The 69th Annual Old Settler's Day Celebration Honors Alexander's First Responders and Fire Department Aug. 28-30

By Meagan Dotson

The 69th annual Old Settler's Day Celebration will be held in Alexander, ND August 28th, 29th and 30th as the community honors Alexander's First Responders and Fire Department. What started as neighbors and friends getting together after the harvest has evolved into three days of food, fun, vendors and entertainment with an extended invitation to surrounding communities. The beef for this year's Barbeque in the Park will be generously donated by Triangle Petroleum.

The celebration will kick off with a bon-fire on Thursday at 7:00pm. For anyone interested in putting on their aprons, or simply doing some taste-testing, a chili cook-off will be going on Friday afternoon; contact Barb or Jamie Fixen for more information at 701-570-2011 or 701-770-2100. Later that evening, the Fireman's Competition will have Alexander's Fire Department squaring off with firemen from Arnegard, ND in a series of challenges that are sure to be fun for the participants and onlookers alike. Live music provided by White Water Willie will be in front of the fire hall to close out the day.

Saturday will be a full day of activities and events starting with a parade at 11:00am.

Everyone is invited to the Barbeque in the Park followed by an honorary program recognizing the local EMS and Fire Department.

The afternoon has something to offer all ages; Alexander teachers and students will be manning the kid's carnival which includes bounce houses and games and there will be bingo in the park with opportunity to simply visit with friends and neighbors.

This is the second year that vendors and crafters have been part of the festivities, incorporated to ensure that people were kept interested and involved throughout the day. A variety of clothing and artwork will be available as well as Clever Container, Mary Kay, Vemma all-natural energy drink, Hello Tutu, food vending and a booth providing school board information. There are no vendor fees and anyone interested in setting up can contact Brittini Virden at City Hall for more information, 701-828-3461. Set up will begin at 10:00am Saturday on the north side of the park and participants are invited to stay as long as they like.

The Lewis and Clark Trail Museum will be open to the public giving an insight to the lifestyle had by the first settlers in the area. The 1914 school house, which is now home to the museum, will be open from 9:00am-6:00pm Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The Hiway Lounge Horseshoe Tournament will showcase the new horseshoe pits at the park with registration at 1:30pm and the celebration will wrap up with a street dance beginning at 9:00pm.

Buttons dedicated to this year's honorees are available prior to the festivities and throughout the three day event. They can be purchased at the Hiway Lounge or Alexander City Hall for $2.00 each.

Old Settler's Day Celebration not only proves to be a lot of fun for local residents, but also draws many people who grew up in the area and have moved away, making it a great time reconnect and celebrate a time-honored tradition.

Sidney Tractor Pull Saturday

Submitted by LaVanchie Starkey

The 7th Annual MonDak Harvest Fest Tractor & Pickup Pull will take place August 23rd at the Richland County Fairgrounds. Hosted by the Sidney Area Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture, this event continues to grow as we see more competitors wanting to test their "metal".

New this year is the Full Pull sled provided by Full Pull, Inc of Mandan, ND. In the past we have had a percentage pull with the winner being determined by the percentage of their own weight pulled. A Full Pull is determined by footage, making it much easier for fans to see who the winners are and cheer their favorites on. Tractor classes consist of: Farm Stock No Modifications, Improved and Modified. Pickup categories are 4x4 & 2x4 Stock, Heavyweight/Diesel and Modified.

An ATV and Lawnmower pull will again be provided by Marvin Varner of Terry, MT. Classes will include ATV's under 500cc, 500 to 700, over 700, steering wheel class, along with lawnmowers.

Weight-in for participants begin at 3:00 pm. Registration fees are $25 and will be added to the purse to be awarded to our top finishers.

The grandstand gate will open at 5:00 pm with the pull beginning at 6:00 pm. A beer garden and concessions are available on the grounds. Call 406-433-1916 for more information.

Many of us have digestive disorders. In fact, about 30 to 40% of adults say they experience frequent indigestion and more than 50 million visits are made every year to health care facilities for symptoms related to the digestive system. Suffering from heartburn, diarrhea, constipation and excess gas does not have to be the norm; in fact, these are all signs that our digestive system is not functioning properly. By taking care of your digestive system, you can become a "regular" human being.

"Nourish Your Digestive System" will be held at 11 am on Wednesday, August 27 at the Watford City Senior Center. This lesson will help participants learn about their digestive system and ways to improve their digestive health. The roles fiber plays in keeping the digestive system healthy will be explained. The importance of water and staying hydrated will be included as well as "friendly" bacteria – what they are and how probiotics and prebiotics work to keep our bacteria in a healthy balance. The session will conclude with a general overview of healthy digestive tips. Activities and discussions as well as taste testing and recipe distribution will be included.

