Watford City Christmas Events Approaching

By Anna Dragseth

Christmas time is approaching and so are Christmas events in Watford City. This year there will be a Parade of Lights, a Magical Medora Christmas Show, Christmas Fest, and a Vintage Ceramic Christmas Tree Class.

On Friday, November 29, Watford City's annual Parade of Lights will start on Main Street at 6:30 p.m. and wrap up around 8 p.m. with a fireworks show. There will also be an art show from 5 to 9 p.m. in the Gallery of First International Bank, a Christmas tree lighting, and a free ornament-making activity for kids to participate in.

The Watford City Chamber of Commerce is looking for local businesses and nonprofit organizations to decorate and enter floats for the Parade of Lights; for more information, you can contact the Watford City Chamber of Commerce at 701-570-5084.

On Wednesday, December 4, The Magical Medora Christmas event will take place at the Watford City High School at 7:30 p.m. The event is a family-friendly Holiday Show put on by five legendary Medora performers. This traveling holiday favorite from Medora will feature Badlands stars of the past and present and will deliver some of the season's best Christmas music and Christmas story to entertain attendees of all ages. To attend, you must buy a ticket which is $30 per adult and free for anyone under the age of six years old.

On Saturday, December 7, The Rough Rider Center's Annual Christmas Fest will begin at 11 a.m. and wrap up around 4 p.m. At this event, there will be a Christmas Tree Auction, vendor show, pictures with Santa (12 to 3 p.m.), Letters to Santa activity, open skate and swim, bouncy houses, Christmas crafts for kids, and concessions. There is a $5 charge per person to attend, and children two years and younger are free. Vendors interested in reserving a table for the vendor show can contact Shelly at shellyh@roughrider center.com.

On Friday, December 13, at the Rough Rider Center, there will be a Vintage Ceramic Christmas Tree Class starting at 7 p.m. Jessica from the MonDak Heritage Center will be teaching the class and guiding attendees through the steps on how to create a unique ceramic Christmas tree. The fee to participate is $65 per person. If you have any questions, you can contact Jessie at 701-770-8659.

Fairview FFA Selling Wreaths, Memorial Boxes

Decorate your home or business beautifully this year and support a hard-working bunch of students. Fairview FFA students are again selling Christmas wreaths, either round or drop, plus memorial boxes which will all be ready in plenty of time for Christmas Wreaths are $20. Memorial boxes are $30 for a 16" or $50 for a 32" box. If you purchased a box last year, return it in good condition for a $10 credit towards your purchase. You even have choices of ribbon colors; red, blue, gold or silver.

Deadline to order is November 30. Visit the FFA booth at the Bazaar this Sunday or contact any of the FFA kids: Allyson Young, Ashley Karst, Becca Deming, Brady Buxbaum, Danielle Berry, Emily Sundheim, Gunnar Cayko, Hannah Sundheim, Jeromy McKay, Kenneth Olson, Kevin Lopez, Lauren Kjos or Rory Cozzens. Or call Vanessa Pooch, FFA advisor at 320-424-1480.

Christmas Cash, Big Bucks, Sidney

The Christmas Cash campaign presented by ONEOK and the Big Bucks promotion started Friday, November 1, for shoppers in Sidney this holiday season.

Christmas Cash promotes "Shop Sidney First", by rewarding local shoppers with one red ticket for every $20 spent at a participating Chamber business. Christmas Cash runs through the month of November. People can turn in their receipts at the Chamber office until 4 p.m. on December 6.

"Double ticket Saturday" will take place on Saturday, November 30, where shoppers will receive a double amount of tickets for their purchases. For example, a purchase of $20 will result in receiving two tickets.

Chamber staff will host a live drawing of the red tickets for up to $3,000 in Chamber Bucks on December 7, from 1-3 p.m. Attend in person, listen to Power 95 radio, or watch on the Sidney Chamber Facebook page to follow the live drawing.

