Submitted by Daniel Stenberg
Economic Development Coordinator, McKenzie County

The Watford City Area Chamber of Commerce and the Watford City Economic Development Corporation are pleased to announce that the annual meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, March 1st, 2017 beginning at 5:00 PM at the new Rough Rider Center, 2209 Wolves Den Pkwy, Watford City, ND 58854.

This year's event will begin with a social at 5:00 PM on the concourse of the Rough Rider Center where regional breweries will be offering up tastings. Local restaurants have been invited to provide samples of featured appetizers, which will be paired with wine. Attendees will also enjoy a cash bar and musical entertainment while they look around the beautiful new facility.

Calling all Molls & Gangsters! Bootleggers Ball is Coming!

The Irish Mob is the oldest organized crime group in the United States, in existence since the early 19th century. Irish-American organizations in Chicago were at their peak during Prohibition, specializing in bootlegging and highjacking. Gangs in New York, Philadelphia and Boston also figured prominently with gang leaders such as "Big" Bill Dwyer, Jack "Legs" Diamond, Daniel "Danny" O'Leary and Frank Wallace. The Irish Mob in Chicago would soon be rivaled by Italian mobsters, particularly Al Capone.

This year the Bootleggers Ball, scheduled for March 17th, will celebrate as The Bootleggers Ball Goes Irish. We are proud to welcome back several vendors including distributors representing Hood River Distillers (Pendleton, Trails End), Jack Daniels Distillery, Diageo (Crown Royal) and Montana Distilleries featuring Montana made whiskey & vodka.

Get dolled up in your favorite 20s glad rags; enjoy sampling the different hooch offered, then step out on the heated patio and take pleasure in a cigar from Sweet Ash Cigars. Dine on some hors d'oeuvres served by the new Kat's Kitchen. Flash those gams and kick up your dogs to your favorite music as performed by The Relics. Transportation home will again be provided by the Sidney Shuttle.

Tickets will go on sale soon - VIP tickets are $150, General Admission tickets are $75. Tables are available upon request, call 406-480-0029. Proceeds from this year's event will go to support Matthew House and Camp Make-a-Dream.

It'll be the Cat's Pajamas!

Car Seat Safety Clinic to be Held March 11

It's a familiar routine: strapping your child into the car seat before you get behind the wheel—but, is your child really safe?

The Richland County Ambulance Service and Richland County Health Department will be hosting a Richland County Passenger Safety Seat Clinic on Saturday, March 11, 2017 at Sidney Health Center, in the ambulance garage from 10:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. No appointment is necessary as it is on a first come, first-serve basis.

During the clinics, the certified car seat technicians will:

- Check for correct installation
- Check your seat for recalls
- Check to make sure the seat matches your child's weight and age
- Check to make sure the seat is positioned in your vehicle correctly
- Answer safety seat questions

Montana law requires all children under age six and weighing less than 60 lbs. to be in an appropriate child safety seat or booster seat. The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) recommends keeping children in their car seats for as long as possible before moving them to the next type of car seat. Many children are not tall enough to graduate from a booster seat to a lap and shoulder belt alone until they are at least 4'9" tall, which is about eight years or older.

Child passenger safety technicians in Montana report that about 75 to 80 percent—that's four out of five—of the car seats they checked are not installed properly. Take advantage of this local passenger safety seat clinic to make sure you and your children are traveling safe. If you have any questions about the clinic, please feel free to call the Health Department at (406) 433-2207 or the Richland County Ambulance Service at (406) 488-2180.

Voll Elected Mayor of Watford City

By Jordan Hall

Brent Sanford became the mayor of Watford City, just when the oil boom began. After taking his new post as Attorney General of North Dakota, his mayoral position needed to be filled. With Sanford's term originally not slated to be over until June of 2018, the mayoral office has been empty since he won election to the state-wide office in November. After a city-wide election, Justin Voll was voted as the next mayor of Watford City.

Voll, who has served as president of the First International Bank and Trust since July of 2015, was challenged by the owner of Watford Electric and a member of Watford City's Planning and Zoning Commission, Greg Schuetze. The votes became official after the canvassing board met on February 27. Final vote tallies show Voll winning over Schuetze, by a margin of 250 to 72.

Because the mayoral office has been vacant for several months, Watford City Council President and city Fire Department Chief, Phil Riely, took interim mayor responsibilities on December 9, until the seat could be filled by the citywide election that took place on February 21.

Mathieu Recognized as Extended Care Resident of the Year

Sidney Health Center Extended Care recently named Anna Mathieu the 2016 Resident of the Year. Anna was honored at a celebration on Tuesday, February 21 in the dining room at Extended Care. Family, friends and staff gathered to celebrate the occasion with a brief program including special music, a cake in her honor and refreshments.

Anna has called Extended Care her home for almost 13 years. Her private room is a reflection of her previous home accented with homey touches and seasonal decorating. She has always loved the holidays and would diligently decorate the family home to make each holiday a special one. Her beloved son Bruce visits daily and is instrumental in changing the décor as the seasons change through the year.

Anna continues to make friends at Extended Care. Prior to moving in, she spent three years visiting her husband Burt, when he was a resident. Anna was a faithful wife and visited him on a daily basis until his passing in 2001, shortly before their 50th wedding anniversary. The time spent with Burt during his last years helped make her move into Extended Care a little easier, as she knew many staff members and had developed great relationships.

