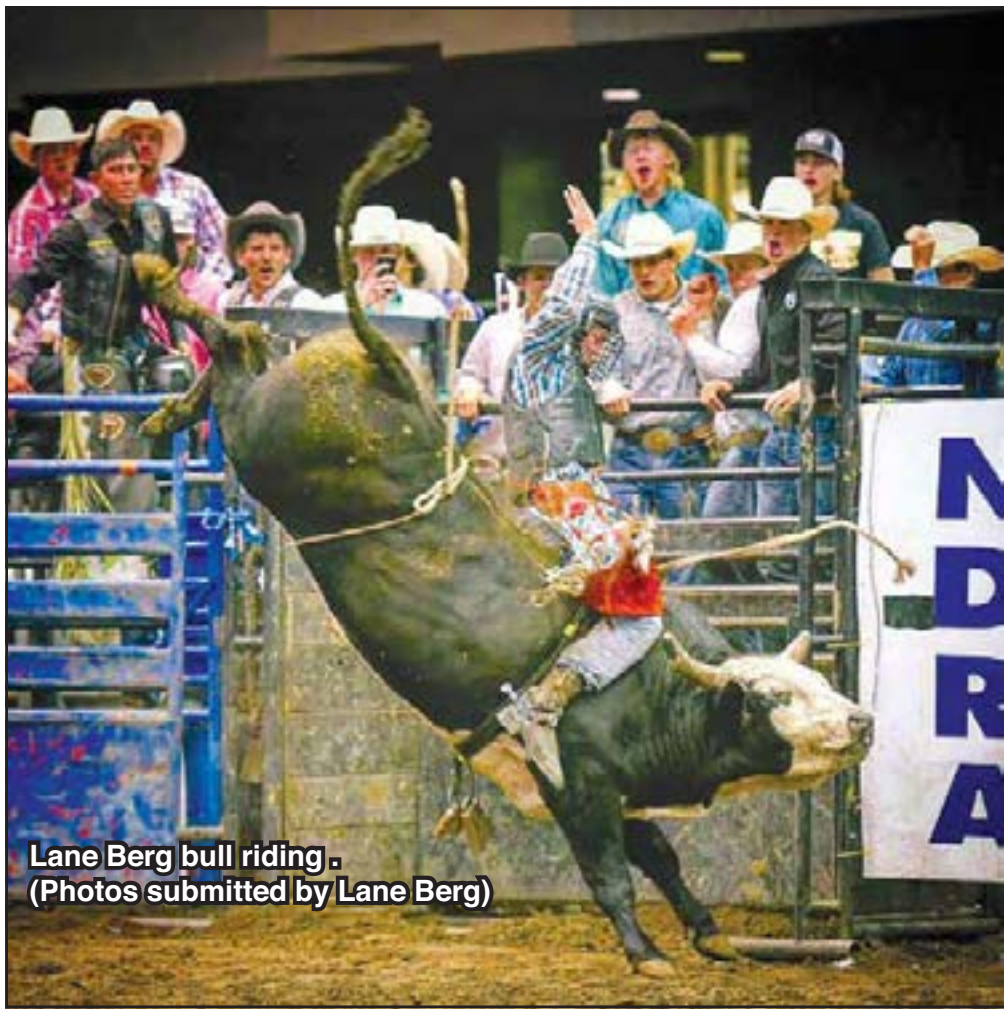

What once started out as a dream is slowly turning into reality for Lane Berg, an aspiring bull rider, entrepreneur, and student at Dickinson State University.

Berg grew up on a farm 40 miles west of Fargo, North Dakota where he and his family raised beef and longhorn cattle. "I grew up raising cattle and helping neighbors as a ranch hand," said Berg. He attended high school at Central Cass and is now attending college at Dickinson State University (DSU) in Dickinson, ND where he is pursuing a degree in Agricultural Business.

Through his rodeo career, Berg has already claimed titles for 2010 Junior High National Qualifier in bull-riding, 2011 Junior High Qualifier in chute dogging, 2011-2018 Roughrider Rodeo Final Qualifier for bull-riding and steer wrestling, 2013-2018 Western Edge Bull Riders Finals Qualifier for bull-riding, 2015 High School National Qualifier for bull-riding and steer wrestling, and 2015-2017 North Dakota Rodeo Finals Qualifier for bull-riding.

His biggest accomplishments were making the high school and junior high finals. "It is such a great opportunity for any kid at that age to meet other kids from all around the world. Being able to showcase your skills on that level is awesome. I have won many rodeos and bull riding competitions around the state of North Dakota," explained Berg. He has rodeoed across the midwest and as far south as New Mexico.

