USDA Approves 82,800 More Acres in North Dakota for Wildlife Habitat

Submitted by Brad Olson- FSA Fargo, ND

U.S. Department of Agriculture North Dakota Farm Service Agency (FSA) Executive Director Aaron Krauter, today announced that 82,800 acres in North Dakota are now available for wildlife habitat improvement incentives. "We can accept more applications to enroll more acres in North Dakota for farmers and ranchers interested in protecting local pheasant, prairie chickens and waterfowl," said Krauter. "In exchange for creating more grasslands and wetlands for these species, USDA will provide participating landowners with rental payments and help with expenses."

The increased opportunity is split between two programs, both part of the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) whereby Farm Service Agency contracts with landowners so that environmentally sensitive land is not farmed or ranched, but instead used for conservation. Of the new allocation, 50,000 acres are devoted to the Farmable Wetlands Program (FWP), and 32,800 acres are devoted to the State Acres for Wildlife Enhancement (SAFE) program.

Program participants establish long-term plant species to control soil erosion, improve water quality, or strengthen declining wildlife populations. In return, participants receive annual rental payments between 10 and 15 years.

The SAFE program allows state fish and wildlife agencies, non-profit organizations and other conservation partners to target the Conservation Reserve Program within distinct geographic areas to help wildlife. SAFE is limited to 1.35 million acres nationally, with 97 projects in 36 states and Puerto Rico.

The FWP program is a voluntary program to restore farmable wetlands and associated buffers by improving the land's hydrology and vegetation.

Interested landowners can enroll acres in a designated wildlife project in their state at any time. Participants and land must meet certain eligibility requirements. Other restrictions may apply. For additional details, contact your local Farm Service Agency office at offices.usda.gov or visit the website at www. fsa.usda.gov/conservation.

Williston Native Returns to Hometown for Pharmacy Opportunities

By Barb Peterson, Williston Economic Development

You could say Williston native Gabe Gratz knows his way around a pharmacy. The 31-year-old has been working in drugstores since he was just five years old. Of course, that was when his dad owned Western Dakota Pharmacy and Gabe's role was sprucing up the place. "I would come down and dust the shelves and later in high school I would make deliveries," said Gratz, R.Ph. "In fact, I have really only worked in pharmacies."

After graduating from Williston High School in 2001, Gratz followed in his dad's footsteps, graduating with a Doctorate in Pharmacy from North Dakota State University in 2007. That same year he married a high school classmate, Tara Watterson. Together they pursued their careers and started a family in Minnesota, but the entrepreneurial opportunities back in their hometown were hard to ignore.

"My Dad and I were making plans to open G&G Pharmacy, when the opportunity to purchase Service Drug presented itself. From there things happened very quickly," explained Gratz.

In the end, Gerald (Jerry) Gratz, R.Ph, and his son decided to pursue both business ventures. Jerry operates the long-time Service Drug Pharmacy in Downtown Williston while Gabe runs the new G&G Pharmacy in the 20/20 Professional Center.

The new professional relationship between the father and son has allowed them to blend their traditional and modern approaches to the practice of pharmacy and customer service. "We wanted to offer the services that a lot of newcomers were already used to," said Gabe. "We are open seven days a week, we have a drive-thru which makes it a lot easier for mothers with small children and we provide additional pharmacy services such as immunizations and medication flavoring."

The two pharmacies also feature three ways to refill prescriptions: by phone, mobile app, or the web. In addition, they notify customers when their prescriptions are ready to be picked up via text messages.

But whether you prefer correspondence via your smartphone, tablet, or computer; a good old-fashioned conversation is always available. "One of the reasons I enjoy being a pharmacist is the relationships I have with my customers," said Gabe. The father of two young children has been working until 8 p.m. most nights at G&G Pharmacy. His wife often brings their daughter, Olivia, age 4 and son Hunter, age 2 to the store to visit. It may not be too long before one of them gets a start in the family business dusting shelves.

G&G Pharmacy is located at 1500 14th Street West Suite 150 (20/20 Profession Center.) The company's phone number is 701-572-7979

Program Brings Affordable Housing to the Heart of the Boom

Submitted by Sarah Mudder, NDHFA

The North Dakota Housing Incentive Fund (HIF) is bringing affordable rental housing to the heart of the state's energy boom. Big Mountain Development and the North Dakota Housing Finance Agency (NDHFA), administrator of the state program, celebrated the development of Arrowhead Estates in Arnegard, ND, today.

"Our focus initially was to sell homes to families as we believed that to be the greatest need, but the mayor and city council opened our eyes to the many people who simply cannot buy and must rent," said developer Bernie Biegler. "The nurses and teachers we have visited with inquire about renting before they will even consider relocating to take a job."