Big Bucks holiday loans will be available at Richland Federal Credit Union, Yellowstone Bank and Stockman Bank for a fee of only $15. Qualified applicants receive an interest-free loan for nine months for up to $1,000. Participants can spend Big Bucks through December 24.

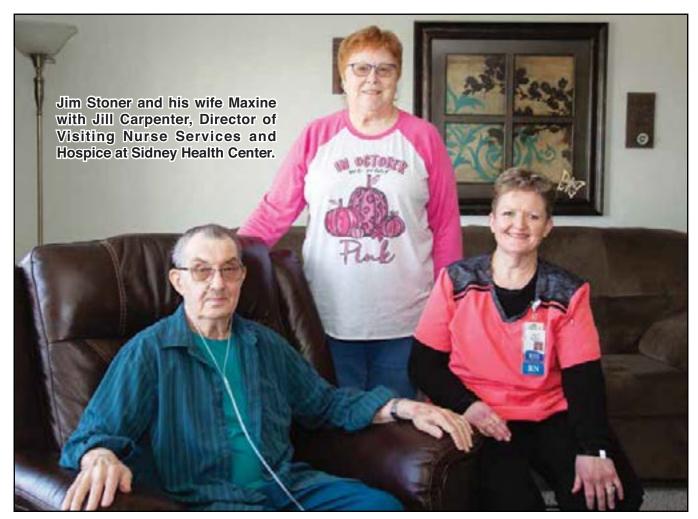

The Small Town Christmas including the Parade of Lights, presented by ONEOK, should be bigger than ever when Richland County kicks off the holiday season on Friday, November 29.

Hospice Is About Adding Quality To Life

November is National Hospice and Palliative Care Month, recognizing the professional team of caregivers who provide support to patients and their families despite a life-limiting illness. At Sidney Health Center, the Hospice team is comprised of a medical director, registered nurses, certified nurse assistants (CNA), social worker, chaplain, dietitian, pharmacists, and rehabilitation services including physical, occupational and speech therapists as well as community volunteers.

In the last three months, Sidney Health Center Hospice has served eleven patients including 215 in-home visits from the team of nurses, CNAs, social worker, chaplain, and family nurse practitioner – Jacqueline Free.

Among those receiving in-home care, is James Stoner, who suffers from Chronic Progressive Lung Disease (COPD) and emphysema. He and his wife, Maxine, are thankful for the services provided through Hospice. "It gives me a better route to medical information and managing my disease," states Jim.

As a previous Hospice volunteer, Maxine was aware of the services provided through the program and she had other family members who had utilized Hospice in other areas of the country. "Jim asked to go on Hospice several months ago as he got frustrated with constant doctoring and ER visits," stated Maxine. "Hospice offers a peace of mind for us as we have an on-call team at our disposal when his condition changes."

"Hospice is really about learning to live with being sick and accepting it," stressed Jim. "They keep a close eye on my status and adjust the medication as needed. I have notes from the nurses and a binder with lots of information to better understand what I'm facing "

The nurse stops by their home once a week to monitor any changes related to medication or disease progression, ensuring that Jim is pain-free and comfortable. Hospice nurses must have critical thinking skills and be able to rapidly access a situation, and respond accordingly with a plan of action to restore comfort to the patients and their families. The nurses are available 24/7 and involved in the day-to-day care activities including symptom management, teaching medication administration to family members, and wound care as needed.

"Most patients are reluctant to receive Hospice care because they feel like they are giving up," states Jill Carpenter, Director of Visiting Nurse Services and Hospice at Sidney Health Center. "Hospice is really about making the most out of the life you have left by minimizing pain and keeping you comfortable."

The Hospice team meets every two weeks to review their patient care plans. The team provides not only symptom control and pain management, but also emotional and spiritual care to patients and their families. This high-quality care enables patients and families to focus on living as fully as possible despite a life-limiting diagnosis.

To learn more about Hospice and Palliative Care at Sidney Health Center, visit our website at https://www.sidneyhealth.org/Services/Hospice or by calling their office at 406-488-2138.

