Toys for Tikes Fundraiser July 25th in Watford City

By Anna Dragseth

On Tuesday, July 25th there will be a "Toys for Tikes" fundraiser from 5:00 pm to 8:00 pm at the Watford City Tourist Park. There will be a free will donation supper served at the event along with live music performed by local musicians. Attendants are encouraged to bring an unwrapped toy or gift for children from the ages of six months to 17 years old. There will be games, competition for the best "July Christmas Tree", Christmas goodies, and drinks served by local businesses. Santa will also be at the event dressed in his Hawaiian attire. "After seeing such a huge need for toys last year at the Children's Christmas Party, we decided to do a fundraiser so that we could provide more toys for the children," said

Stacey Arnegard.

All proceeds will go towards The Bakken Oil Rush Ministry and the toys will be used for the Children's Christmas Party in December. The Bakken Oil Rush Ministry, located in Watford City, is a nonprofit organization that is serving the area with the intention of meeting the psychological, emotional, and spiritual needs of the people who have made their homes in oilfield country. They have provided free meals, toys, clothing, and holiday celebrations for families that are away from home on the holidays. They have also opened up a Bakken Thrift Center in Watford City. For more information on the event, you can contact Laura Sanford at (701) 300-1386 or Stacy Arnegard at (701) 770-7492.

22 years. Her coworkers say she is dedicated to the residents, often putting the needs of others before her own needs. "She has been on the front line providing care and compassion to all who need it, and never asks for anything in return."

Brad Stover, representing Dispatch, received the award for Responder of the Year. Brad is described by those who nominated him as going above and beyond what is expected. Brad is passionate about his job, and teaching new skills he learns to those he works with. He is patient and dedicated to public service. "Brad is a great asset to the McKenzie County Sheriff's Department!"

Montana, North Dakota Delegations Urge Support for Critical Dam

U.S. Senators Steve Daines (R-MT), Jon Tester (D-MT), John Hoeven (R-ND) and Heidi Heitkamp (D-ND) and U.S. Representatives Greg Gianforte (R-MT) and Kevin Cramer (R-ND) today voiced strong support for the Lower Yellowstone Irrigation Project (LYIP) which provides a critical source of water for farmers and ranchers in Montana and North Dakota.

The members sent a letter to the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and Bureau of Reclamation urging those agencies to continue to support the project and not reallocate funding currently provided for the LYIP.

On July 5, U.S. District Court Judge Brian Morris granted an injunction that will further delay construction on the fish passage around the LYIP weir.

"This project is critical to close to four hundred farms and irrigates over 50,000 acres of cropland," the members wrote. "That is why we also encourage you to address the concerns of the Court and conduct the necessary analyses in a timely manner, thereby ensuring that this essential source of water for farmers, ranchers, and communities throughout much of northeastern Montana and northwestern North Dakota is not unduly disrupted."

Public Advisory Sidney Roustabout Construction

The construction of the Roustabout at the intersection of Highway 16 and Highways 200/23 south of Sidney that was scheduled to begin the week of July 10 has been postponed until at least July 24.

Lower Yellowstone Irrigation District Releases Official Statement Regarding Injunction Ruling on Fish Passage Project

In Highest regards of Senator Steve Daines, Senator Jon Tester, Senator Heidi Heitkamp, Senator John Hoeven, Congressman Greg Gianforte, and Congressman Kevin Cramer's continual efforts to protect U.S. citizens,

The Lower Yellowstone Irrigation Project, Savage, Intake, Lower Yellowstone Montana, Lower Yellowstone North Dakota Irrigation Districts, and all the communities that are supported by the Lower Yellowstone Irrigation Project, would like to express our Sincere Gratitude for Senator Daines, Senator Tester, Senator Heitkamp, Senator Hoeven, Congressman Gianforte, and Congressman Cramer for showing true Leadership by working with each other across state and party lines to encourage the Army Corp of Engineers to not cancel their contract to build the necessary fish bypass and fish friendly concrete weir. They signed a letter together strongly encouraging the federal agencies to work together and support and to protect the 108 year old federal diversion weir that delivers the absolutely necessary water to grow the crops in three counties and 2 states. These irrigated crops feed people and livestock in several surrounding states reliably even in these times of extreme drought. This funding is critical to the Agriculture supported economies and businesses in several states.

We appreciate their prompt actions and leadership that they have shown in meeting with and sending letters to numerous federal agencies, explaining the importance of this project to the economy and communities of the United States. Your ability to work with and gather active support from leaders of different states, agencies, and different political parties, is a sign of true Leadership. The Lower Yellowstone Irrigation Project and communities from two neighboring states support these Senators and Congressmen. They are in touch with the needs of the people they represent and their neighbors so well!