Big Mountain purchased the old city golf course in Arnegard, ND, in 2011 and was preparing the development for single-family housing when they were approached by Virginia Elliot, the former mayor of the community, and asked to provide affordable rental housing for essential service workers - individuals employed in education, medical and law enforcement professions.

"Providing adequate housing for our workforce is one of North Dakota's greatest challenges," said Jolene Kline, NDHFA executive director. "With the demand for development resources growing, more local, state and private dollars are needed to address North Dakota's affordable housing needs."

Located along Johnson Street and Fourth Avenue, Arrowhead Estates received more than $1 million in development assistance from the state allowing eight of the three-bedroom, two-bath units to be reserved for essential service workers (ESW) - income-qualified households employed in positions deemed essential community services. These units will rent for $713 to $1232 per month. The eight remaining units in the development will rent at market rate.

The placement of the subdivision seven miles west of Watford City, 12 miles from Alexander, and only 25 miles to Williston puts it in one of the most highly sought after areas in Western North Dakota says Biegler. He expects teachers from the McKenzie County School District #1 to be the first occupants

"McKenzie County Public School District #1 has hired 44 new teachers and administrators over the past two years; it has been a real challenge hiring that number of employees and finding affordable housing to match starting teacher wages," said Steven Holen, the district's superintendent. "Without the availability of state-supported housing options, we simply would not be able to recruit or retain quality

Capitalized by contributions from state taxpayers, HIF provides low-cost financing to developers of affordable multifamily housing. Since the program's inception in 2011, NDHFA has allocated $49 million to projects statewide, leveraging $240 million in construction financing to support the development of more than 1,500 new rental units.

A self-supporting agency, NDHFA finances the creation and rehabilitation of affordable housing across North Dakota. The Industrial Commission of North Dakota, consisting of Governor Jack Dalrymple as chairman, Agriculture Commissioner Doug Goehring and Attorney General Wayne Stenehiem, oversees NDHFA.

Food is an important part of many holiday celebrations. The Montana Department of Public Health and Human Services (DPHHS) offers these reminders to help ensure the holiday season is free of illness from food.

"Following these basic turkey tips will go a long way in making sure your family and friends are served safe food during holiday season," said DPHHS Director Richard Opper.

The Turkey

Purchasing the Turkey

·Be prepared! Before purchasing your turkey, make ample space in your refrigerator, moving shelves if necessary. Keeping your turkey refrigerated is important to minimize the growth of bacteria.

·When should I buy it? Keep in mind that a whole turkey takes about 24 hours per four to five pounds to thaw in the refrigerator. (For example: A 15-pound frozen bird will take 3 to 4 full days to thaw in the refrigerator.) Ideally, purchase your frozen turkey as far in advance as necessary to safely thaw it in the refrigerator. If buying a fresh turkey, purchase it only 1 to 2 days before the meal and keep it refrigerated.

·Thawing a n d Handling. Always wash hands with warm water and soap for 20 seconds before and after handling the turkey. This prevents you from transferring any potentially harmful bacteria to other items in the kitchen or infecting yourself.

·Never defrost turkey on the counter! Turkey can be thawed in the refrigerator or in cold water. The refrigerator method is the safest and will result in the best finished product. Leave the bird in the original packaging and place in a shallow pan and allow refrigerator thawing time at a rate of 4 to 5 pounds per 24 hours. To thaw in cold water, keep turkey in the original packaging, place in a clean and sanitized sink or pan and submerge in cold water. Change the cold water every 30 minutes. The turkey will take about 30 minutes per pound to thaw. Cook the turkey immediately after it is thawed. Do not refreeze.

·Now what? Once thawed, remove neck and giblets from the body cavities and keep bird and parts (if using) refrigerated at 40 °F or below until it is ready to be cooked.

Cooking Time and Tem-

·Time to cook - there are several methods for cooking your turkey. The single most important thing to know, no matter the cooking method, is that the turkey must be cooked to the proper internal temperature 165° as measured with a food thermometer. A stuffed turkey will take additional time to cook.

Stuff safely. Stuffing should be prepared and stuffed into the turkey immediately before its placed in the oven. Mix the wet and dry ingredients for the stuffing separately and combine just before using. Stuff the turkey loosely, about 3/4 cup stuffing per pound of turkey. Bake any extra stuffing in a greased casserole dish. Cooked inside or outside the bird, all stuffing and dressing recipes must be cooked to a minimum temperature of 165 °F. (For optimum safety and more even cooking, it's recommended to cook your stuffing in a casserole dish.)