"Kind"

Richland Federal Credit Union, Culbertson branch, is displaying the letters K, N and D to help the Culbertson School JMG (Jobs for Montana Graduates) Program promote being the "I" in "Kind."

The public is encouraged to stop in at 18 2nd Street East in Culbertson and sign the letters to show their pledge to kindness towards others.

The anti-bullying program focuses on outward kindness rather than just being against bullying.

Marleen Skorpil, 78 Benson, AZ formerly of Cartwright, ND

Marleen passed away unexpectedly on October 15 after traveling to her winter home in Benson, Arizona. Dennis, her husband of 60 years, was by her side.

Marleen was born on April 2, 1941 to Frieda (Beyl) and Henry Dschaak, the middle child of 11 children.

Marleen attended high school at Fairview, Montana and married Dennis Skorpil on February 14, 1959. They made their home north of Cartwright and more recently, in Benson, AZ. She was a delightful, intelligent lady with style and class. Regardless of the time of day, she would always be dressed for company. She loved playing Jeopardy and amazingly always seemed to know the questions to the answers. She would spend hours reading the encyclopedia, and more recently, reading Wiki on her cell phone.

She was a seamstress in her younger years, designing her own clothes and making doll dresses for her little sisters. Most recently, her talents were revealed in her scenic oil paintings.

Marleen was a breast cancer survivor of over 20 years. She loved her friends and family, enjoyed golfing, and especially loved dressing up as a dance hall girl with her friends in Benson, then dancing with them in Tombstone. Their picture is featured in one of the saloons there!

She is survived by her husband Dennis, son Kelly (Amber) Skorpil, grandchildren Alex (Tiffany) Walikonis, Ashley (Jory) Stevens, and Cole (Audrie) Skorpil, 2 younger sisters, 2 younger brothers, and multiple nieces and nephews.

She was preceded in death by her parents, her mother and father in law, 3 older sisters, 2 older brothers, 1 younger sister, her infant son (Randy), and her son Kenny.

Memorial Service for Marleen will be announced in the Memorial donations can be made to the American Breast Cancer Foundation.

Jack H. Sorensen, 68 Ecuador, South America formerly of the Brorson Community

Memorial services for Jack H. Sorensen, 68, of Ecuador, South America formerly of the Brorson Community were held at 10 a.m., Saturday, November 9 at Fulkerson-Stevenson Memorial Chapel in Sidney with Pastor Nell Lindorff of the Peoples Congregational Church officiating.

Interment was in the Broroson Cemetery, under the care of Fulkerson-Stevenson Funeral Home of Sidney.

Jack passed away on Monday, October 14 in Ecuador, South America.

Stockman Bank Donates to Breakfast Program

On Wednesday, November 6, Stockman Bank President Garth Kallevig presented West Side Elementary School with a $10,000 check for their Breakfast Program. This is the second check for the breakfast program that Stockman Bank has given to the schools here in Sidney, Montana. The first check went to Central Elementary School. Results from the breakfast program taking place in the Central Elementary School include: change in the students behavior, focused students, better performance and less food insecurities for students who go without breakfast. All students participate in this new breakfast program. On average, 280 students at Central Elementary School are currently doing so, and another 300 at the West Side Elementary will now be participating in the breakfast program. The schools are super grateful for the donations and their hearts are full of gratitude for the donations from Stockman Bank, which are allowing many students to have breakfast and perform better in school.

Montana Public Schools To Have Access To Additional Funding Flexibility And Efficiencies For Staff

MUST Multidistrict Cooperative to support schools in funding employee health benefits

"A" Honor Roll

Helena - Montana Unified School Trust (MUST), is excited to be able to offer Montana's public schools additional flexibility and efficiencies in their funding of employee health benefits. Public schools now have the option to participate in the MUST Multidistrict Agreement to support services and activities for the funding and operations related to their employee health benefits. "My focus at MUST has been to ensure we are responsive to our membership and to look for options to meet their needs. The Multidistrict Agreement allows MUST to help our public schools utilize available means to fund employee benefits," said Andrew Holmlund, CEO of Montana School Services Foundation (MSSF).

