Speaking up at the Annual Community Conference Promotes Changes in the County

Submitted by Julie Brodhead

The Richland County DUI Task Force was established in 2004 but was included into the Richland County Injury Prevention team in 2005 following the first Community Conference. The community indicated that, due to statistics showing that "unintentional injury" was the #1 cause of death in Montana and #3 in Richland County, action needed to be taken.

Both the team and the task force represent a diverse cross-section of the community including citizens, government officials, law enforcement, health professionals, prevention and treatment specialists, business professionals and others. They are dedicated to promoting a healthier and safer environment for the residents of Richland County. They hold regular meetings quarterly and call additional meetings as needed.

Since then the team has developed a work plan each year that aligns with not only the State of Montana but supports the needs and concerns of Richland County indicated by the community in the yearly conferences. They are an intricate part of the Richland Strategic Plan in creating a healthy & safe community. Awareness and Education are the key components of every strategy....with a goal of sustainability.

Their main focus is increasing seat belt and car seat usage among not only drivers but passengers, to decrease the severity of injuries and deaths in a crash. The team also focuses on reducing distracted driving to decrease the actual number of vehicle crashes in our community. However the team is well aware that there are other safety concerns and as they arise the team and/or task force evaluates how they can bring awareness to the community and help to educate on the needs.

The task force's main focus is reducing DUIs in the community and launched the RADD Campaign (Report a Drunk Driver) asking the community to help keep their community safe. The DUI Task Force Coordinator is a certified RASS trainer which brings education and awareness to those in our communities who sell and serve alcohol. The main focal point for the task force is 21+ so they also bring awareness and education on "Safe Healthy" limits when consuming alcohol. Collaborating with STAND, which focuses on "Under-age Drinking" the task force helps bring awareness and support to those efforts as well.

The team and task force have developed educational programs that can be shared at employee safety meetings or other community group meetings. They also work with employers and others in developing policies to create a healthy and safe environment. For more information on how to become involved or to request training and information please contact Mary Sundheim, Injury Prevention Specialist at the Richland County Health Department. Be sure to attend this year's Community Conference on March 13th at 5:30 pm at the St. Matthew's Parish Center in Sidney. RSVP for the free meal & meeting by going to www.richland.org or call 433-2207 to register.

Sidney Health Center Upgrades to a 160-Slice CT Scanner

Submitted by Rita Steinbeisser

Sidney Health Center recently installed a new CT system that will offer patients the highest level of image quality with advanced technologies to reduce radiation dose. The Toshiba Aquillion Prime 160 multi-detector CT system is designed to lower radiation, make exams more comfortable and safer for patients while providing the information required for diagnosis. "We are thrilled to be offering the most advanced CT technology available to the residents of the MonDak region," stated Linda Labatte, Radiology Manager. "We were able to upgrade from a 64-slice machine to the 160-slice machine at a better rate on our lease agreement. It was a great opportunity to bring the latest technology to the area for the benefit of our patients."

Sure Exposure automatically adjusts the dose levels each patient receives based on their size. That way, the system is able to acquire the highest quality images with the least possible amount of exposure to radiation. Using state-of-the-art software that sharpens the image, Sure Exposure provides optimum image quality at lower radiation levels, enabling information to be gathered with less radiation. Because pediatric patients are more sensitive to radiation, it is even more critical to limit the amount of radiation exposure they receive. Sure Exposure Pediatric includes the dose reduction benefits of Sure Exposure while adjusting the scan to the specific needs of each pediatric patient. By simply entering the patient's age or weight, Sure Exposure Pediatric automatically makes the adjustments needed to acquire the quality images required for accurate diagnoses with the least amount of radiation possible. QDS and Boost3D are noise reduction algorithms designed to improve image quality without increasing radiation dose and sacrificing image resolution. Applying QDS and Boost3D can achieve dose savings while preserving reconstruction speed. All of these technologies available on the new CT system work to provide high-quality images at the lowest radiation doses possible.

As patient safety is of the utmost importance, the new CT system features a full suite of dose reduction technologies to help improve patient safety in CT imaging, while maintaining the highest image quality possible. These technologies include Sure Exposure, Sure Exposure Pediatric, QDS and Boost3D.

Crop Insurance Deadline Approaching for Producers
Submitted by Jim Rickman
The USDA's Risk Management Agency (RMA) reminds producers in Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota, and Wyoming that the spring sales closing date is March 15. The spring sales closing and cancellation date applies to spring planted crops, and is also the deadline for producers to notify their agent if they have planted winter wheat in a county with only spring wheat coverage.

