MonDak Ag Days Success

MonDak Ag Days went off without a hitch, even though the weather tried to prevent it. A few of the speakers didn't make it to town, but the attendance was still decent. The trade show was buzzing with conversation, while next door there was concentration as everyone listened in to the presentations. Thursday evening brought a packed house, as the Banquet was sold out. Ken Overcast, with 9-year old fiddle playing granddaughter Molly Rose Halingstad, was a hit. There couldn't have been a soul that didn't start laughing at some point. Overall, it was a good turnout despite the weather. Above: Ken Overcast entertains at the banquet.

Richland County Fair Makes Announcement for 2013 Fair

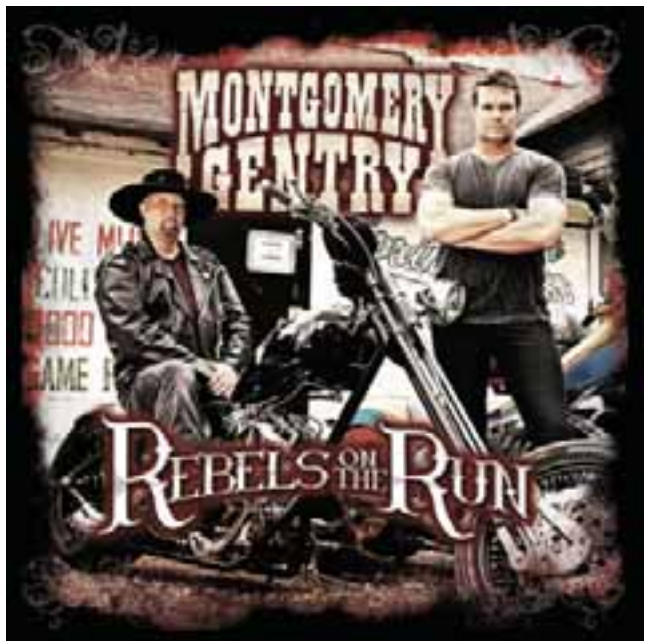

By Ashley Harris

The Richland County Fair Board has announced the concert line up for the 2013 Fair, as well as announcing a new carnival. North Star Amusements out of Cody, Wyoming will be the carnival this year playing all 4 days.

The concert line-up, performing on Saturday, Aug. 3 is MONTGOMERY GENTRY with special guest Gloriana.

With a new album, a new label and a renewed sense of musical purpose, Montgomery Gentry is back in full swing. These two Kentucky boys first broke into the national country scene in 1999. With millions of albums sold, many sold out shows and tons of awards and accolades, Montgomery Gentry is back with their new album "Rebels On The Run". The new album brings you back to the beginning, but with a fresh new attitude. "People are going to be able to touch on each one of our songs and say, 'Yeah man, that song is a little bit about me,' or 'I know a person that lives next door to me that's been through what you just got done singing about,'" Gentry continues. "People can associate themselves with our songs."

Their induction into the Grand Ole Opry in 2009 is the thing that means the most to them. There's no doubt that they're hard-running honky tonkers, but they are also active participants in many charitable organizations, including Stand Up to Cancer, Make-A-Wish, USO and other military organizations.

The old saying "what you see is what you get" applies when you see Montgomery Gentry. Rowdy, fun loving, spontaneous, and awesome talent all describe what these guys are about. Whether you are fan already or not, the music and personalities are so infectious that you will instantly become a fan.

Their opening act will be Gloriana, made up of brothers Tom and Mike Gossin and Rachel Reinert. Achieving success takes strong motivation to commit, something these three young talents have proven willing to do as their career has exploded over the past two years. That motivation, as well as

New McKenzie County Tourism Director Announced

Watford City native, Doug Bolken, will be starting as new Tourism Director on January 14th. He currently works for the county but as Bolken stated, "This change in positions at the County brings me back to my roots, tourism."

Bolken has been involved in some sort of travel or tourism ever since college, making him the best candidate for the position. Bolken, with his wife and son, moved back to the area in December of 2008 after living in Seattle. While in Seattle, he worked at Holland America Line in charge of Alaska Cruise and CruiseTour Marketing. He also worked for AAA Travel, coordinating joint travel programs for many of the western AAA and CAA clubs.