As a retired superintendent, "I believe support of our public schools and staff is essential in providing an excellent education for our youth. With one focus, we at MUST are proud to partner with our public schools tackling their challenges," Mr. Holmlund shared. About Montana Unified School Trust

MUST, as a member-governed, self-funded health insurance program, has been serving Montana's public schools and their employees since 1987. Based in Helena, MSSF administers the trust sponsored by Montana Federation of Public Employees (MFPE), Montana School Board Association (MTSBA), and School Administrators of Montana (SAM). MUST is also endorsed by Montana Rural Education Association (MREA) and Montana Association of School Business Officials (MASBO). MUST serves school districts across the state by providing benefits to over 7,700 covered members. MUST's website is www.mustbenefits.org.

Producers Reminded Of New Livestock Loss Payment Requirements

Helena, Mont. - Montana's Livestock Loss Board pays livestock owners for verified livestock losses due to wolves, grizzly bears and mountain lions. SB 133 was passed during Montana's 2019 legislative session and requires a livestock owner to be current on their per-capita fees in order to receive a payment from the State for their loss. A portion of the text of SB133 bill is as follows: (b) Before the board may issue a reimbursement for losses to a livestock producer eligible for coverage for losses, the department of revenue shall certify that the livestock producer has paid per capita fees as required by 15-24-921. Except for a tribal member or tribal entity participating in an authorized agreement pursuant to 2-15-3113, a livestock producer may not receive a reimbursement for losses until the producer has paid any delinquent per-capita fees. Anyone owning livestock is annually required to pay per-capita fees. While not all livestock are covered for loss, there is still a requirement to pay fees on cattle, sheep, goats, horses, mules, swine, poultry, bees, llamas, alpacas, bison, domestic ungulates, ostriches, rheas and emus. Per-capita fees help fund the Department of Livestock activities such as monitoring animal health, preventing and investigating livestock theft and managing predators. Montana's Department of Revenue collects per-capita fees for the Department of Livestock. If you have not paid your fees, contact them at 406-444-6900 or visit their website at: https://mtrevenue.gov/%20 property /property-types/livestock/.

More information on per-capita fees can also be found on the Department of Livestock's website at: http:// liv.mt.gov/Centralized-Services/Per-Capita-Fees or by calling 406-444-4993.

If you suspect your livestock loss is due to wolves, grizzly bears or mountain lions, call USDA Wildlife Services at 406-657-6464 to request an investigation. The Livestock Loss Board can only pay claims for confirmed or probable death loss verified by USDA Wildlife Services.

The mission of the DOL is to control and eradicate animal diseases, prevent the transmission of animal diseases to humans, and to protect the livestock industry from theft and predatory animals. For more information on the department, visit www.liv.mt.gov.

Golden Roundup Always A Season Late

By Lois Stephens

It seems my husband and I always decide to begin a project at the wrong time of year. We purchase snow shovels in April, barbecues in November, and sleds after the snow melts, a new self-propelled four-wheel drive push lawn mower when the grass has withered in the fall, and the list goes on. Whatever we do, we end up waiting months before we get to use our new item.

This September we pulled our usual "let's do it now when it's too late to take advantage of it this season" stunt. We decided to treat ourselves to a small greenhouse. This wasn't a spur of the moment decision, as I have debated the benefits of a greenhouse ever since we moved to our little cabin on the mountain. This summer when a late June hailstorm stripped the potatoes, knocked the stuffing out of the zucchini, and totally demoralized the cucumber plants, I decided now was the time. (Yes, I know, this resembles locking the barn door after the cow has wandered off, but as I say, this seems to be our modus operandi.)