With Sincere Gratitude from the Savage, Intake, Lower Yellowstone Montana, Lower Yellowstone North Dakota Irrigation Districts,

James Brower
Project Manager

Merchants Bank, Fairview, To Celebrate With Open House

Merchants Bank in Fairview will celebrate its 5th anniversary, the bank's 75th anniversary, the completely remodeled building, new branch president Niel McWalter, and the semi-retirement of Leslie Tveit all on Friday, July 21 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Lunch will be served from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

From a new look on the exterior, to new offices and a welcoming, efficient space on the interior, Merchants Bank has a fresh, modern feel that visitors and customers will enjoy. Niel McWalter joined Merchants Bank as its branch president in mid December of 2016 and welcomes this opportunity to get acquainted with more people in the area.

The Fairview Bank opened on December 6, 1941, the day before Pearl Harbor, with Duncan Noyes as president. The original stately old building still stands on Ellery Avenue. Seventy-nine businessmen and farmers formed the original stockholders with $25,000 in capital stock. The first week of business showed total loans of $150 and total savings accounts of $363. Total interest received the first week was $1.

In 1953, Fairview Bank moved to its current location and then doubled its size in 1963. By then, deposits totaled $6,753,397.62. Walter Shires was president at that time.

On October 14, 2011, the bank was purchased by Merchants Bank of Rugby, which was chartered in 1897. The descendants of one of the original founders, William D. McClintock of Towner, ND, own Merchants Bank to this day.

No matter the bank name or location, the bank has always offered full service with a smile. "We take care of everyone like we want to be taken care of," said vice president Leslie Tveit.

Elder Promoted to Market President as Bank Prepares for Move to New Location

Market President Wade Elder in front of the new Cornerstone Bank in Watford City.

Wade Elder is enjoying an exciting start to his role as Market President at Cornerstone Bank as the bank prepares to move to their brand new bank location in July.

Elder joined the bank in 2012 as a business banker. He has over 30 years of experience in banking in North Dakota and Montana. He succeeds former Market President Dale Patten who retired on March 31 after a distinguished career of more than 33 years in banking.

Originally from Beulah, North Dakota, Elder holds an Associates degree from Bismarck State College and attended the University of Mary. He is a past President of the Watford City Chamber of Commerce.

When asked about his new role as Market President, Elder says, "It's a pleasure to provide community banking with a team of bankers who truly care about our customers and our communities."

In his spare time, Wade enjoys muscle cars and classic rock 'n' roll. He and his wife Susan reside in Watford City. Their daughter lives in the Seattle area and their two sons and grandchildren live in Bozeman.

In addition to a change in Market President, Cornerstone Bank is also about to make a change in location. On Monday, July 24, Cornerstone Bank will open for business at their new building located at 106 8th Ave SE (on Hwy 85 to the east across from Heggen Equipment) in Watford City. In preparation for the relocation, the lobby at their existing location (500 2nd Ave SW) will close at noon on Friday, July 21, but the drive-up will be open until 5:00 p.m. as usual. The bank will be closed entirely on Saturday, July 22. In addition to the beautiful, well planned inside of the building, the new location will also offer the added convenience of a drive up ATM and better parking.

Elder says, "We have outgrown our current location and are very excited about the new bank that will better fit our team member and customer needs."

An open house celebrating the new bank is being planned for September.

Cornerstone Holding Company, based in North Dakota, is the parent company of Cornerstone Bank. One of North Dakota's ten largest financial institutions, Cornerstone Holding Company is an $820 million financial institution. Cornerstone Bank has North Dakota locations in Bismarck, Dickinson, Fargo, Makoti, New Town, Parshall, Plaza, Watford City and a South Dakota location in Sioux Falls. There are Cornerstone Mortgage offices in Grand Forks and Minot, North Dakota along with Aberdeen, South Dakota. Cornerstone Bank provides an expansive product offering while staying true to their mission of providing access to financial experts who give straight answers and the best possible financial options. Cornerstone's offerings include business and personal loans, deposits and cash management services, online and mobile banking along with mortgage services.

Sunshine Showers

By Lois Stephens

I love the sun. I understand completely why the ancients worshipped this blazing disc. Giver of life, casting brightness to light our path, increasing one's sense of well-being; John Denver hit the nail on the head. Sunshine on my shoulders DOES make me happy.

Given my complete appreciation of the sun, it makes sense that solar gadgets and the idea of harnessing the sun's power intrigues me. I own a vast array of solar powered objects, from flashlights and lanterns to reading lamps and power packs that charge small items, as well as several outdoor decorations that wink and flash after dark, offering cheerful colors and reminding me that tomorrow the sun will return to warm me again.

Although our cabin has arrived, it has no power, water, or sewer capacity yet, so we are still roughing it 21st century style. I take full advantage of all my solar objects, from the lamp that lights my keyboard at night to the small clip-on reading light I use when I actually have time to sit down and enjoy a book. We have installed solar powered motion night lights, and we plan to install a few solar panels on the cabin to power small appliances and lights.