"With all the changes happening in McKenzie County, I am excited to make sure the face of tourism is included," stated Bolken. He feels that travelers are not getting the best experience possible due to the lack of accommodations, but that in the coming years it will not be as big of a problem. Watford City, and surrounding areas, are in the process of building new hotels, which will allow for tourism to grow.

In closing, Bolken stated, "In today's economy, I realize that Tourism is not top of mind for many people. Tourism can coexist with the booming economy of Western North Dakota. Ongoing tourism programs will add to the quality of life we all cherish in McKenzie County. I am looking forward to great things for tourism."

Doug Bolken

their authentic talent, have propelled the group to become the best-selling debut country act of 2009. Gloriana debuted at No. 2 on the Billboard Country Albums chart and No. 3 on the Top 200 chart and spawned the gold-certified hit single "Wild At Heart." The album's success led to two years on the road, during which the band performed in front of millions worldwide opening for Taylor Swift, Jason Aldean, Alan Jackson, Brooks & Dunn, and the Zac Brown Band.

In 2010, Gloriana won the Academy of Country Music's Award for Top New Vocal Group and were nominated for a Teen Choice Award for "Choice Country Group."

Now Tom, Mike, and Rachel have funneled everything they've learned into their second album, A Thousand Miles Left Behind, released in the Summer of 2012. "On this record, we wanted to tell stories," says Rachel. "I think people will be able to relate to a lot of these songs because they're honest and come from a place that's real." The result is an appealing mix of up-tempo, good-time numbers including current single "(Kissed You) Good Night" and popular "Can't Shake You".

Although Jayson was the first baby born in 2013, 2012 was a busy year for the obstetric department. In the past year, 146 babies were delivered at Sidney Health Center averaging 12 babies per month. Seventy-two of the babies were girls while seventy-four were boys.

The Sidney Health Center obstetric and newborn units feature Labor, Delivery, Recovery, Postpartum (LDRP) rooms. These rooms are equipped with Jacuzzi tubs and Hill-Rom birthing beds. During labor, options for pain medication are offered. A trained and experienced OB and Nursery Staff is available 24 hours a day.

The obstetric department also offers a One-Day Childbirth Class four times per year. Instructors, Joyce Schulz, RN and Katharine King, RN will review the following topics: relaxation, anatomy and physiology of

Join the American Red Cross in Celebrating National Blood Donor Month

Submitted by Scott Shanahan
Throughout the month of January, the American Red Cross celebrates the contributions of thousands of volunteer blood donors in Montana who give the gift of life with every blood donation. January has been designated National Blood Donor Month to raise awareness of blood donation during the time of year when blood supplies often fall to their lowest levels. Donations traditionally decline during the post-holiday season, due to busy schedules and inclement weather which can prevent people from keeping donation appointments. At the same time, the need for blood remains constant in the early months of the year. Giving blood is a way to support the community by helping to ensure that a stable inventory is available for premature babies, cancer patients, or the many people who suffer accidents and other illnesses which may require transfusions. National Blood Donor Month not only honors those who give blood each year, but is also a time to educate and encourage new donors about the importance of giving blood. Blood has a shelf life of only 42 days, and, therefore, must continually be replenished. Donors can give blood every 56 days, or up to six times a year. Each day, the Red Cross in Montana collects approximately 155 units of blood to distribute to patients at approximately 30 hospitals and transfusion centers in Montana. Any healthy person age 18 (or age 16/17 with signed parental consent) or older and weighing at least 110 pounds may be eligible to donate blood. Valid identification is required for all blood donations. All eligible donors are asked to schedule an appointment to donate blood at the Richland County community blood drive on January 22nd from 12-6 p.m. at St. Mathews Parish by calling 1-800-695-7258 or visit redcrossblood.org.

Continental Resources Successfully Completes Initial Test Well In Third Bench Of The Three Forks Reservoir In The Bakken Field

By Ashley Harris
According to a press release, Continental Resources, Inc., a top 10 petroleum liquids producer in the United States, announced today it successfully completed the first horizontal well to test the third bench (TF3) of the Three Forks zone in the Bakken field of North Dakota and Montana.