I had it all planned. A greenhouse would protect my warm season crops, such as the tomatoes, cucumbers, zucchini, and winter squash, all of which need heat and a longer growing season. These vegetables would enjoy an early start, grow all summer long in a naturally heated, well-lighted environment, would not have to struggle with cool mountain nights and slow-to-warm-up mornings, and they would have protection from the elements, like unwanted hail, late frosts, strong winds, and other unpredictable weather occurrences. I'd grow my potatoes, onions, and carrots outside in the small garden plot, but the tender, delectable veggies would have it made, living the easy life within a protected place. We might even get a harvest with the help of a greenhouse.

I researched greenhouse kits before I spent my money. I knew I wanted twin wall polycarbonate for the entire greenhouse, not just the roof, and after some investigation, I found what I thought I wanted. Better yet, the greenhouse came as a snap-together kit, so I figured, how hard would this be? It ought to go together in a snap, so to speak.

Before the greenhouse kit arrived, we had to construct some sort of foundation. My husband and I used railroad ties that we dug into the earth, then leveled and squared them, and secured them firmly in place. I figured, in my naivete, that preparing the foundation would prove the most difficult part of the project. After all, the kit snapped together so how tough could it be to erect this small 6x8 foot structure?

The greenhouse arrived in two large boxes and one smaller box. We opened the boxes, sorted the parts and the hardware, and turned our attention to the directions. The instructions turned out to be mostly illustrations, with very few written directions whatsoever. We rolled up our sleeves and began.

I should have known this would take longer than expected when we had to put the first side of the foundation pieces together twice. With no written directions, we had to guess whether the smaller sections went between the larger ones or did the two larger sections go between the smaller ones. Of course, we guessed wrong the first time, realized the side was too long, and had to take it apart. After carefully counting the number of pieces of each

NETZER LAW OFFICE, PC Estate Planning And Real Estate

Licensed in Montana and North Dakota 1060 S. Central Ave. Ste. 2, Sidney, MT 406-433-5511 • netzer@midrivers.com length, sorting them by size, and then snapping them together we achieved the proper length and width for our structure. So good, we got the foundation set, squared, and bolted to our railroad ties.

The greenhouse is designed with a hip roof, or gambrel roof structure, with straight walls, then two symmetrical slopes on both sides that form the roof. The walls went up easily, with the frames connecting to one another like I had pictured, and the polycarbonate slipping into place with no difficulties. I figured we'd finish the project that day.

However, the further we proceeded, the more difficulties we encountered getting parts to snap into place, aligning the walls with the sloped roof portions, and most importantly interpreting the illustrations.

The hardest part proved to be the roof. Have you ever seen that optical illusion composed of boxes that when looking at it one way the white portion appears to be the top, but looking at it from a different angle the white portion becomes the bottom? Well suffice it to say, some of the illustrations acted like stunning optical illusions. Looking at a picture the first time, it appeared that the ridged side of the piece in question ought to be on top, so that is how we put the vent frame together. However, it did not fit, so on closer inspection we decided the ridged part really belonged on the bottom. Considering we never put a greenhouse together before, I guess we did OK, but I hate to mention how many times we had to take a particular piece apart and reconfigure it the opposite way before it fit in its proper place.

Needless to say, it took us two days to put together a 6x8 snap and grow greenhouse. Tempers occasionally flared as we two old people got frustrated, particularly on day two when we had had enough of puzzles and illusions and interpreting illustrations. We persevered without coming to blows, however, and now we actually have a standing structure that so far has withstood wind and weather. At least we got it together before the snow arrived, but of course now I have to look at it standing empty for the next six months before I can see how well it works. Ah well, at least we have it in place. ready for spring and a new growing season.

I wonder what we will decide to purchase in April that we need for the winter months?

With your donations to Energy Share last year, you helped 2,885 Montana families who were facing energy emergencies. Causes of these emergencies included unexpected expenses, deaths in the family, non-working or unsafe heating systems, illnesses or injuries, domestic abuse situations, and loss of employment or reduced wages.

None of us are immune to these roadblocks in life. According to a GOBankingRates 2019 survey, 57% of Americans have less than $1,000 in savings. That is not much to get a household through rough times. Such is the case for the types of situations with which Energy Share helps.