Berg notes that he has always wanted to rodeo. "I have always dreamed of being a cowboy," said Berg. He started riding sheep at three years of age, then gradually worked his way up to riding bulls at age nine. Growing up, Berg watched bull riding videos. "I have always wanted to be one of those guys riding on TV. I watched the movie, "8 Seconds" until I almost wore the tape out," said Berg.

"I have been rodeoing almost religiously my whole life. I grew up rodeoing at a lot of local rodeos around my area then graduated to Junior Rodeo where I qualified for Nationals twice, then to high school rodeo where I qualified two times as well. All while doing many associations around the state like Roughrider Rodeo Association, Western Edge Bull Riders Association, and the NDRA Rodeo Association all around North Dakota," said Berg.

Some of Berg's role models are JB Mauney, PBR World Champion Bull Rider, and his dad. "JB Mauney rides the rankest bulls and doesn't quit until his head hits the ground, the guy is an all-around cowboy. But I think my biggest role model is my dad. He has worked his tail off for everything he has earned in his life and growing up seeing that made me want to work as hard as I can to achieve part of what he has worked for. My

E-rase Your E-waste Set For September 7-8 In Sidney

By Beth Redlin

It's that time of year again! Let us help you clean out your closets for fall! The annual E-rase your E-waste collection event is coming up on Friday and Saturday, Sept. 7-8 in Sidney and MonDak area residents are invited to bring their damaged and outdated electronic equipment for free recycling. Now in its 14th year, E-rase your E-waste has recycled approximately 460,000 pounds (230 TONS!) of electronic waste to date!

Yellowstone E-waste Solutions of Billings is again the e-cycler for the event and provides their services for FREE, with a couple of exceptions. Participants wanting their hard drives removed from their computers or needing documentation certifying that their hard drive has been destroyed will need to pay a small fee of $5 for each of those services.

Collection Location / Times

The 2018 E-rase your E-waste collection will again be held at the Richland County Shop at 2140 W. Holly in Sidney, next to the Fairgrounds. Signs will be posted. Times for the event are Friday 3-7 pm and Saturday 9 am - 3 pm. Please note, the county shop is available for drop offs during event times ONLY.

What Can I Bring? These...

Nearly all electronic devices are accepted, including computers and their components (printers, scanners, keyboards, flat screen monitors, etc.), cell phones, cameras, VCRs, cable TV boxes, fax machines, copiers, stereos, game boys and specialized electronic equipment used in businesses such as hospitals, law enforcement, manufacturing and even the oil field.

But Not These....!

Organizers noted that there are a few item limitations again this fall. Unfortunately, cathode ray tube (CRT) monitors or televisions of any kind are still NOT being accepted, only flat screen models. Also NO projection TV units or consoles. Other limitations include the standards: NO consumer white goods, vacuums, light bulbs, CFLs, mercury thermometers, alkaline batteries (rechargeable are okay), or items containing refrigerants (including dehumidifiers), oils, or acids. In addition, this year the following items will not be accepted although they have been in the past: NO alarm clocks/radios, small kitchen or bathroom appliances, microwave ovens, smoke detectors, or vacuum cleaners.

If you are unsure whether your item qualifies check out the handy "What to Bring..." handout posted on the US-DA-ARS Northern Plains Agricultural Research Lab's e-waste website at <https://www.ars.usda.gov/pa/nparl/ewaste> or call Beth Redlin at 406-433-9427. In addition, a handy "Items List" recycling form is also available at the website to further speed processing for participants bringing both large and small amounts.

Recycling Large Amounts

Local businesses, agencies and organizations with large amounts to e-cycle are asked to make an appointment to drop off their items by calling Beth Redlin at 406-433-9427 or email beth.redlin@ars.usda.gov.

Where possible larger recyclers are also encouraged to palletize their own items, or send extra staff to help get it done. Details on acceptable items and how to palletize them can be found in the "What to Bring..." handout posted to the USDA-ARS Northern Plains Agricultural Research Lab's e-waste website noted above.

The "E-rase your E-waste" effort in Sidney is coordinated by members of the Richland County Local Emergency Planning Committee (LEPC), DA-ARS Northern Plains Agricultural Research Lab in Sidney. The Richland County Public Works Department also makes their facilities freely available for the collection event.