There are also important changes for organic producers this year. The five percent surcharge for all acreage insured under organic farming practices has been removed and a new contract price option will be available to organic producers who grow eligible crops under guaranteed contracts. An organic price election is now available for oats, bringing the total number of crops with organic price elections to sixteen. Changes to organic transitional yields (t-yields) will be phased in so they will be more reflective of actual organic farming experience. More information on risk management tools available for organic farmers can be found on the RMA Organic Crops website at: www.rma.usda.gov/news/currentissues/organics/. Doug Hagel, Billings Regional Office Director, reminds producers to contact their crop insurance agent for changes and insurance availability specific to their operation. A list of crop insurance agents is available at all USDA Service Centers or on the RMA website at: www.rma.usda.gov/tools/agents/.

"Favorite Dip" Recipe Swap at the Library

By Laura Kowatch
Sidney-Richland County Library, Adult Program Coordinator

Vegetable dip! Fruit dip! Cheese dip! Bean dip! Each month the library hosts a recipe swap. The swap gives community members a chance to show off their favorite recipe, try others' recipes, and bring new recipes home. Along with trying new recipes, participants get to meet new people and share food with old friends. The Library will be hosting its March recipe swap on Saturday, March 1st at 2 p.m. The theme for the March Swap will be different types of dips. To participate, simply make your favorite dip and bring it to the library, along with several copies of the recipe. Just bring your dip; the library will provide the rest!

New Online Class Available for Parenting

Submitted by Nicole Hackley

This new curriculum, titled Children in Between, is a co-parenting program for divorcing and separating parents. It gives both parents effective strategies to remain calm, make wise decisions, and help children with their adjustment during the parent's separation or divorce. Children often are often placed in difficult situations between their parents, such as carrying messages from one parent to the other, hearing put-downs from one parent about the other, money problems, questions from one parent about the other, and long-distance parenting.

This interactive program is specifically developed to help separating and divorcing parents, in an online format. This allows for parents to take the class in the comfort of their own home, and allows the flexibility to complete the program in several steps to allow for plenty of time for each topic. This online course provides five streaming videos depicting common problems in divorce, with two solutions to each problem with tutorials and critiques after each solution. During each of these critiques, there are in-depth explanations of key communication skills such as "I" Messages, problem-solving, active listening, reframing, self-talk, and empathy. These topics come in quiz format, which helps reinforce the skills learned, as well as an online discussion forum to answer any questions that arise during the program. In addition to the online quiz, the program comes with divorce education booklets that can be downloaded, as well as references and links, including an option for ongoing e-mail prompts for skill practice. At the successful conclusion of the program, a certificate of completion is available to print.

This program was developed by Don Gordon, PhD., a child and family clinical psychologist for over 35 years. Additionally, this program is the only program that focuses on divorce that is listed on the National Registry of Evidence-Based Programs and Practices. While this program is normally $39.95, the Family Resource Center is happy to offer this program for free, thanks to a grant from the Foundation for Community Care. There are currently eight openings for participants, so call today to reserve your space!

For more information on this program, resources about separation, divorce, or other parenting programs, contact Nicole Hackley with the Family Resource Center at 406-433-4097.

K9 Donation

William Van Hook, right, of Exploration Drilling presents a check to officer Alex Roselles of the Sidney Police Department to help fund the K9 program. Officer Roselles and his dog will be leaving in April for training for patrol and narcotics and should be effectively on duty by June. Donations are still needed for the program and can be made at the Law and Justice Center, Stockman Bank or City Hall. For more information, call 406-433-6846.

OK, when you hit the 37th straight year as America's best-selling truck, other brands just want it to stop. But we don't lettin' up. Cuz as long as the toughest guys doin' the toughest jobs need torque, towing and efficiency to get stuff done ... we'll be the truck bringin' it.

Ford F-Series has been America's best-selling brand of truck 37 years straight. So, if you need to level dirt, concrete or timber ... count on the truck that levels the competition.

Did You Know about the Richland County Nutrition Coalition?

Written by Ludmila Keller, submitted on behalf of the Steering Committee

The Richland County Nutrition Coalition was formed to educate the local community on healthy eating in a fun way. The coalition consists of representatives of the Richland County Health Department, Richland County Extension, Sidney Health Center and community members.