Do you remember how severe last winter was? A combination of vehicle breakdown, plumbing/sewer issues, high heating bills, and the water heater going out made it impossible for a couple with two children to stay current with their home energy bill. At a point of desperation, they applied for and received help through Energy Share and were able to keep their heat on.

Energy Share partners with the ten Human Resource Development Councils (HRDCs) around the state to deliver services. Each HRDC works with a local volunteer Energy Share Committee to review applications on a case-by-case basis. Depending on the community, Local Committee representation can be from electric cooperatives, utility companies, propane vendors, other social services or job training organizations, churches, and senior citizen or low-income advocates. The HRDCs and Local Committees are the heartbeat of Energy Share.

If you or someone you know needs help with their home energy bill, please call Action for Eastern Montana in Glendive at 1-800-227-0703 (https://aemt.org/) or Energy Share at 1-888-779-7589 (https://www.energysharemt.com/how-to-apply/). They will also tell you about another energy assistance program called LIEAP, which might be an even better resource depending on your situation.

Energy Share relies on donations to carry out its primary purpose of helping Montanans who are facing energy emergencies. One hundred percent of private donations are used to help someone in need. If you would like to be involved this way, please visit https://www.energysharemt.com/donate-now/ or look for a pledge card/donation envelope in your November utility bill. You can also mail a check to Energy Share of Montana, PO Box 5959, Helena, MT 59604-5959.

Tony Flynn, Energy Share Board President and NorthWestern Energy representative on the Board, strongly supports Energy Share. "Energy Share has helped so many Montanans over the years who were facing such rough times. Please help share the warmth and if you can, send a gift to Energy Share today."

The Lower Yellowstone Chapter Of A.B.A.T.E. Seeks Toy Donations Or Cash Donations For 25th Annual Toy Drive

The Lower Yellowstone Chapter of A.B.A.T.E. (American Bikers Aiming Toward Education) is a nonprofit organization in Montana that promotes motorcycle education, safety and awareness. Our organization is involved in various community activities across Montana. These include motorcycle safety courses, annual children's motorcycle safety poster contest, annual bike show, and involvement with many other nonprofit organizations in Eastern Montana.

Because the Lower Yellowstone Chapter is the largest in the state, our chapter splits into two counties, Richland and Dawson counties, for our annual toy drives. In Richland County we have worked closely with Christmas Coalition for 20 years; gathering, buying, and donating toys for Gifts From The Heart. Last year, in our community, we distributed gifts to 411 children amoung 151 families. Our chapter collects most of the toys and monetary donations from area companies, businesses, and individuals.

This continued support is what keeps our toy drive going.

We are looking for a tax-deductible contribution that will make a difference in a child's life at Christmas. There are many ways to donate. Buy a gift from or drop it off at Johnson Hardware & Furniture during the Christmas Stroll on November 29. We will be selling sloppy joes, hot cocoa, hot apple cider and baked goods. Most of the ingredients and supplies are generously donated to us by Johnson Hardware & Furniture as a fundraiser for our toy drive. When you donate a gift during the stroll you will get a free meal! Monetary donations can be mailed directly to Stockman Bank-ABATE, 301 W Holly St., Sidney, MT 59270 or Maria Hodge, PO Box 62, Crane, MT 59217. Arrangements can be made to pick up toys by calling Maria Hodge at 406-480-3597.

We thank you for your continued support in this worthwhile endeavor during the Christmas Holiday.

How To Get Your Deer Or Elk Tested For CWD In Region 7, Montana

Are you hunting in Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks Region 7 this season and want to have your deer or elk tested for Chronic Wasting Disease?

CWD has not yet been detected in Southeastern Montana's Region 7, but FWP anticipates finding it due to proximity to CWD cases in other states and provinces. This season. FWP will provide free testing services to anyone hunting deer, elk and moose anywhere in Montana. It takes about three weeks to get results online.