Yellowstone County Reports First West Nile Virus Death in Montana in 2018

BILLINGS, MT – RiverStone Health and the Montana Department of Public Health and Human Services have reported the first human death this year in Montana from West Nile Virus (WNV). The death was reported in an elderly Yellowstone County male who died after a brief stay in a Billings hospital. This is the first WNV associated death in the state since 2016.
As of August 29th, there were 19 confirmed human cases of WNV in Montana appearing in Carbon, Cascade, Lewis and Clark, McCone, Roosevelt, Toole, Valley, and Yellowstone counties. There have been two cases of WNV in Yellowstone County this year. WNV season usually begins in July and ends in October in Montana.
The number of WNV human infections in Montana varies from year to year. Since 2003, when WNV tracking began, Montana has had two years with more than two hundred cases reported: 2003–228 cases and 2007–201 cases. The average number of cases in Montana for the time period 2003-2017 is 36. In nine of the 15 year reporting period, there were less than 10 cases reported for the year. Last year, Montana had 11 human cases of WNV reported.
Only certain mosquitoes carry West Nile Virus and it is spread to people through bites. There is no vaccine to prevent WNV so the most effective way to prevent infection is to minimize the risk of mosquito bites by following the 4Ds. The 4Ds of West Nile Virus prevention are:
1. DEET: Use insect repellent containing DEET or picaridin. A solution with 25 percent to 35 percent DEET is best but children ages 2-12 should use repellent with no more than 10 percent DEET.
2 Drain: Empty standing water around your house to prevent mosquitoes breeding.
3 Dawn/Dusk: Mosquitoes are most active during dawn and dusk so stay inside during these times or take precautions to prevent bites.
4. Dress: Protect yourself from bites by wearing long-sleeved shirts and pants while outside.
About four out of five people infected with WNV have no symptoms. About one in five infected people will experience mild symptoms that may include headache and muscle aches, joint pain, vomiting, diarrhea or a rash. Those cases usually require no treatment. Less than 1 in 100 people who become infected develop serious infections in or around the brain, also known as neuroinvasive disease. Life-threatening symptoms include headache, rash, high fever, stiff neck, mental confusion, and other symptoms. Individuals who develop any of these symptoms should see their healthcare provider immediately.
For more information about WNV, visit the Montana Department of Public Health and Human Services website at: https://dphhs.mt.gov

Managing diabetes can be tough, but support from health care providers, diabetes educators, community resources and friends and family can make it much easier. The first step to better managing diabetes and high blood sugar is to learn more about it.

Montana State University Extension is partnering with others to offer a series of six, free diabetes classes. These classes provide informative and interactive ways to help people with diabetes or pre-diabetes (high blood sugar)

- Understand diabetes and how it affects the entire body;
- Manage diabetes in a way that makes sense for them and their individual health goals;
- Become more informed members of their health care teams, as they continue to work with their doctors, diabetes educators and other health care providers to improve their health.

The series kicks off Tuesday, September 11, at the Richland County Health Department 1201 W. Holly Street, from 12:05 to 1:35 p.m. Classes then meet every Tuesday through October 16. Anyone interested can register by calling the MSU/Richland County Extension Office at 433-1206.

The classes support, not replace, professional diabetes self-management education. They are designed for people with Medicare, but anyone with diabetes or pre-diabetes is welcome to attend.

Washington Student Thanks Eastern Montana for Help with Project

By Stephanie Ler

In January of this year, The Roundup printed a request from Josiah, a fifth grade student from Payallup, Washington, tasked with collecting information about Montana for a school project. The Roundup readers were more than generous in helping Josiah, leading to him earning an A+ on his project.

Josiah was assigned Montana for Cascade Christian Elementary School's state project, which included collecting information and crafting both a written report and a float display. Josiah contacted The Roundup to help collect the information.

According to his mother, Jana, Josiah received several license plates, Montana magnets, maps, and information on Montana tourism, and lots of postcards. He received information on past sheriff Ted O'Brien, along with a copy of his 1903 ledger and a photo of the famous Fairview bank robbers. "We received information on the sugar factory and we also got grains from a reader, including lentils, yellow peas and spring wheat. I really appreciate all the help Josiah got from the readers in Montana," said Jana. Josiah even received an entire cowboy outfit, including a cowboy shirt, belt and hat. Josiah chose to wear the hat for his presentation.

His favorite gifts were rattlesnake tails, information on the CM Russel Museum, and the cowboy hat. "It was awesome! I am an expert on Montana now," he said, and would like to visit the state someday.

The School held an assembly for the 5th grade students to show off their projects. "The whole 5th grade went into the gym and the rest of the grades came around and looked at the float and asked questions for candy," Josiah explained.

Josiah is thankful for the help he received from The Roundup readers and proud of the outcome of his project.

Fifth grader Josiah from Payallup, Washington shows off his school project focusing on Montana.

Watford City to Host Free Welcome Event Sept. 14

Moving to a new place is easier when you get plugged into your community. That's why the Watford City Economic Development Corporation, McKenzie County Job Development Authority and Watford City Area Chamber of Commerce are hosting the first community Welcome to Watford Celebration, September 14, 2018 from 5-7 pm at the Rough Rider Center in Watford City.

Whether you've been in the community for a week or a hundred years, the celebration is designed to help you learn more about the area and how to get involved.