·Take the temperature! Insert a meat thermometer into the thickest part of the thigh, not touching bone. Cook to a minimum internal temperature of 165 °F as measured with a food thermometer. Check the internal temperature in the innermost part of the thigh and wing and the thickest part of the breast. For reasons of personal preference, cook turkey to higher temperatures but not to exceed 170 °F in the breast and 180 °F in the thigh. (If the turkey is done and the stuffing is not yet 165 °F, remove the stuffing from the turkey and place it in a greased casserole dish to continue cooking to temperature).

Limits of Leftovers

Having leftover turkey and other dishes means you can have additional tasty meals the day after your feast. But there are limits on how long you can safely keep leftovers. Temperature and time cause bacteria to grow, which is why it is so important your refrigerator be cold enough and you not keep leftovers too long. Even when refrigerated properly (at 41°F), leftovers should be eaten, frozen or discarded within 3 to 4 days. When heating and storing leftovers keep the following in mind:

·Refrigerate cooked leftovers promptly - within 2 hours. Use an appliance thermometer in your refrigerator to ensure your refrigerator is at 40 °F or ·Divide leftovers into smaller portions and store in shallow containers in the refrigerator.

·Wash hands with warm water and soap for 20 seconds before and after handling food.

·Reheat cooked leftovers to 165°F as measured with a food thermometer. Sauces, soups and gravies should be reheated by bringing them to a boil.

·When microwaving leftovers, make sure there are no cold spots in food (where bacteria can survive). Cover food, stir and rotate for even

The Montana Department of Transportation is making it easier to prepare for holiday travel and winter roads with a free mobile application that provides road conditions. weather, incidents, highway closures and roadway camera images. MDT's Travel Info mobile app is available in Google play, the iTunes App Store or on Amazon.

Road conditions are reported based on first hand observations by MDT's experienced plow drivers and are updated as conditions change. Weather and road conditions change rapidly so motorists should use caution and be prepared.

Travelers are also reminded. "Don't Crowd the Plow". These vehicles are large and use a lot of room to operate. Snowplows typically travel slower than posted speeds while removing snow and ice from the roads and drivers' field of vision may be restricted. Many snowplows are rear-ended each winter so remember to slow down. stay back and be prepared for winter maintenance materials spread from the back of the

To ensure a safe and happy holiday season motorists are also reminded of the following: Turn off cruise control in the winter. Expect ice or frost on bridge decks and shaded areas. Always have a sober driver, and always buckle up.

Plan ahead and stay aware of current conditions when traveling. Remember to check MDT Mobile, call 511 or visit mdt511.com/ to check road and weather conditions.

Osborne to Speak During Wheat Show

By Warren Froelich- NDSU Extension Agent, Williams County

Leon Osborne, Director of the Regional Weather Information Center and the Surface Transportation Center at the University of North Dakota is scheduled to speak during the breakfast meeting of the Wheat Show on Tuesday, February 3rd. Leon is a nationally recognized speaker for his ability to predict long-term weather patterns. The program planning committee has requested that he share his outlook for the 2015 growing season.

Many other speakers, approximately 22, will provide information about food fads, grain market outlook, soil salinity, new durum varieties, durum wheat diseases, the new farm program, impact protein has on bread baking and farm labor.

This year's featured keynote speaker will be Dr. Mike Boehlje, noted agricultural economist at Purdue University. He will discuss the current business climate for agriculture, will it have a bust or soft landing, long term prospects for the industry, land values, positioning the farm business to handle the downturn and how to be the "best in class".

Specials for the noon lunches are scheduled. Katie Pinke will explain how farmers and ranchers can be farm advocates and Mark Lindquist will share "Passion! Eight Steps to Find Yours". I guarantee attendees will leave his presentation with a strong message that will be entertaining but also produce a few tears. More information about these two speakers and their presentations will come later.

In the meantime, photographers will want to ready their best pictures for the photo contest held in conjunction with the Wheat Show.

Sand Reclamation

A new publication "Successful Reclamation of Lands" recently has been released by the NDSU Extension Service. It includes recommendations designed for pipeline and small-area disturbances that may take place when developing infrastructure for oil and gas development, not for general agriculture and conservation

The publication describes activities for the successful reclamation of North Dakota lands. This includes topsoil/ subsoil removal and replacement, well and pad development and other activities. It only addresses reclamation of non-contaminated soils. Contaminated soils may include lands compromised by oil spills (hydrocarbons) and brine spills.