Since its formation, the Richland County Nutrition Coalition has organized a variety of fun and educational programs/activities, including snack drives, Tasty Fork (restaurant program), and school projects. More recently, the coalition was involved in the following projects:

- Zero Weight Gain Holiday Challenge – a bi-weekly newsletter to encourage healthy eating during the holidays
- Health Fair – cooking demonstration and educational booths
- Snack Drive for Boys and Girls Club – collaboration with local grocery stores to collect healthy snacks for children

- ServSafe – food safety training for local restaurant managers and food handlers
- Worksite Wellness – promotion of healthy eating and living ideas/activities at local worksites

The Richland County Nutrition Coalition works closely with the community to ensure that their needs are acknowledged and responded to. Community members are encouraged to join the coalition and/or provide feedback and ideas for future projects. Call Ludmila Keller, FCS Extension Agent at 406-433-1206 or e-mail her at Ludmila.keller@montana.edu. She is located at the Richland County Extension. Make plans now to attend the FREE Community Evening Conference on March 13th in Sidney from 5:30 – 8pm at St. Matthew’s Multi-purpose room to have a chance to voice your ideas on how to improve the county in the area of nutrition. Register at www.richland.org or call 433-2207 to save a seat at this event and enjoy a pasta buffet!

Energy Roundup

QEP Resources Helps To Offset Impacts Of The Oil Boom Faced By Smaller Communities

Submitted by Tie Shank

QEP Resources is a leading independent energy company focused on the exploration, gathering, processing and marketing of natural gas, natural gas liquids and crude oil. Headquartered in Denver, CO., they're focused in two major regions: the Northern Region (primarily in the Rockies and the Williston Basin) and the Southern Region (primarily Oklahoma, Permian Basin in west Texas, and Louisiana) of the United States. QEP employs approximately 1,000 people throughout 8 states and is an S&P 500 member company.

QEP was recently recognized by the Industrial Commission of North Dakota for contributing $1 million to help the Housing Incentive Fund (HIF) create affordable housing for essential service workers in western North Dakota. Of the $1 million donated, $515,401 went to support the development of Arrowhead Estates in Arnegard and the remaining $484,599 went towards the second phase of the Williston State College Foundation Development.

Arrowhead Estates will consist of 16 three-bedroom, two-bathroom, twin homes: eight of which will be reserved for essential service personnel and the remaining eight will be designated as affordable housing where income restrictions will apply. The development will be located near the Arnegard City Park.

QEP Resources Stakeholder Relations Advisor, Lynn Welker, states, "QEP heard about the program and wanted to help by contributing funds to the Housing Incentive Fund. It's challenging to bring in roles vital to community success such as teachers, law enforcement personnel, emergency workers, etc. when having to compete with oilfield wages. The HIF helps to insure these essential workers are able to afford housing."

Matt Thompson, Vice President of QEP Energy's Northern Region states, "QEP Resources is excited and thankful for the opportunity to contribute $1 million to support the state's affordable housing development program." He adds, "As we safely and responsibly develop North Dakota's natural resources, we are committed to supporting the growth and development of the state's local communities through programs like the Housing Incentive Fund."

Since 1982 the NDHFA, North Dakota Housing Finance Agency has been working towards housing affordable for all North Dakotans. If you'd like more information on contributing to their organization, contact Jennifer Henderson at (701) 328-8080

Richland County Conservation District, Cost Share Applications and Tree Sales

Submitted by Julie Goss
Applications for the Richland County Conservation District Cost Share program will be accepted through March 7, 2014. The cost share program provides financial assistance for natural resource improvements within Richland County. The program is available to any private sector landowner on property in Richland County. Projects must be on the ground and follow the Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) designs standards and specifications where applicable. Cost share assistance is 50% of the cost recommended on the NRCS cost list and is limited to $5000.00 per year and a cap of $10,000 within a 5 year period. Applications will be ranked and successful applicants will be notified by March 31, 2014. All projects must be completed by December 31, 2014. If you have received cost share from another public entity in the last 5 years you are not eligible for this program. Practices implemented in the past include stockwater wells and pipelines, fences, grass seeding, buried irrigation lines and shelterbelts. Over $400,000 in conservation practices have been implemented in Richland County since the start of this program in 2011. Deadline for this cost share program is March 7, 2014.

Tree orders will be taken for conservation tree plantings until April 1, 2014. Trees will be delivered in late April or early May. Trees available through the Conservation District are suitable for wind breaks and shelterbelts. Trees can be ordered in bundles of 10 or 25 depending on size and availability. If you need advice on tree selection, pruning techniques, general tree care and maintenance plan to attend our Tree Care and Shelterbelt workshop on Wednesday, March 5, 2014 from 2-5 pm and Thursday, March 6th for a tour of shelter belts in the area. Featured speaker for the workshop is Peter Kolb, MSU Extension Forestry Specialist. The Conservation District is cooperating with MSU Extension-Richland County and the local Natural Resource Conservation Service office to present this workshop.

Information on the cost share program or tree order forms are available at the conservation district office at 2745 West Holly Street or by calling 406-433-2103x101 or emailing julie.goss@mt.nacdn.net.