For more information, please contact the McKenzie County Extension Office at 701-444-3451.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Lambert and Richland County,

I've been gone from Lambert and Richland County since the spring of 1973, but even to this day when people ask me where I'm from, I'll say Lambert, Montana. Nine out ten people will always ask where that is and I'll say Richland County, Montana. I proudly wear these belt buckles, one at a time. I'm proud to say I'm from Lambert and Richland County. I was especially proud of my mother, father, brothers and sisters. I started out with six brothers and eight sisters. I now have one brother and four sisters left. I'm getting pretty long in the tooth and when I look back, life is short. I will always be from Lambert and Richland County and will always be glad to come back.

- Fritz Rehbein

P.S. My first wife and the mother of my eight children gave me the Lambert buckle and I believe the greatest gift that a father can give his children is to love their mother.

LYIP Begins Rocking Process of the Intake Diversion Dam

By Dianne Swanson

The critical rocking process of the Intake diversion dam by Lower Yellowstone Irrigation began August 7 and should be completed in about a week. In 2012, the last year when rocking was permitted, 1500 cubic yards of sandstone boulders were used to bring the height up to 2.5' above the dam. The 2012 rocking was extensive after the flooding of 2011. This year, the ice jams removed all the rock from the top of the dam. However, LYIP manager James Brower said the river seems to be responding faster this year so less rock may be needed.

Rocking was not permitted in 2013 and water dropped below the full water right level. This year, rocking was delayed by negotiations with the Montana State Historical Preservation office. By August 6, water was at 1.7' above the dam with the gates 100% open. Once rocking began, the water level immediately started to rise and by August 8, the level was 2' above the dam.

Parenting Classes for Parents with Young Kids!

Submitted by Nicole Hackley, Family Resource Center Coordinator

Beginning September 2nd, the Richland County Family Resource Center will offer a 15-week session of the Nurturing Parenting Program. Classes are free and will be held from 5:30 to approximately 7:30 at the Sidney-Richland County Library. Parents are encouraged to bring their children, as a family-style dinner and childcare will be provided at each session. Classes will run every Tuesday until December 16th. The class is a great time for kids and families, and offers a night off from cooking and cleaning!

The goal of the Nurturing

Parenting program is to provide parents with additional tools and techniques that help provide a healthier home environment for the family. Every week each class begins with a family meal which is generously provided by a member or group in the community. Following dinner time parents and children participate in an interactive song and activity that helps transition the children to a separate classroom from their parents.

Examples of topics include: Family morals, values and rules, empathy, behavior encouragement, discipline, child development, parental expectations, empowering ourselves and our children, helping children manage their behavior, communication, understanding feelings, nurturing parenting routines, problem-solving, and positive self-talk. Children learn the same topics as the adults, through playtime interaction and educational games. Lesson take approximately one hour, and at the end of each session the families are brought together for a family activity, such as games, crafts, or story time. All classes are taught by trained facilitators.

For more information or to register please contact Nicole Hackley, Family Resource Center Coordinator, at 406-433-4097.

Farm Credit Services Provides
FFA Student Handbooks &
Support to FFA Organizations

Submitted by Laurie Nentwig

This year acknowledges the 38th year that the three independent Farm Credit Services associations in North Dakota have donated FFA Handbooks to agricultural students in area schools.

This year, approximately eighty high school agriculture education programs in North Dakota and northwest Minnesota will receive over 2,500 of the student handbooks for the start of the 2014/2015 school year donated by the Farm Credit Services Associations in North Dakota.

Over the past three and a half decades more than 68,000 of the books have been presented to FFA-first year 'greenhands' to be used throughout the four-year FFA program.

Farm Credit Services of North Dakota is committed to supporting organizations, programs and initiatives dedicated to advancing agriculture. From encouraging the new generation of agriculture producers and youth, through programs such as FFA, we are strengthening our commitment to a thriving rural America – now and in the future.

We proudly support the FFA which provides excellence in the teaching and learning of agriculture and its activities in science, technology, production, processing, and related agribusiness activities as well as helping educate and understand the vital and necessary role of the agricultural industry.

At Farm Credit Services of North Dakota we strongly support the FFA organizations in the 17 counties we serve in northwest North Dakota knowing today's youth will become tomorrow's agricultural producers and leaders.

