Sidney Downtown Enhancement Project Meeting

City and County officials met to discuss the upcoming Enhancement Project scheduled for the block around the Courthouse. With plans to cut into the county property, parking around the courthouse will be safer and easier. The project is also being called the "beautification project", as there is discussion of using sloped curbs, new street lights, hand-laid concrete pavers, along with many trees, shrubs and flowers. With the goal of having it all accomplished this upcoming fall, plans are being finalized. Above: County Commissioner Shane Gorder, leads a 'walk around', where attendees were to judge the 'walkability' of the location. Inset: County Commissioner, Loren Young, explains the quality of the hand-laid pavers in the sidewalk.

Bakken Investor Conference Highlights Emerging Investment Opportunities in Bakken

Submitted by Jeff Zarling

The 3rd Annual Bakken Investor Conference brings together oil and gas companies and investors along with real estate developers and investors to connect and explore emerging investment opportunities in the Bakken Shale play.

The conference affords the attendees the advantage to: Discover high growth investment opportunities, identify investments with unique revenue models, obtain the latest data on market conditions and development activities in the Bakken, connect with high-level executives and company representatives and engage in valuable face time with qualified professionals.

"This conference not only provides information about the current business climate, but also it connects companies to investors, and investors to companies and projects," said Jeff Zarling, President, Dawa Solutions Group. "The conference is not just about getting information; it's about making valuable contacts and identifying strategic partners to get deals done."

The attendees at this conference consist of oil and gas companies, public traded and privately held companies, analysts and fund managers, institutional and private investors, real estate investors, real estate developers, wealth managers and other accredited investors.

Of particular interest, accredited investors have the advantage of exposure to both publicly-traded and privately-held companies. With the economic expansion in the Williston Basin, many oil and gas companies and real estate developers are looking for accredited investors seeking the potential for higher rates of return.

The oil and gas industry contributed more than $30.4 billion to North Dakota's economy in 2011, according to a study by North Dakota State University researchers for an economic impact study commissioned by the North Dakota Petroleum Council. In 2012, the cities of Williston, Dickinson and Minot had building permit valuations of $440 million, $307 million and $247 million respectively. Factor in Watford City, Stanley and Tioga and the value of construction activity in western North Dakota was well over $1 billion. The Bakken Investor Conference brings together these industry players and their investors to connect and continue to fuel the economic activity.

Hosted by Dawa Solutions Group and Sleep Inn & Suites Minot, the conference will be held April 24 through April 26, 2013 at the Sleep Inn & Suites in Minot, North Dakota. For more information on the conference, go to www.BakkenConference.com.

Cancer Coalition Anticipating Another Successful Bra Auction

Submitted by Rita Steinbeisser
The Richland County Cancer Coalition, sponsored by the Richland County Health Department, is gearing up for the 8th Annual “Best Kept Secret” Bra Auction and requesting community groups, businesses, and individuals to participate by decorating and donating a “theme-related” brassiere. Last year, the event raised nearly $65,000 to help with Phase II of Sidney Health Center’s Cancer Center. Ross Rossaaen from Niehenke Welding won the “Most Supportive” award when his bra creation, entitled “Spike My Cancer Not My Heart,” raised $14,000. Other awards included “People’s Choice” by Debbie and Lindsay Wagner, Heather Nevins and Deann Franz, “Most Inspirational” by the family and friends of Jean Turcotte, and “Best Business” by Niehenke Welding. This year proceeds will benefit the Local Cancer Coalition Relief Fund, at the Foundation for Community Care. The Cancer Coalition Relief Fund monetarily assists individuals fighting cancer in Sidney and the surrounding area. The decorated bras will be auctioned off on the evening of April 26 at the Sidney Elks Lodge. RK Auctioneer Service will live auction the bras and other items will be included in the silent auction. Appetizers and music by K-Hook will also be part of the festivities.

