Ice Cold Laps, Local Brews on Tap, Feb. 10th

By Stephanie Ler

The North Dakota Brewers Guild is teaming up with Save the Maah Daah Hey to combine a cool race ending with cold local beers at the Winter Beer Fest.

On Saturday, February 10th, enjoy the snowy "Poco Rio Frio" Badlands race on the historic and serene Maah Daah Hey Trail, Long X Trail, and the Poco Rio Frio, a frozen Badlands creek. The trail will be cleared for snowshoeing, cross country skiing or fat biking with bike tires 3.8 inches or greater. The course begins at the CCC Campground south of Watford City, and has three different loops available. The 2-mile Land Lover's Loop gives just a taste of the Trail. The 4-mile loop, the Poco Rio Frio, follows a frozen creek to connect the Maah Daah Hey Trail to the Long X Trails. The full 11-mile loop, the Poco LOCO Loop, follows the full Maah Daah Hey and Long X Loops. Participants can choose to complete as many loops as they wish during the 10 hour time frame. Children are also encouraged to participate with parental supervision required for children under 13.

The race begins at 8AM CST and ends at 6PM. Pre-registration is required, and closes at 5PM CST on Thursday, February 8th. Racers are eligible to purchase advanced tickets to the Winter Beer Fest at a $15 savings. Visit <https://www.bikereg.com/poco-rio-frio> to register.

Celebrate racing success and warm up with a cold beer at the Rough Rider Center at the Winter Beer Fest, organized by the North Dakota Brewers Guild. The Brewers Guild is a non-profit group of brewers and partners who are devoted to creating a healthy environment for the growth and quality of the craft beer industry in North Dakota through advocacy and education.

The Beer Fest boasts 11 different brewer booths and 50 different local brews, including the Maah Daah Hey IPA. The MDH IPA, by StoneHome Brewing Company in Watford City, is an aromatic unfiltered IPA with citrus and tropical fruit. The IPA is just one of many brews available from brewers from Watford City to Fargo.

Food at the event is furnished by the North Dakota Brewer's Guild. Entertainment is provided by Mighty Big Jim and the Tall Boys, a roots rock and roll band from Wibaux, boasting both covers and original songs. Eli Young Band and Nitty Gritty Dirt Band to Headline Richland County Fair

By Stephanie Ler

The Richland County Fair and Rodeo concert-goers will spend Saturday, August 4th moving and grooving to music by the Eli Young Band, featuring special guest the Nitty Gritty Dirt Band.

Fair & Rodeo manager Jamie Larson announced the bands publicly on January 10th. Pre-sale tickets will be available until July 27th.

The Eli Young Band, self-proclaimed modern country music "misfits", is comprised of singer Mike Eli, guitarist James Young, bassist Jon Jones and drummer Chris Thompson. After building a grass-roots fan base in Texas in the early 2000s, the Eli Young Band hit the big-time with number one singles "Crazy Girl", "Even if it Breaks Your Heart", and "Drunk Last Night", as well as Platinum and Multi-Platinum certifications and Billboard Awards and an American Country Music trophy for Song of the Year. If you haven't heard the Eli Young Band on Sirius XM yet, you may recognize their unique country vibe from appearances on ABC's "The Bachelor", or "Nashville", or the CW Network's "Hart of Dixie". The band has also appeared on TODAY, Late Night With Jimmy Fallon, and Jimmy Kimmel Live!, and has performed at both the CMA and ACA Awards.

Most recently, the band has released FINGERPRINTS, with eight of the 11 tracks penned by the band members themselves. The band has returned to a live-show-first mentality, focusing on ringing guitars, driving bass lines, thundering drums, and genuine vocals-all leading to a one-of-a-kind, unforgettable live experience. To see more of the Eli Young Band before the show, visit www.EliYoungBand.com.

The Richland County Fair & Rodeo is one stop on the legendary Nitty Gritty Dirt Band's 52nd year together. Band members Jeff Hanna, Jimmie Fadden and Bob Carpenter are considered iconic and profoundly influential in country music, serving as the catalyst for the country rock and American roots music. They have Multi-Platinum and Gold records, and top ten hits such as "Fishin' in the Dark", and "Mr. Bojangles", which was inducted into the Grammy Hall of Fame in 2010, as well as many Grammy and CMA awards and nominations. Nitty Gritty Dirt Band has played to sold-out crowds at The Historic Ryman Auditorium, and many other iconic venues. On Saturday, August 4th, Nitty Gritty Dirt Band will bring their own unique live show to fair-goers at the Richland County Fair & Rodeo.

Don't miss out on this once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to see these two country music icons at the Fair this year. Ticket packages are available for $75 during the pre-sale, from May 22 until July 27th. For concert tickets only, pre-sale reserved tickets are $55, and festival seating tickets are $50. After July 27th, ticket prices bump up $5 per ticket.