Many area people know Anna as an elementary teacher. She taught for several years before retiring in 1984. To this day, retired teachers often come for coffee to visit with her. In fact, several people who are past students enjoy sharing their memories of when she was their teacher. Her love of reading continues and she is always appreciative of those who share good books with her.

Through the years, Anna's personal interests have included sewing, knitting, cooking and faith. She has three children including Nancy, Brent and Bruce, who have families of their own including four grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

Through quality nursing care, activities, self-improvement, and friendships, Extended Care proves there is more to aging than growing old. The goal is to show others how companion animals, the opportunity to care for other living things, and the variety and spontaneity that mark an enlivened environment can succeed where pills and therapies fail. In short, Sidney Health Center Extended Care believes:

- Aging is a natural and normal life process
- Aging should not limit a person's right to experience life to its fullest
- People should be able to live their life at their highest level of health, independence, and well-being

Often, people feel more comfortable in surroundings that meet their individual needs for friendships and activities, as well as safety. In striving to meet each individual's unique and specific needs, Extended Care offers specialized environments with specialized staff.

Extended Care continues to work with volunteers to offer activities that interest the residents. If you are interested in becoming a volunteer, please contact Kris Radke, Engagement Services Director at 488-2338.

2017 McKenzie County Spelling Bee Results Sumaiyah Alyadumi of Watford City will compete in her 3rd North Dakota State Spelling Bee

McKenzie County conducted its annual spelling bee under the direction of Carol Kieson, McKenzie County Supt. of Schools. The competition was held Wednesday, February 22 at Alexander Public School, hosted by Superintendent Leslie Bieber and her staff. The 2017 State Spelling Bee will be held in Bismarck March 20 at the Ramkota Inn. The North Dakota Masonic Foundation, The North Dakota Association of County Superintendents, and the North Dakota Newspaper Association co-sponsor the State Spelling Bee. The State Bee is affiliated with the National Spelling Bee which will be held in Washington, DC, May 21-May 26 and to which the co-sponsors will send the state winner.

Each county is allowed two entries in the state competition. All contestants compete in a written round of 50 words from which the finalists are chosen. The finalists compete on an equal basis in an oral spell-down with first, second and third place winners being chosen.

Counties adopt plans for their own competitions. McKenzie County's Grades 1-5 take a written test of 25 words. Grades 6,7&8 follow the national rules and are given a test of 50 written words. The top 3 spellers from the 6th, 7th and 8th grades compete in the oral spell-down.

Preschoolers Can Help in the Kitchen

By Marcia Hellandsaas
NDSU Extension Service, McKenzie County

Imagine never cooking your own food. Consider a world where you are served every meal, at your table. Then, when you are finished eating, you get up and leave to do what your day requires of you.

This is the life many of our children experience, at least to age 3 or 4. Beyond that, most children can help some way in food preparation, serving and cleanup.

"The Family Table," an initiative of The North Dakota State University Extension Service, has resources at www.ag.ndsu.edu/familytable to help you get your kids involved in family meals.

The expectations for young children might be to wash their hands and set some parts of the table. Or children might be required to carry the cold salad or ketchup to the table and, after the meal, carry their own dirty dishes to the sink or dishwasher. This is all under the watchful eye of the head chef, of course.

As parents, our job is to teach our children how to become respectful, self-sufficient adults and responsible citizens. The kitchen is the perfect place for these and many more lessons. Plus, we all have to eat, so why not make meal preparation a special time to talk, laugh, enjoy each other's company and learn valuable lessons, too?

Young children likely want to be near their favorite adults, especially around mealtime. Three-year-olds who know how to tear paper will be great with the salad greens. They are also in love with stirring.

Perhaps healthful appetizers are your preschooler's specialty. Your child can arrange and serve wheat crackers, cheese, fruit, cottage cheese, fresh vegetables and dips with pride.

Serving this type of appetizer helps keep all family members from digging into high-carbohydrate and high-calorie foods while they wait for the oven timer to sound. Healthful appetizers can become the first course in a nutritious meal.

Even young children can learn to share the jobs and tools required in cooking. They quickly realize that putting together a meal takes ingredients and time, and people have to work to make that happen. Kids who grow up in the kitchen will begin to see connections between their food and its origin, including the importance of taking care of the Earth and its resources. They also will learn math skills and experience science first hand, right there near the kitchen sink.

Preschoolers who have the opportunity to practice working in the kitchen will learn to appreciate those times when someone does serve them their dinner. It can be a "first course" in learning to savor at the family table (www.ag.ndsu.edu/familytable). Join the challenge and sign up for an electronic newsletter with recipes and tips. Follow the program on Facebook for more tips, meal plans and ideas for getting conversations going during family meals.

Men: Take the Men's Health Survey!

North Dakota State University Extension personnel are conducting a nationwide men's survey and we need your help to reach men. We would love to have responses from every state. We want to learn what men want to know about health and how you want to learn about health on this online survey. It will take you less than 10 minutes. We in the NDSU Extension Service will use the information to develop handouts and short programs just for men. We will have random drawings for prizes. The Survey closes on March 11. Thank you for your help!

Go to: <https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/menhealthNDSU> to conduct the survey.