“This event draws a lot of attention for a cause that is near and dear to me. Plus, it brings a significant amount of funds for the cancer care programs in our area,” stated Troy Barnett, the program coordinator for the Site 13 Montana Comprehensive Cancer Control Program. To participate, individuals, groups or businesses must submit their registration to the Richland County Health Department by April 17 and bra entries must be submitted by April 22. The entire bra package will be auctioned off (excluding mannequins). Rosaaen of Niehenke Welding indicated that he is going all out this year and would like to unveil his latest creation at the event. Attendees can sign up for their bid numbers beginning at 6:00PM. The live and silent auctions will start at 7:00PM followed by the DJ music at 9:00PM.

Be Aware of Child Maltreatment

Submitted by Nicole Hackley, Richland County Family Resource Center

With April being National Child Abuse Prevention Month, it is important for members of our community to know the warning signs of child abuse and neglect. Some signs of possible child abuse include: bruises, welts, burns or fractures, dirty appearance, malnourishment, loss of appetite, disturbed sleep, frequent urinary tract infections, sudden behavior changes, clinging, anxiety, withdrawal or aggression, fear of a person or place, avoiding physical contact or suicidal thoughts.

As parents: never leave your children alone, teach self-protection skills, listen to your child's fears and concerns, identify people your child might trust, choose babysitters carefully, monitor your child's internet use, recognize possible signs of child abuse and ask for help if you need it.

As educators: recognize signs of possible abuse, learn the process for reporting abuse, learn about available community resources and don't be afraid to get involved.

As social service and health professionals: recognize any signs of possible abuse, know your state's laws about abuse, learn mandated reporting requirements, offer classes in parenting skills, start a mentoring program for parents, advocate laws against child predators and don't be afraid to get involved.

As family, friends, and neighbors: recognize signs of child abuse, listen to a child's fears or concerns, be a mentor to a stressed parent and don't be afraid to get involved.

If you suspect child maltreatment or abuse, report it. You could contact the child's doctor, the school nurse, a teacher or counselor, local law enforcement, the child welfare department or call Montana's Statewide Toll-Free Child Abuse Hotline at 1-866-820-KIDS. For more information on parenting resources and programs available for parents, call Nicole Hackley at 406-433-4097 or email richlandcountyfrc@yahoo.com.

Parenting Class Offered for Parents of Young Children

Marcia Hellandsaas
NDSU Extension Agent
McKenzie County

How important are the early years of a child's life? What is a parent's role? How do you understand and enhance a young child's growth and development? These questions and others, are central to discovering how to help children have a good beginning, a happy beginning and a bright beginning and will be the focus of the Bright Beginnings parenting class offered this spring in Watford City.

Bright Beginnings will be held on Tuesday evenings, April 23, 30, May 7 and 14, at the Courthouse Meeting Room. These free classes will begin at 5:30 pm and conclude by 7 pm and will include a supper meal. Pre-registration is requested by Friday, April 19 at the McKenzie County Extension Office at 701-444-3451 or e-mail marcia.hellandsaas@ndsu.edu.

This curriculum focuses on key aspects of a child's growth and development and describes practical approaches for parents and other adults to understand and enhance such growth and development. Topics discussed will include: brain development, parent-child attachment, muscle and social development, emotional intelligence, reading and play.

These sessions will be presented by NDSU Extension Agent Marcia Hellandsaas and Katie Spurgeon with McKenzie County Social Services.

Thorne and Taylor Receive Honorary FFA Degrees

By Allison Monsen, Chapter Reporter
Watford City Chapter

The highlight of the 2013 year for the Watford City FFA Chapter came Thursday, April 4th when our chapter held its 54th annual Awards Banquet. Over 200 parents, members and guests were in attendance. Every year the chapter honors local people who support the FFA by presenting Honorary FFA Degrees. This year's recipients were Calli Thorne and Kent Taylor.

Calli Thorne is an alumni of Watford City High School and was a very active FFA member throughout high school. She continued to support our FFA after she graduated as a special guest speaker at our 50th Annual award banquet four years ago. During the past two years as our county extension agent, Calli helped serve as a chapter creed speaking judge, a judge at District Leadership and helped prepare livestock judges for both 4-H and FFA judging. Our FFA Chapter has appreciated all the help and support she has given our FFA Chapter. We look forward to many years of working with her as a partner in Agriculture Education.