CWD sampling is still voluntary in Region 7, but FWP has sampling goals that will help the agency determine how prevalent the disease is across the state. This research will guide future management and prevention efforts.

There have been no cases of CWD transferring to humans, but the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention recommends against eating the meat of an infected

If you would like to have your animal tested, here's what you can do:

Visit a CWD check station Saturday through Monday

If you are hunting near Ashland, Hysham or Ekalaka on Saturday, Sunday or Monday through December 1, visit a CWD check station in one of these areas. Stations will be open on Saturdays and Sundays from 10 a.m.-sunset, and on Mondays from 8 a.m.-noon. Bring the animal's head and four inches of neck meat to the station. Technicians there will remove the retropharyngeal lymph nodes from the throat area, collect information on harvest location and submit the sample for testing. Each hunter is given a unique ID number, and he or she can check results online at fwp. mt.gov in about three weeks. If the sample comes back positive for CWD, FWP will contact that hunter directly.

Hunters are reminded that they must stop at all check stations that they pass, even if they have not harvested any animals.

If you are in the Broadus area, technicians will be available to collect samples at the FWP office in Broadus on Tuesdays from 10 a.m. to sunset.

Bring the animal's head to a regional FWP office

Bring the animal's head to a regional FWP office Monday through Friday from 8 a.m.-5 p.m. In Region 7, the headquarters is in Miles City. You will be asked to provide information including the township, range and section where the animal was harvested so that FWP can track surveillance efforts and follow up in the event of a CWD-positive sample. Results should be available online in about three weeks.

Collect and submit the sample yourself

Hunters also may collect the sample themselves and send it directly to the FWP lab in Bozeman. Videos and instructions for how to do that are online at fwp.mt.gov/cwd. Again, it takes about three weeks to view results online. Hunters must cover shipping costs, but FWP will pay for sample results.

Priority Sampling Areas and CWD Management Zones

FWP will accept samples from all over Montana, but research efforts are focused on Priority Sampling Areas. Region 7's Priority Sampling Area covers the southern portions of Hunting Districts 702, 704 and 705. If you harvest an animal inside this area, FWP encourages you to have it tested for CWD. Check stations at Ashland, Hysham and Ekalaka are located within or near the Priority Sampling Area.

Hospital Receives Grant For Immunization Program, Williston

Williston, ND - The Alliance for Continuing Education in Health Professionals and Pfizer have generously chosen CHI St. Alexius Health Williston as recipients of the Improving Pneumococcal Immunizations in Immunocompromised Patients grant. This grant will allow us to implement a pneumococcal vaccination program in our Leonard P. Nelson Cancer Center in alignment with our mission, vision, and goals. At CHI St. Alexius Health Williston we are continuously striving to champion wellness in our community and this program is an extension of that continuous strive for excellence.

The goal of the program is to increase immunization rates by giving patients the opportunity to receive the pneumococcal vaccination during pre-existing appointments as opposed to having to create a separate appointment. Pneumonia continues to be the ninth leading cause of death in the state and here in Williston we still see around ten cases every month. Especially given our rural health status, an additional appointment for patients can mean the difference between receiving care and not. By making it easier for patients to receive the vaccine when convenient for them and providing education surrounding the vaccine we hope to increase immunization rates leading to a healthier patient population and community.