"As of today close to forty organizations, businesses and houses of worship have registered to have tables at our event, and we're expecting more as the event gets closer," said Daniel Stenberg, McKenzie County Economic Development Director. "It will be a great way to get filled in on how to do life well out here and to connect with one another and the people and organizations that make Watford and McKenzie County such a great place to live and work."

Free appetizers as well as bouncy houses, kids' art activities and babysitting by Wolf Pup Daycare will be available for your children as you browse the booths. Drawings will be held for Watford City and McKenzie County themed experiences. After the event, guests can walk over to the football field and enjoy the beautiful new facility and a varsity home game.

Aspiring Bull Rider Creates...

mom and him have done everything in their power to make my brother, and my dreams come true."

Berg's parents are not only his biggest role models but also supporters. "I'd have to say my parents are also my biggest supporters. They try to attend as many rodeos as they can no matter how long the distance is, and not many parents do that, so I'm very lucky and grateful. I am grateful to have such a strong support system. From all my family, friends, coaches, and critics they push me to be my best."

Berg's goal is to ultimately become a World Champion Bull Rider. "I enjoy the rush, climbing into the chute hearing the roar of the crowd in the background and strapping onto a bull. Riding an animal that wants to do everything in its power to throw me off while trying to match it move for move. There is no feeling like it in the world when I stay on the bull for eight seconds. Jumping off the bull and hearing the crowd is awesome, I feel like I am on top of the world," said Berg.

Aside from riding bulls, Berg started his own hat company in December of 2017 which is called, West River Hat Company. "West River Hat Company started from a couple of other guys here at Dickinson State and myself. My friends came up with the idea, and I have always been interested in doing something like it, so we sketched the design for it, and it turned out perfect. Although my other friends are no longer in the business with me, we stay in touch about ideas and advice. I only started selling my products just around Christmas time in 2017, and it surprised me how fast it took off. I want it to be as big as the Hooey and Cinch brands of the world. It's a long road, but quality products and personal relationships can get me there. I hope to continuously grow my company with more products, not only hats but something for everyone to wear and feel comfortable in. I'm trying to hit all sorts of audiences too. I want to see everyone in my products no matter the lifestyles. I want to offer affordable clothing with a good look and feel to it," explained Berg. He has the hats for sale at Saddle Up in Watford City, ND. He also has his own website, www.westriverhatco.com, where he sells hats and t-shirts.

Berg will be graduating in May with a degree in Agricultural Business and after college Berg hopes his hat company and bull riding career will take off. Berg said, "After college, I'm not sure what's in store for me, but I hope to make a career out of bull riding. I've put in a ton of work and effort into practicing and preparing mentally. I hope West River Hat Company will take off as a big part-time job that I can do while rodeoing. I've thought of a few other careers, but for now, I'm going to go with the flow and follow God's plan."

MEDORA, N.D. – The popular History Alive programs at the Chateau de Mores State. Historic Site during/ September include portrayal of the Madame de Mores. Presentations will be held on the Chateau veranda on Saturdays and Sundays at 10:30 a.m., 1:30 p.m., and 3:30 p.m. (MT). History Alive programs are free and open to the public.

The Madame de Mores (Medora) will appear at the Chateau Sept. 8. Portrayed by Karen Nelson, this program will center on Madame de Mores' return to Medora in 1903 after spending summers at the Chateau from 1883 to 1886. Visitors will meet Madame in a brief retrospective on her time in western Dakota as well as her life following her return to France.

The free History Alive programs explore the lives and times of decades gone by, combining theater arts with history. The 20-minute monologues are based on original letters, diaries, and other documents, many from the archives of the State Historical Society of North Dakota.

The Chateau de Mores is a state historic site managed by the State Historical Society of North Dakota. The Chateau de Mores site and Interpretive Center near Medora is open daily, 8:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m. (MT). Long X Arts Foundation and Watford City Parks and Recreation to offer Youth Art Classes

The Long X Arts Foundation is teaming up with Watford City Parks and Recreation to offer a wide variety of art classes for kids of all ages. Class sessions will be weekly starting September 10 through November 16 at the Rough Rider Center.

"This partnership with Parks and Recreation is exciting because it provides us more support as an organization and allows us to provide a wider variety of classes that are more accessible and affordable for our youth," said Jessie Scofield, McKenzie County Tourism Art and Event Director.

All classes will be taught by artist and teacher Mary McCullough and include a two-day a week Preschool art class, weekly Homeschool Classes, a bi-weekly Parent and Me Art class for Pre-K students, and a twice a week After School Art Class.

The After School Art Class is included in the Rough Rider Center's After School Program, but is also open to students not enrolled in that after school program.

For more information on the classes visit www.