Solar powered tools have not disappointed me for the most part, but one of them has taken us some trial and error before we got it fully functional. I refer here to our expectations when it comes to solar shower kits. I have always loved the idea of taking a shower with water warmed by the sun. I remember old cowboy movies where dirty old men bathed in horse troughs with water heated by the sun's rays. These men always seemed to totally enjoy their time immersed in solar heated water. I figured that with us roughing it, so to speak, this summer offered the perfect time to install our own solar shower.

A few months ago we purchased a five gallon solar shower kit. I eagerly awaited its arrival. The day the kit arrived, we experienced an early June snowstorm, followed by several days of cool, cloudy weather. Naturally this placed somewhat of a damper on my ability to enjoy sun-warmed water in the great outdoors.

The weather finally cleared. My husband took this opportunity to fill our new five gallon solar water bag with cool water from our spring. He had the bag three quarters full when this finely made product split at the seams, dumping the entire contents on my husband's legs. He was not amused. Sometimes no shower feels better than an unexpected cold one.

Undaunted, we came up with a new plan. We looked around and found a 30 gallon RV poly water tank, perfect for our needs. It had inlets at the top for filling and an outlet at the bottom to attach the shower hose. My ingenious husband also installed an on-off valve on the shower hose for easy control of water flow. He painted the tank black, mounted it on a shed roof that enjoys full sunshine for most of the day, filled our new acquisition with water, and stepped back to let the sun do its job.

Of course the weather promptly went south for another week. The tank sat unused on the roof shed for yet another span of days.

Summer finally almost arrived, in a way. We experienced hot days but nights still cooled off enough that anything warmed during the day lost its heat over night. This included our shower, of course. I looked at that tank sitting patiently on the roof, and one day after work, I decided the day had warmed sufficiently that our shower ought to work to some extent.

I tried out our new shower, standing in the great outdoors with a thin stream of water coursing over my body. The water did NOT feel very warm, I forgot that this spring water would also be soft water so I didn't need the amount of soap I had liberally doused on the washcloth, and I also recalled an elementary science lesson that both my husband and I had forgotten. A wading pool heats a lot faster than a swimming pool, ergo a ten gallon water tank would heat a lot faster than our thirty gallon one. When I mentioned this fact to my husband, he complained that when he worked in Nevada, his thirty gallon tank on top of his RV ALWAYS had hot water ready for showering. I pointed out to him that the mountains of Montana did not exactly have the same sort of climate as the 100 plus degree heat he had experienced in Nevada.

So, I took my first solar shower, but it was not the warm comforting kind of shower that I expected. Oh well, hot weather loomed on the horizon, according to the weatherman. And hot weather DID arrive. I took my second sun-warmed shower in late June, and although the water still was not particularly hot, it really felt good as the 85 degree air temperature combined with the blazing sun kept me well warmed.

Full summer finally arrived in July. The 4th of July week we experienced very hot days along with nights that didn't cool down much, which made a perfect combination for a stubborn old lady determined to make the solar shower scheme a success. I took an outdoor shower in water warmed by the sun on July 4. It felt great, the water still wasn't overly warm, but it worked. I emerged clean and refreshed, and that lukewarm water didn't cost me a dime to heat. Since then, the tank has slowly emptied and the water has heated up, so I truly enjoy my outdoor bathing experience. By the time I shut off the water flow, the combination of blazing sun and light breeze dries me in under a minute.

I continue to learn how to use this shower setup. I use just a dab of body wash, I have learned to go with the flow, as if a gust of wind comes up, it blows the stream of water emerging from the shower head off to the side so I need to lean to that side as well to adequately rinse. There isn't enough pressure coming out of the shower head to adequately rinse my hair, so I still rely on the off-site shower arrangements when I decide to wash my hair. Otherwise, I see the rest of this summer filled with outdoor showers under water heated by the sun's rays. Just like those grizzled old cowboys in the movies, I too smile with pleasure while standing under my homemade shower. Now I am truly roughing it, 21st century style.

FWP Sites In Richland County Entering Stage 1 Fire Restrictions

Effective Tuesday, June 13th at 12:00 a.m., Richland County entered into Stage 1 fire restrictions. Fish, Wildlife & Parks follows the county's lead in placing fire restrictions on its properties within that county, so campfire and smoking restrictions also will be in place at Sidney Bridge Fishing Access Site, Diamond Willow FAS, Gartside Reservoir FAS, Elk Island FAS and Wildlife Management Area, Fox Lake WMA and Seven Sisters WMA.

Stage 1 restrictions mean that people cannot build or maintain a campfire. People also may not smoke except within an enclosed vehicle or building, a developed recreation site, or while stopped in an area at least three feet in diameter that is cleared of flammable materials. Recreationists may cook on a liquid petroleum gas or propane stove that can be turned on and off.

These restrictions at FWP sites will be in place until further notice. FWP urges people to use caution while they are out recreating due to the extremely dry conditions and fire dangers.