OBITUARIES

Richard Keith O'Connor, 94 Sidney, MT formerly of Wolf Point, MT

Richard Keith O'Connor

Richard Keith O'Connor, 94, a rancher from Wolf Point, and later Sidney, MT passed away Monday, January 8 at Eastern Montana Veteran's Home, Glendive, Montana, with his daughter, Dawn, holding his hand. Cremation has taken place, and his remains will be buried in June with his wife, Jeanne (Berry) O'Connor, in Custer County Cemetery, Miles City, MT. A memorial service will be held at that time. In lieu of flowers, please spend time riding a good horse and enjoying God's country, or reading to a child. Please share your remembrances and condolences at www.fulkersons.com.

Richard was born August 11, 1923 in Fairview, MT, one of 11 children. When he was 2 years old his family moved north of Poplar, MT, and that's where he grew up. At 15 he bought his first horse for $8, which he earned collecting and selling horsehair. Dick broke Flash to ride and had him so well broke that his Dad made Dick sell him when a gentleman later offered $40 for him. That was the beginning of a lifetime career training horses.

Dick graduated in 1941 from Poplar High School and joined the Navy in 1942. He spent most of WWII in New Guinea and the Philippines. He fixed rangefinders on naval ships and calibrated them out to 10,000 yards. One of his favorite memories was of a day when he was boxing and a guy walking by asked to get in the ring with him. Dick thought himself a pretty good boxer so he said sure. He was surprised when he couldn't get a punch in, until he later learned he had been boxing Freddie Cochran, the 1941 World Welterweight Champion!

Dick got out of the service in 1945 as a Machinist, Chief Petty Officer 2nd Class. He went to college in Missoula and Seattle and later eloped with Jeanne Berry and her son Jerry, from Jordan to Osceola, Missouri, in 1949. There he bought feeder hogs, fed them out and sold them, bought and sold cattle, and broke and sold horses until they had a little nest egg. They returned to Montana in 1952 and purchased the land that they built into a beautiful ranch, north of Poplar and Wolf Point.

Dick's daughter, Dawn, was born in 1958. Jeanne was sick in the hospital shortly after, and the nurses were concerned about how he was caring for the new baby. He told them not to worry. When Dawn needed a bath he just held her by the hair and dunked her up and down in the water tank and she cleaned up just fine! Dick shared his sense of humor, a string of good horses, and his love of reading and learning with his family.

In 1969 Jeanne lost her battle with cancer, and Dick was left to raise an 11-year-old daughter by himself. He worked hard on his ranch, cooked for and cleaned up after numerous hired men over the years, and you could eat off his floors, they were so clean. He had a special way with animals and continued to train good horses. Dick could reach up and take his horse's bridle off and he would work just as good without it.

In 1982 Dick married Wava Lee, and after years of doing everything himself, he had a new partner to share his life with. They had fun working on the ranch together, and dancing wherever they went. They were quite the pair and people would often comment how much they enjoyed watching them dance. On their anniversary one year, they surprised the cows by jumping out of the pickup and dancing in the grass as the radio played their favorite song, "Look at Us" by Vince Gill.

They sold the ranch in 1999, and "retired" to a small place east of Sidney where he could raise his horses and run yearlings during the summer. Dick owned a great stud, Winning Little Leo, and raised many colts that he trained and sold all over the country. Not one to just give his horses away, Dick ultimately gave his favorite horse, Hallmark Smoke, to his granddaughter Megan. Smoky turned out to be that once-in-a-lifetime horse for her. Dick trained his last horse at age 90, when he could no longer see.

Even though the going was not always easy for Dick, his inherited Scotch thriftiness, coupled with his Irish tenacity and a good sense of humor, carried him through much adversity and hardship. He talked to "Baby Jesus" a lot, and I think God appreciated his humor and positive outlook, too.

Dick was preceded in death by his parents, Daniel Joseph and Margaret Keith O'Connor, brothers, Dan, John, Chris, James, baby Charles and Lawrence O'Connor, sisters, Birdie Paris, Margaret Jones and Rosemary Mills, first wife, Jeanne Berry O'Connor, and second wife, Wava O'Connor.

Dick is survived by his sister, Betty Jane Snyder, daughter, Dawn (Scott) Greenwood of Sidney, stepson, Dallas O'Connor, and grandchildren, Megan Greenwood and Tracy O'Connor.

Halvorson’s community involvement includes being a member of Trinity Lutheran Church, a church board member, congregational director of Christian education, member and past officer of civic organizations, treasurer of a community fundraising campaign for Crestwood Inn, and incorporator and founding director of the Sidney Community Education Foundation.

Halvorson graduated from Williston State College in general studies, the University of North Dakota in accounting and economics, and the University of Montana in law.

Halvorson is a life-long Republican and has held numerous party and campaign positions since his teenage years.