Continental has been a pioneer in the discovery and development of the Three Forks reservoir in the Bakken field. They were the first to demonstrate incremental reserves from the First Bench in 2008 and the first to establish commercial production from the Second Bench, lower than the First, in 2011. Establishing production from the Third Bench is yet another significant milestone in the growth of the Company's assets in the world-class Bakken oil field. If the unit in the Third Bench continues to perform in line with the Second Bench, it will be the first well to establish commercial production in the third bench.

The unit is the first in the Bakken field to have wells producing from three separate horizons the Middle Bakken, First and Second Benches.

Continental estimated in late 2010 that the Bakken field would eventually yield 24 billion barrels of oil equivalent (Boe), based on technology available at that time. This estimate included 20 billion barrels of oil and 4 billion Boe of natural gas, and assumed 577 billion barrels of original oil in place in the Bakken and First Bench. With the addition of oil found in the lower Three Forks benches, Continental now estimates the field has 903 billion barrels of original oil in place, a 57 percent increase.

Mayer Appointed to Council for Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis

By Alana Listoe
Montana Credit Union Network
Public Relations and Advocacy
Kevin Mayer, Richland Federal Credit Union manager, was recently appointed to the Community Depository Institutions Advisory Council with the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis. Mayer will serve a three-year term with 10 others who act in an advisory capacity, and its members are asked to help the Federal Reserve Bank better understand the business and economics of the region.

“We are the eyes and ears of our region,” Mayer said. “Our discussion is heard by those in Wash. D.C.”
 Tracie Kenyon, CEO and President of the Montana Credit Union Network, is thrilled to have a voice for Montanans on a national level.
 “It is a great honor for Kevin to serve on this advisory council. His appointment underscores the truly amazing work that he’s done in the community, state, and region. From the state trade association perspective, I am always delighted to have Montanans at the table and Kevin will represent the interests of his peers exceptionally,” Kenyon said.

 Meetings are held twice a year in Minneapolis and set for Tues., Mar 12 and Oct. 8 this year.
 The credit union philosophy of giving back to the community is important to Mayer.
 He is a Glendive native who started with Richland FCU in 1985. He is actively involved in his community. Mayer is involved with the Grizzly Scholarship Association through the Sidney Chapter, one of the founding fathers of the Sidney Wall-eyes Unlimited of Montana, a church trustee, and a longstanding member of the Sidney Lions Club.
 Mayer is a strong proponent of financial education and is on the business advisory council at Sidney High School.
 “We have a good relationship with our schools and providing the students valuable financial education,” he said of Richland FCU.

Kevin Mayer

Every year Mayer speaks to eighth-grade students about the overall importance of finance and he visits with them again when they are seniors discussing the value of how credit is earned.
 He is also on the Board of Directors for Kansas Corporate Credit Union, was a member of the Montana Credit Union Network’s Government Relations Committee, and has been a strong advocate and mentor to many of the small credit unions in eastern Montana.
 When he is not working or volunteering he enjoys golfing, fishing and bow hunting.

IRA Charitable Rollover Extended

Submitted by Staci Miller
The American Taxpayer Relief Act of 2012 has a short window of opportunity to make a qualifying distribution for calendar year 2012.
The IRA charitable rollover, which was renewed on January 2, 2013, allows individual taxpayers older than 70 ½ years to donate up to $100,000 from their individual retirement accounts (IRAs) and Roth IRAs to charitable nonprofits without having to treat the withdrawals as taxable income.

The American Taxpayer Relief Act of 2012 extends for 2012 and 2013 the IRA rollover giving incentive, which expired at the end of 2011. The legislation will continue to allow individuals 70 ½ years and older to give up to $100,000 from their IRAs to charitable nonprofits without being taxed on their contributions. The law retroactively restores the tax incentive by permitting eligible individuals to give their mandatory distributions taken in December 2012 or January 2013 to charities like the Foundation for Community Care and apply the rollover to their 2012 tax filing.

If you took your IRA withdrawal in December 2012, and are interested in making a tax-free gift, we encourage you to speak with your tax professional or Staci Miller at the Foundation for Community Care by calling 406-488-2273 or stopping by our office at 221 2nd Street NW, Sidney, MT.