Authors of the publication (many) outline critical components of a successful reclamation, provide recommended seed mixtures and seeding rates when reclaiming range and pasture land and provide options to reduce soil erosion on disturbed rangelands, pastureland and hay lands. Although croplands are not specified directly in this publication, many of the topsoil salvage and replacement approaches, planning, preparation procedure and reclamation methods can be used as a guide to successful reclamation of croplands. The publication is available free of charge at our office by calling 701-577-4595.

Health Effects of Secondhand Smoke

By Jacklyn Damm - Tobacco Prevention Specialist, Richland County Health Department

Secondhand smoke is the combination of smoke from the burning end of a cigarette and the smoke breathed out by smokers. Secondhand smoke contains more than 7,000 chemicals. Hundreds are toxic and about 70 can cause cancer.

There is no risk-free level of exposure to secondhand smoke. Secondhand smoke causes numerous health problems in infants and children, including more frequent and severe asthma attacks, respiratory infections, ear infections, and sudden infant death syndrome (SIDS).

Smoking during pregnancy results in more than 1,000 infant deaths annually.

Some of the health conditions caused by secondhand smoke in adults include coronary heart disease, stroke and lung cancer. Montana Facts and Figures

More than 1,400 Montanans die each year from tobacco-related disease. That's four Montanans every day!

Every year, Montanans pay more than $441 million in medical expenditures attributable to smoking; businesses pay more than $305 million in lost productivity due to illness and time off.

Nineteen percent of all adults in Montana smoke, and 38% of American Indian adults in Montana smoke. (BRFSS, 2013)

Montana adult males use spit tobacco at a rate that is almost double the national average (15% compared to 8%). (BRFSS, 2013)

Fifteen percent of Montana youth are current cigarette smokers and 13% are current smokeless tobacco users. (YRBS, 2013).

In 2009 23% of young adults, aged 18-34, had tried e-cigarettes, which there is currently no FDA restrictions on ingredients in these devices.

American Red Cross Offers Tips for Safe Holiday Travels

Submitted by Anna Fernández-Gevaert I Regional Communications Director American Red Cross of Idaho & Montana

The holidays are one of the busiest times of the year for travelers. Millions will hop a plane or train to visit loved ones and even more will take to the highways. The American Red Cross offers these tips people can follow to have a safe trip over the upcoming holiday.

DRIVING TO GRANDMA'S HOUSE Check the weather along your route and plan for travel around any storms that may be coming. Watch weather predictions for your entire route so you know what to expect along the way.

Make sure you follow these steps to have a safe trip: Buckle up, slow down, don't drive impaired. Be well rested and alert. Follow the rules of the road. Use caution in work zones. Give your full attention to the road. Avoid distractions such as cell phones. Observe speed limits - driving too fast or too slow can increase your chance of being in a collision. Make frequent stops. During long trips, rotate drivers. If you're too tired to drive, stop and get some rest. Don't follow another vehicle too closely. Clean your headlights, taillights, signal lights and windows to help you see, especially at night. Turn your headlights on as dusk approaches, or if you are using your windshield wipers due to inclement weather. Don't overdrive your headlights. If you have car trouble, pull off the road as far as possible.

If winter weather threatens and you become stuck in the snow, these tips are for you: Stay with the car. Do not try to walk to safety. Tie a brightly colored cloth (preferably red) to the antenna for rescuers to see. Start the car and use the heater for about 10 minutes every hour. Keep the exhaust pipe clear so fumes won't back up in the car. Leave the overhead light on when the engine is running to help rescuers see the vehicle. Keep one window away from the blowing wind slightly open to let in air. Carry an emergency preparedness kit in the trunk. Keep your car's gas tank full for emergency use and to keep the fuel line from freezing.

PLANES, TRAINS, BUSES It's flu season. If you've been sick or been in contact with someone who is sick, consider postponing your trip. You could be contagious for a week before symptoms appear.

Remember that everything you touch may have been touched by someone else - ticket agents, luggage handlers, flight attendants, etc. Handle your own belongings as much as possible. Wash your hands often with soap and water.

Carry hand sanitizer and anti-bacterial wipes with you. You can use them to wash your hands or wipe down surfaces such

Bring your own pillows and blankets - they can act as a shield against the seat itself. Avoid touching your face or eyes. If you have to cough or sneeze, do so into a tissue or your sleeve.

BONUS TIP Download the American Red Cross First Aid App. The app provides users with quick, expert advice on what to do in case of an emergency. See all Red Cross apps at redcross.org/mobileapps.