The three independent North Dakota Farm Credit associations are headquartered in Minot (www.farmcreditnd.com), Fargo (www.agcountry.com), and Mandan (www.farmcreditmandan.com). # Lone Tree Gun Show Held Last Weekend

RoundupWEB.COM

By Susan Schieffer
The Lone Tree Gun Show took place this past weekend at the Richland County Fair Event Center. Helmed by Leanne Pelvit and Brenda Larson, the show, which started out as a fundraiser for the Sidney Chamber of Commerce, has now entered its 24th year. "Last year the event raised money for the 4H rifles for shooting sports. This year the Boys and Girls Club of Sidney and Hunter Safety will be benefiting from the show," Larson says.

Lonetree's popularity has grown through the years and demand to present here is high. With 160 tables offered, the show sells out very quickly and the waiting list is very long. Last year there were approximately 1200 people who came through the doors. This year, even with a torrential down-pour on Friday night, Larson and Pelvit believe it will be up to 1500 people to visit by the end of Sunday.

People travelled hundreds of miles from across Montana and Wyoming to be here. Most of these vendors have been coming here for years, some since its inception like Claire Stoner or Midge and Sandy Siefert from Glasgow. "We are very close to many of the vendors. They are like our family. They have watched our children grow and we're always so happy to see them again."

"Our first show was held in the Armory building and after a few years we switched to the old commercial building. Now we are in the Event Center, which is at least double the size," said Larson. "It's nice to have the space but also air conditioning and a kitchen now."

Leanne Pelvit who has helped Larson organize the event for years now, states, "It takes a lot to put this together, but we have always been fortunate to have people volunteer their time and help make it a success." Larson agrees, "We can't thank everyone enough. Both our husbands, our friends and our children share their time to volunteer or "volun-told" as our kids like to put it. Brent Coon has been with us since day one and Deniece Schwab is our chief cook. They are just wonderful people and a great help."

Just as you would expect there were guns, guns and more guns of course, but surprisingly, it was an eclectic blend of other wares as well. As you walked by the tables, new and old rifles, shotguns, handguns, revolvers and ammunition were displayed with much care, but this is also the place to come if you are looking for antiques or collectibles. Things that you might not find at Cabella's or some other sporting store. One gun, a Parker 28 gauge, owned by Mick Peabody of Great Falls, was priced at $20000.00. At another table, rented by Kirk and Carol Harshman, there was a beautiful and intricately designed gun belt. Made from leather and housing two .45 colts and curved five inch blade with an ivory handle. Completely hand made and never used.

Interspersed throughout the guns you could also find knives of various size, jewelry, homemade or new, collectible coins, rugs, kitchen wares, samurai swords, toys and various knick-knacks. There was a little something for everyone here. Even if you came just to look, the vendors were excited to talk about their items.

The gun show also gave some Sidney natives a chance to display their talents. Patti Schwenke's table was full of her homemade Rosarys. Kevin Lake offered hand crafted custom made knives and pens. David McDonald, a science teacher at the High School in Sidney, had a display of Japanese swords. Some from WWI and another that dated back as far as the 1400s. McDonald buys and sells, repairs and appraises these swords.

Both Larson and Pelvit want the people of Sidney to know if there is a cause or a need for fundraising to give them a call. "We are always looking to help. If there is a non-profit organization out there that needs a helping hand, just give us a call." All inquiries for fundraising opportunities can go to Leanne Pelvit at 480-5594.

Another Year of Record ND Fishing
License Sales

The number of anglers buying fishing licenses in North Dakota continues to increase, as 2013-14 is the second consecutive year a new record for license sales has been established.

Statistics compiled by the Game and Fish Department revealed more than 219,000 fishing licenses were sold last year, an increase of 1,000 from 2012-13. A record total of 160,100 resident and 59,300 nonresident fishing licenses were sold last year.

In terms of actual individuals participating in fishing, the past year was again record-setting with more than 203,000 active anglers. Ice fishing activity experienced a substantial increase, while open water angler days took a slight dip.

A record number of fishing lakes (many at all-time elevations) and aggressive fish management in North Dakota have helped produce record fishing license sales.

Lake Sakakawea, Devils Lake and Lake Oahe/Missouri River remained the top three fisheries in the state.

Nonresident Travel Spending Contributes to NE Montana Counties and Travel Regions

Submitted by Norma Nickerson, director, UM Institute for Tourism and Recreation Research

An analysis recently completed by the Institute for Tourism and Recreation Research at the University of Montana highlights the economic contribution of nonresident travel spending to each of the six travel regions in Montana, as well as 18 of the state's 56 counties.