Sidney Drama Places 1st In Class A Sweeps! Poplar Meet

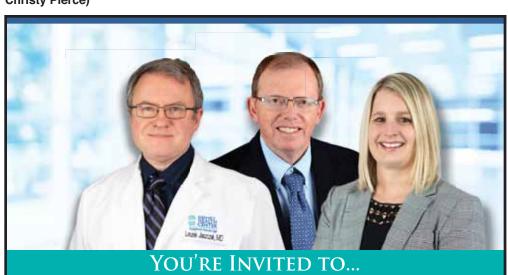

Submitted by Christy Pierce

Speech, Drama & Debate travelled to Poplar this past weekend, coming home victorious. Twelve competitors loaded the bus at 6:30 a.m. tired and not sure which end was up, some of the kids used the bus time to go over the piece that they were going to use in the competition, others slept, but there were a few, who like myself stopped and got coffee before loading up on the bus so we were awake and ready to pump the team up. The meet was small but competitive, especially since it was only the second meet of the season. Since the meet was small Public Forum Debate and Extemporaneous speaking were not offered, so three of our competitors had to find different events to compete in. Sam Stephenson who usually competes in Public Forum placed 4th and Lorraine Coronato placed 1st in Lincoln Douglas Debate. Brandon Smith usually competes in Public Forum but placed 2nd and Colten Dahl usually competes in Extemporaneous Speaking but placed 5th in Impromptu Speaking. Chloe Go placed 1st in Informative Speaking, bringing home the 1st place Trophy for Speech & Debate!!

The Drama Team had success also, Dramatic Soloist Daniel Schneider placed 2nd and Madi Brost placed 4th. Humorous Soloist Kodi Schulz placed 1st. Humorous Duo Josie Yockim & Kaileigh Laroche placed 1st, Classical Theatre Isaac Quiroz & Noah Kyhl placed 1st. Bringing home another trophy for the Drama Team! This upcoming Saturday the team heads to Dawson County High School!

Deer Or Elk Tested For CWD...

are areas where CWD is known or suspected to be present. Whole heads, carcasses, brains and spinal columns of animals harvested within those zones cannot be taken out of them, to prevent the spread of CWD. The Southern CWD Management Zone includes HD 704 south of Hwy 212, HDs 502 and 510, that portion of HD 520 east of Hwy 212, that portion of HD 575 north and east of Hwy 78, that portion of HD 590 south of Interstate 90, plus the communities of Billings, Broadus, and others on the defined boundaries.

The following carcass parts CAN be removed from a CWD Management Zone:

- Meat that is cut and wrapped or meat that is boned out
- Quarters or other portions of meat with no part of the spinal column or head attached
 - Hides with no heads attached
 - · Skull plates or antlers with no meat or tissue attached
- Skulls that have been boiled and cleaned to remove flesh and tissue
 - · Upper canine teeth
- Head, partial body or whole-body mounts prepared by a taxidermist

Evidence of the animal's sex does not have to be attached to any part of the carcass but cannot be destroyed and should accompany the animal from field to point of processing.

FWP recommends taking simple precautions when field dressing deer, particularly in CWD Management Zones:

- Wear rubber gloves and eye protection when field dressing your deer.
- Minimize the handling of brain and spinal tissues.
- Wash hands and instruments thoroughly after field dressing is completed.

• Avoid processing and consuming brain, spinal cord, eyes, spleen, tonsils and lymph nodes of harvested animals. (Normal field dressing coupled with boning out a carcass will essentially remove these parts.)

Carcass dumping is illegal, unsightly

Hunters are strongly encouraged to dispose of hides, bones and trimmings at approved landfills in the area they hunt or to leave the spinal column at the kill site (with landowner permission if on private land.) If they bring the whole head to a check station or FWP office for sampling, FWP will dispose of the head. FWP strongly discourages dumping of carcasses or parts near roadways and other areas where hunters do not have permission. It is unsightly and illegal, and if the animal has CWD, the carcass can transmit the disease for at least two years.

For more information on CWD, visit the FWP website at fwp.mt.gov/cwd.

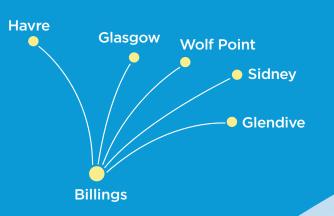

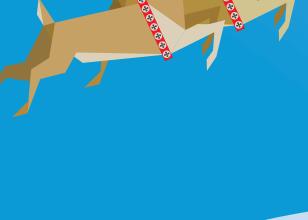

'Tis the season to connect with family and friends on a fast flight from Northeastern Montana to Billings and beyond. Enjoy the holidays, and the ride.