When asked, “What is your mission and why are you running,” Halvorson said:

“I am grateful to Mike Weber for appointing me Deputy County Attorney in 2000, which gave me the opportunity to be part of the mission of the office. I aim to continue the office’s proficient representation of the County and the State. There have been major changes in the law and the organization of the legal system in the past few years. My extensive experience will help in the sizeable task of adapting to these changes. Our office will seek to establish justice in criminal cases, guidance to the Commissioners and County departments in their business, and defense of the County’s employees and interests.”

CHI St. Alexius Health Williston Restricts Visitation Due to the Flu

Due to the severity of complications from this year’s influenza strain, CHI St. Alexius Health is restricting visitation to all units in the hospital effective immediately.

Restrictions for most departments include:

- Children are prohibited from visiting patient rooms/areas.
- Visitation is restricted to Significant Other.
- In OB – The baby’s grandparents are currently approved for visitation.

While we realize these temporary steps may cause inconvenience to family members and visitors, we appreciate your understanding and support as we make every effort to ensure the safety of our patients and newborns.

Visitor restrictions will remain in place until the threat of influenza has passed or returned to normal seasonal level.

The general public is reminded it is not too late to vaccinate against influenza. In addition, it is important to always cover your cough and practice good hand hygiene.

IT’S TAX SEASON

Here Are Some Helpful Tips From The IRS:

- Don’t count on receiving a refund by a certain date. Some refunds are required to be held until after Feb 27, 2018.
- Track your refund on IRS.gov or the IRS mobile app, IRS2Go.
- If self-preparing your taxes and filing electronically, you must sign and validate your return by entering your prior-year Adjusted Gross Income or your prior-year self-select PIN. Using an electronic filing PIN is no longer an option.
- All IRS Taxpayer Assistance Centers (TACs) are now by appointment only. Don’t wait until it’s too late to ask questions! However, Most questions can be resolved on the IRS.gov website without visiting a TAC.
- There are tools, filing options and other services and resources available on www.IRS.gov.

New Year’s Resolutions

By Lois Stephens
With the return of January, every publication in creation tackles the subject of New Year’s resolutions and making improvements of all sorts in one’s life. When the new year dawns bright and fresh, writers, figuring this is a good way to fill blank pages, devote a lot of space discussing how and why to make resolutions, how to keep them, tricks and hints on how to follow through on those well-meaning resolves, and a host of other spin-offs on the subject of resolutions of all sorts.

Personally, I shake my head at all this hoopla, and I generally read very few of the multitude of articles available on the topic. I snicker when people earnestly talk about what they’ll accomplish thanks to their newly made new year’s resolutions. Who do they think they are they fooling, besides themselves?

I didn’t always feel this way, basically because when I was young and foolish (er, make that inexperienced), I never bothered to scratch beneath the surface to discover the idea behind resolutions. I went along with the crowd. I felt it was my obligation to make all sorts of resolutions each January 1, most of which I promptly forgot about by the time I sat down to eat New Year’s dinner. I made the usual resolutions: work harder, exercise more, be kind to the grumpy old lady down the street and under NO circumstances ever let her chickens out again, and other notions that sounded noble and lofty at the time. A few of these resolutions remained on my mind for a day or two into the new year, (particularly the one about letting out the chickens, but that was more from the fear of retribution by my parents rather than any desire to behave myself) but then they too disappeared into the dust of everyday living (with the exception of the chickens, of course).

Age and experience finally caught up with me, along with some common sense and the realization that when I wanted or needed to make a change, the time was NOW, not at the start of a new year. New Year’s resolutions? Pish posh. What a waste of time for the most part, as the majority of new year resolutions consist more of a wish list rather than a to-do list or any real desire to make a lasting change.

If I want to try something new, shed a bad habit, visit the little old neighbor more often, or any other change that I want to see in my life, I can do that any day of any month of any year. Each day offers me an abundance of different choices, and I don’t need to wait until January 1 to begin again. I can start fresh any day I make up my mind to do so. I can resolve to start or stop something, make a needed change, or rethink how I tackle problems every day all year long, and when I make resolutions on any particular day OTHER than January 1, I have a pretty good chance of success, something I can’t say about making promises to myself on New Year’s Day just because that’s the custom.

I do believe in wishing people a Happy New Year, and in pondering the future as to what this bright new year may mean for me and my little world. However, the resolutions bit seems to consist mainly of fantasy ideas, and it provides unimaginative writers something to write about (present company excluded, of course). I do wish those who read my writings all the very best, and I encourage those of you who truly want to make some sort of change to go ahead and do so, but don’t make it a New Year’s resolution. Make it a promise to yourself and make that promise whatever day you honestly decide that now is the time to make that change, whether it is something small like read one more book a month, or something major like creating a new lifestyle. Make that resolution to yourself and for yourself and follow through. Just don’t make that resolve on January 1.