Estimates of the economic contribution of traveler spending at the statewide level showed that 11.02 million visitors spent approximately $3.62 billion in 2013, which directly supported $2.8 billion of economic activity and over 33,000 Montana jobs.

Nonresident travelers indirectly support an additional $1.6 billion of economic activity and 14,600 jobs. Associated with those travel-related jobs is $979 million in labor income directly attributable to nonresident travel and another $525 million indirectly attributable to nonresident spending.

Focusing on the $105 million spent by nonresident travelers in the northeastern part of the state, $63 million of economic activity and 830 jobs are directly supported in Missouri River Country Travel Region. An additional $22 million of economic activity and 200 jobs are indirectly supported. A total of $24 million in labor income is directly attributable to nonresident spending, supplemented by an additional $7 million indirectly supported by traveler spending.

Richland County, located within Missouri River Country was included in the analysis. A total of $32 million of economic activity in Richland County was directly supported by the $56 million spent in the county, with an additional $9 million supported indirectly. Spending in the county directly supported 390 jobs and nearly $14 million in labor income, with an additional 90 jobs and $3 million in labor income being indirectly supported.

The full report, including estimates of the economic contribution of nonresident traveler spending in the other five Montana travel regions, as well as additional county-level estimates, is

Celebrate Equal Suffrage by Protecting Your Right to Register and Vote on Election Day

Submitted by MT Secretary of State Linda McCulloch

Women across the state are preparing to vote in the General Election on November 4. Current law secures their right – and the right for every voter -- to register and cast a ballot through the close of polls on Election Day. It's a fundamental liberty that should be secured and protected as we celebrate 100 years of victories in the women's suffrage movement, and the freedom for all Americans to participate in elections.

On November 3, 1914, Montana voters granted full voting rights to non-Native women. The 19th Amendment was ratified on August 18, 1920. When American Indian women gained access to the ballot in 1924 under the federal Indian Citizenship Act, no person in Montana was denied their right to vote on the basis of gender.

It's ironic that on this centennial anniversary of a step toward equal suffrage, your right to vote is under attack. This year, among the candidates and local issues, every ballot will contain two proposals referred to voters by the Montana Legislature. One of these legislative referenda threatens to revert state law back to a time when our families, friends and neighbors were handily denied access to the polls on Election Day.

Appearing on the ballot as LR-126, the proposal sets out to eliminate Election Day voter registration in Montana. Election Day voter registration has successfully secured voting rights for more than 29,000 Montanans since 2006 (that number increases when you include local elections). It's a good law that acts as a failsafe for any person who needs to register, change or update their information in order to vote in a statewide election. In fact, the majority of voters who use Election Day voter registration are hardworking Montanans who have recently moved across their county or the state and need to update their address in order to cast a ballot.

There is no reason to change a law that works, especially when that law secures your fundamental right to actively participate in our Democracy.

As you consider the choices on your ballot, consider all that has been accomplished to guarantee your right to vote. Let's work on solutions that increase turnout and enhance the overall integrity of elections in Montana. No state that has Election Day registration has ever taken that right away from the voters. Let's make sure Montana isn't the first state to do so.

Labor Day
Enforcement
Crackdown Adds Patrols to Target DUIs

Submitted by Charity Watt,
Montana Department of Transportation

One of the deadliest crimes committed in Montana may also be the most preventable. In Big Sky Country, the number of fatal crashes involving impaired drivers using alcohol and/or drugs continues to be nearly the highest in the nation. In an effort to eliminate this trend of high-risk behavior, law enforcement agencies across the state are participating in a national crackdown targeting DUI offenders.

The Montana Highway Patrol as well as city and county law enforcement agencies throughout the state are always on the lookout for drivers who show signs of impairment. During the weeks prior to Labor Day, August 13 through September 1, law enforcement officers statewide will intensify efforts to target drivers who appear to be impaired.

"Our experience tells us that we are very likely to see an increase in high-risk behavior from motorists during Labor Day weekend," said MHP District 1 Commander, Captain Jim Kitchin. "Instead of enjoying the last summer holiday before the weather changes, individuals who choose to drive while under the influence of drugs and alcohol may be spending their time elsewhere—in jail or the morgue."

According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA), more than 10,000 people die annually from injuries received during impaired driving crashes—that's one every 51 minutes. Motor vehicle crashes remain the leading cause of death for people under the age of 35 with a staggering economic impact of more than $230 billion annually.