Kent Taylor has been a strong supporter of our FFA Chapter as both a parent and a co-op supervisor. His business, Taylor Ag has been a great partner with our program as he has supervised ten co-op students throughout the years. He has given students in our school the opportunity to learn about agribusiness, fertilizers, pesticides, spraying equipment and even how to fly an airplane. As a parent, Kent has been a strong advocate for our program as all five of his children were involved in FFA. His support of our program throughout the years is greatly appreciated and he is very deserving of this recognition.

"Honorary Membership" – farmers, school superintendents, principles, members of boards of education, chapter advisors, teachers, business people and others who are helping to advance Agricultural Education and the FFA, and who have rendered outstanding service, may be elected to honorary membership by a majority vote of the members present at any regular meetings or convention.

Montana BPA 2013 State Leadership Conference: Unmask Your Future

Submitted by Elaine Stedman, Sidney High School
Secondary and postsecondary students from across the state of Montana attended the 2013 State Leadership Conference for the Montana Association of Business Professionals of America in Billings, Montana, March 10-12, 2013.

The 2013 Montana BPA State Leadership Conference was held at the City College Montana State University – Billings, the Holiday Inn Grand Montana, and the Billings Hotel and Convention Center. Sidney members Nicole Moore, Montana State President and Tori Hill, Montana State Membership Director, were part of the leadership team at the conference. Elaine Stedman, Sidney’s chapter advisor, also served as part of the conference planning leadership team, acting as the State Judged Events Coordinator. Members from the Sidney High School chapter and advisor Elaine Stedman and Mary Pfau joined nearly 1,300 students and local chapter advisors who gathered in a spirit of friendship and goodwill as the Montana association assisted the member to “Discover Your Treasure” through participation in the areas of competitive events, leadership, community development and professionalism.

During the three-day event, students demonstrated their knowledge in business and technological skills and abilities in 60 different competitive events from within the four core assessment areas of financial service, administrative support, information technology and marketing/management/human resources. The top finalists in each event advance to compete at the National Leadership Conference this spring in Orlando, Florida, May 6-12, 2013.

The state conference also included a motivational and encouraging keynote from Steve Weber, professional Forrest Gump impersonator and owner of Weber and Associates in Hamilton, and several workshops on topics including leadership, pushing physical and mental boundaries and personal limits, self-defense and Not Another “I” Exam: Teambuilding presented by Special Olympics Montana. Additionally, local chapters donated over $6,800 to Special Olympics Montana as their state-wide philanthropic organization.

Community members and Montana businesses also played a tremendous role in the success of the state conference by serving as judges for the competitive events. In addition, Montana BPA has received more than $8,500 in financial support and/or in-kind support from Montana business and education institutions as part of the corporate sponsor and education partnership program, including an educational sponsorship from Sidney High School. One significant education partner is the Montana State University-

Bozeman’s College of Business which awarded two $1,000 scholarships to Montana BPA members Jonathan Small from Simms High School and Chelsea Strasheim from Sidney High School.

In non-event awards, Montana BPA awarded Silver Star Awards for Chapter Development to the Jefferson High School, Park City High School, Shields Valley High School and Sidney High School chapters; two $500 scholarships to Jere Dennehy, Colstrip, and Tena Pate, Great Falls; $125 Statesman Torch Awards and the Spirit of Professionalism Award to the Lavina High School chapter.

During the state conference 11 secondary members participated in the state officer campaign process with the following six being elected to office for the 2013-2014 school year: President Victoria Hill, Sidney High School; Vice President Kourtney Schott, Broadview High School; Communications Director Callum Gannon, Park High School; Public Relations Director Taylor Anderson, Glacier High School; Membership Director Jack Jennaway, Melstone High School.

The 2014 Montana BPA State Leadership Conference again will be held in Billings, March 9-11.