You can help people affected by disasters like home fires as well as countless other crises at home and around the world, by making a donation to support American Red Cross Disaster Relief. Plans for 2015 County Conference are Springing Forth for Richland County

Submitted by Julie Brodhead RN, Communicable Diseases Emergency Preparedness,

RCHD

So, let's talk Spring! What does spring mean to us; growth, renewal, and redirection? Why am I talking about spring in December? Number one because it's hopeful, number two because in 2015 the Richland County 7th Annual Community-wide Conference is scheduled for the first day of Spring, March 20th. Then you ask- wny am I thinking about that now? The conference is scheduled as a full day conference, with lots of discussion.

The idea behind the conference is to utilize a community feedback and concerns in developing or updating the County-wide Quality of Life Strategic Plan for Richland County. Action Groups are created based on the issues identified in the process. To assure that the plan is turned into action, the action groups include agencies, organizations, and individuals who are interested in working in a particular area. Action plans are written and carried out each year. Conference planning begins with you- the community! While it's fun to sit at the watering hole and debate every issue, time during the conference is a premium. To make the best use of the time, we have designed questionnaires to narrow and focus the discussion. If you get a property tax bill in Richland County, one was included in that, and we've received a good response; but we want more! There will be many options in the coming months for you to give your input. Watch for them and please, for the future of our county, give us your comments.

The planning committee values your input so participate by going to link for the survey https://www.surveymonkey.com/s/2RG98YF or go to www.richland.org and take the Community Survey listed under News & Announcements.

2015 Youth Serve Montana Scholarships Available to High School Seniors

Students earn $1,000 for college by giving 100 volunteer hours

Submitted by Marissa Perry -Outreach Coordinator, Governor's Office of Community Service

The Governor's Office of Community Service, Montana Campus Compact, and Student Assistance Foundation announced today that the 2015 Youth Serve Montana Scholarships are now available for up to 100 Montana high school seniors. It is the tenth year for this exciting scholarship opportunity aimed at students dedicated to volunteering.

The Youth Serve Montana Scholarships reward students who have volunteered over 100 hours in the last year and who want to further their education in state. This year, 100 high school seniors will receive $1,000 toward continued education at one of Montana Campus Compact's public, tribal, private, or community colleges and universities.

"Community Service is an important factor for college admission officers when determining the students who will attend their institution," said Lt. Governor Angela McLean. "Students who are dedicated to improving their communities at home are likely to continue that commitment as they pursue a continued education elsewhere in Montana. I am always impressed to see the time and resources that many high school seniors devote to brightening the lives of those around them while also preparing for their future, and this scholarship provides an opportunity to do just that."

"These scholarships are an important way we recognize students for their commitment to bettering their communities," said Jane Karas, Ph.D., chair of Montana Campus Compact and president of Flathead Valley Community College. "By rewarding these students, we are positively reinforcing their choices and providing a lasting impact that will encourage them to be lifelong volunteers."

"Students throughout Montana deserve a reward for the thousands of hours they contribute annually to making Montana a better place," said Kelly Cresswell, Student Assistance Foundation vice president of Foundation Activities. "Student Assistance Foundation is honored to play a role in recognizing these students through the Youth Serve Montana Scholarships.'

The Youth Serve Montana Scholarship application form, quidelines, and FAQs can be found online at serve.mt.gov. Completed applications, proof of volunteer hours, confirmation of a Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA), and enrollment in a Montana post-secondary institution must be submitted to the Governor's Office of Community Service by April 15, 2015.

The Youth Serve Montana Scholarship application form can now be accessed, filled out, and submitted through an online form powered by Student Assistance Foundation. The link to the online form is located on serve.mt.gov/youth-servemontana.

The Governor's Office of Community Service, Montana Campus Compact, and Student Assistance Foundation would like to encourage students seeking volunteer work to take advantage of the increase in volunteer opportunities during the holiday season. Students should contact local shelters, food banks, or volunteer organizations to see how they can best serve their community. Youth Serve Montana Scholarships have been made possible through support from the Governor's Office of Community Service, Montana Campus Compact, and Student Assistance Foundation.

The Governor's Office of Community Service expands and promotes national service and volunteerism in Montana and engages citizens in service and emergency preparedness. Visit serve.mt.gov.

Montana Campus Compact is Montana's largest higher-education network and works to improve community life by educating students for civic and social responsibility. Visit www. mtcompact.org.

Student Assistance Foundation is a nonprofit Montana corporation that provides students with knowledge and tools to pursue and fund their postsecondary education. Funds gen> erated by SAF are returned to Montanans in the form of education grants, scholarships and public benefit programs - to date totaling more than $29.6 million. Visit www.safmt. org or www.SmartAboutCollege.org.