"If you plan on drinking during Labor Day weekend, be sure to designate a sober driver," said Kitchin. "With the additional officers out in force patrolling our roadways, chances are that if you choose to drink and drive, you will be caught and you will be prosecuted."

High-visibility enforcement is one of the overall strategies employed in Montana's Vision Zero, a multipronged initiative with the goal of eliminating deaths and injuries on Montana roads. Law enforcement patrols participating in extra patrols are funded by the Montana Department of Transportation. ## Petroleum Luncheon

Submitted by Meagan Dotson

The Montana Petroleum Association would like to invite the public to the Petroleum Industry Appreciation Luncheon Wednesday August 27 at the Crowne Plaza Hotel in Billings, MT. Alex Epstein will be speaking on his book The Moral Case for Fossil Fuels focusing on the benefits of the oil and gas industry.

Alex Epstein

"Regardless of what we think of oil, what we have to realize is that in our economy and our daily lives it plays an amazingly important role," said Epstein at a previous debate. "If we make something important to our lives more expensive and less available it's like a global pay-cut."

Ron Ness of the North Dakota Petroleum Council highly recommended Epstein after having him as a keynote speaker in 2013. Epstein is the founder of the Center for Industrial Progress as well as the author of the Moral Case for Fossil Fuels and Fossil Fuels Improve the Planet. He is also a regular columnist at Forbes.com and has been published in the Wall Street Journal and San Francisco Chronicle. Epstein has been featured in the Rolling Stone and National Review and has spoken at many colleges including Stanford, Duke, Rice, and UCLA. He has also gone head to head on environmental issues with Greenpeace, Sierra Club, and 350.org.

"The oil and gas industry is consistently one of the three most hated industries, yet its products make possible everything from plentiful food to life-saving plastics to unforgettable vacations.' – Center for Industrial Progress (www.industrialprogress.com/category/oil-gas)

Epstein speaks frankly and respectfully of the quality of life fossil fuels provide to society in terms of everyday essentials and conveniences, the medical and technological advances that have ensued because of the industrial revolution, and the economic benefits of having inexpensive and reliable fuel.

"Alex Epstein communicates in a way that has seldom been done before by personalizing the contributions of the oil and gas industry," says Jessica Sena, communications advisor with the Montana Petroleum Association.

Tickets are $35 per person and must be purchased by August 21 by calling Bobbie at 406-442-7582 or filling out the registration form online at montanapetroleum.org and e-mailing it to mpa@montanapetroleum.org.

Richland County Partnership for Promise Back to School Anxiety

Submitted by Missy Smies
The thrill is in the air, calendars are out, enrollment is approaching and the school supplies are ready to be purchased! For many, it is a great time of year, but for others it is an anxiety-ridden ride for parents and children. There are many reasons back to school can be hard for a lot of people. Homework, busy schedules, teachers, bullies, athletics; it can all be stressful.

Am I good enough to play this year? Will I always be in trouble for my homework again?

I don't want to be next to that other kid in my class because he always makes fun of me or hurts me.

Will I have the right clothes this year? Will anyone talk to me?

Parents want to eliminate all these stressors for their kids, but there really is no way to take care of everything, and a lot of kids never say anything. So talking to your kids, planning and practicing may add some relief to those what if questions many have.

-Explain that it is normal to be concerned and feel nervous.

-Take advantage of opportunities of open houses to visit the school so the child knows their new environment.

-Be realistic and optimistic about your expectations for your child during the next school year.

-Start "practicing" the school year schedule by discussing it, planning and then implementing the hours a few weeks before school to ensure no one is tired the first few stressful days of school.

-Encourage your child to participate in a sport or extracurricular activities based on their interests, not your own.

-Help build your child's self-esteem by praising and encouraging and letting them know they are loved, valued and safe and that they matter.

-When it comes to drugs, tobacco and alcohol, remind your child they are their own person and they make their own decisions and that you want them to make the best decision for themselves, not because others do it. This time of year is when your kids meet new friends and reconnect with old friends and peer pressure can be overwhelming.

These tips will help you keep the lines of communication open with your children and reassure them that they are not going to school without support and they have someone they can trust to talk to about their fears and anxiety. As with most things, planning, preparing and being able to discuss fears help people make good decisions and be more successful. (KNOW!, 2012)

The Richland County Partnership for Promise brings community members and resources together to provide a healthy and supportive environment for the youth of Richland County! If you are interested in being a part of the Partnership or would like more information, contact Missy Smies at 433-4097 or missysmies@outlook.com.
